Steel Union Ready To Seek Approval Of New Settlement

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union Saturday prepared to seek ratification of the White House steel agreement which informed sources estimated is worth a shade under 50 cents an hour.

The figure, considerably higher than previous estimates, was confirmed by sources who took part in the five day White House negotiations that ended Friday.

It also appeared considerably higher than White House wage guidelines that call for limiting wage hikes to 3.2 per cent per year.

White House sources had said the agreement was within the guidelines.

The union will present the proposed 39 - month contract agreement today to its 170-member wage policy committee.

Steelworkers officials worked late into the night preparing the proposed contract for presentation to the union's executive board at 9 a.m. and to the wage policy committee at 1 p.m.

A 3.2 per cent settlement consistent with White House guidelines — which also imply no price hikes — would be about 44 cents.

The reported wage and fringe benefits increase of nearly 50 cents would be closer to 3.6 per cent on top of present average steelworkers earnings of $4.40 per hour.

Steelworkers are already among the highest paid industrial workers.

While the union could be expected to place the highest possible estimate on the settlement package in presenting it to its membership, the estimate of nearly 50 cents was confirmed by administration sources.

There was no explanation of how the government reconciled this with the White House guidelines.

The White House agreement was based on Johnson's specific suggestions.

The settlement figure previously had been estimated at between 44 and 48 cents.

The higher figure also gave rise to speculation that the administration might not frown on some selective price increases.

Administration sources said that no general wave of price increases was expected as occurred in 1962. At that time, the late President John F. Kennedy brought heavy government pressure to bear on the steel industry, forcing major firms to rescind a $6 per ton boost.

The union had originally demanded about 53 cents per hour. The industry's last reported offer before Johnson brought the stalemated talks to Washington was 40.6 cents. However, Each side placed different interpretations on the various offers.

The wage policy committee has final authority on contract decisions and will vote "yes" or "no."

Union officials said they expected no difficulty in ratifying the agreement covering some 450,000 steelworkers.

They haven't received a wage boost since 1961 in the contract negotiated in the record 116-day strike of 1959.

The contracts of 1962 and 1963 provided only increasing in benefits. Both were estimated to be worth about 10 cents an hour.

The biggest package the union ever won was 45.7 cents an hour in 1956 after a 36-day work stoppage. The hike in that three-year contract would be equal to about 55 cents today.

An informed source said the contract to be voted upon today grants the union one of its biggest goals — retirement after 30 years of service regardless of age.

Betsy Stops Without Hint Of Direction

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy whirled to a stop Saturday night in the Atlantic Ocean 350 miles off the Florida coast, without a hint on where she would aim her sledgehammer winds.

"This is a large, severe hurricane and all interests along the southeast coast should keep in continuous touch with advisories and bulletins," the Weather Bureau told thousands of persons worried about weekend outings.

Beaches Awash

"Many beaches from the Carolinas to northeast Florida will be awash today," the Weather Bureau said. "Boating, surf-fishing and swimming will be extremely hazardous, if not foolhardy."

During the day Betsy had turned slightly northward away from the Carolina coast, raising hopes that it might escape Betsy's peak wind of 135 miles an hour.

But then — caught in opposing steering currents that equalized each other — the storm stopped. The Weather Bureau said nothing was in sight that might cause Betsy to resume forward movement until today.

At the same time a hurricane hunter plane spotted a new disturbance far south in the tropical Atlantic, 650 miles east of Barbados.

Its top winds were only 30 miles an hour, but the plane said it found circulation, necessary ingredient for another tropical storm. Residents of the Lesser Antilles were warned that the winds might increase.

In the Miami Weather Bureau, forecasters delayed from hour to hour the posting of a hurricane watch for Betsy along the vulnerable Carolina coast, which juts sharply into one of the historic paths of Atlantic hurricanes.

"We're sweating it out 'til the last minute, to see if Betsy will continue veering toward the north," said forecaster Robert McCaslin. "It'll be close — a real squeaker — but the turn has started and we expect it to continue."

Sen. Tower Says Battle Due On 14B

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said Saturday he is one of a group of senators who will speak at length to try to retain authority for the states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act permits states to enact laws banning the union shop under which an employe must join a union within 30 days in order to hold a job.

Take Advantage

Nineteen states, including Texas, have taken advantage of the section to outlaw the union shop through what proponents call right-to-work laws.

The Senate Labor Committee on Wednesday voted 12-3 to approve a House-passed bill to repeal the section.

The committee plans to send it to the Senate by Thursday of this week. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has said he will call it up for debate and President Johnson has said he expects action on it this year. Organized labor has been pressing for repeal. Tower said in a statement addressed to his constituents that he regards the forthcoming debate "as the most important action which will face the 89th Congress."

"I have participated in bipartisan Senate planning designed first to delay and ultimately to defeat this federal government attack upon Texas law," he said.

"You may be assured that I will take a leading role in an extended Senate debate pointing out the merits of right-to-work legislation.

"I will speak at length in expressing to all Americans the devotion of Texans for the principles of freedom of choice and of the right to work — even though such efforts may force me to curtail my many trips to Texas and visits with Texans."

Opponents of the repealer have said that 27 senators are ready to voice opposition to the bill and to offer amendments to it.

City Judge John McCormick, a semi - pro horticulturist with a large garden of his own, offered a learned dissertation on the Bartlett, as well as virtually every other variety.

In the judge's garden are 21 varieties of pear — all but three or four of the types known.

Partly Cloudy Skies Forecast

Partly cloudy skies are expected over the Twin Cities today and Monday and the weatherman predicts continued warm mercury readings, with a high between 86 and 93 degrees.

Mostly afternoon thundershowers are forecast for today in 20 per cent of the area.

The low reading should be between 68 and 74 degrees. Saturday's high and low readings were 93 and 66. The low was noted about 6 a.m., according to FAA at Selman Field.

Easterly and southeasterly winds today at eight to 16 miles per hour are expected.

U. N. Calls For Immediate Halt Of Kashmir Fighting

Forces Push Deeper With Second Drive

JAMMU, Kashmir (UPI) — Pakistan forces backed by U. S.-supplied planes and tanks pushed into Indian-held Kashmir Saturday in their second major drive this week.

(Pakistani officials said their forces gained 10 miles, the deepest penetration of the four-day undeclared border war between the two nations. They said "Indian troop concentrations also were attacked and heavy casualties inflicted on them.")

Fighting Heavy

Indian officers in this city, the winter capital of Indian Kashmir, did not disclose how much progress the Pakistanis made. But they confirmed that fighting was "very heavy."

Pakistan was believed to have thrown in a full armored division against the Indian defenses.

At the United Nations, India demanded in the Security Council Saturday night that Pakistan withdraw completely from Indian controlled parts of Kashmir. Pakistan rejected Indian charges of aggression.

Six Security Council members appealed for a ceasefire.

There were conflicting reports on the toll of tanks and planes destroyed. India claimed two more Pakistani jets were downed, bringing the total to four, and four more Patton tanks knocked out for a total of 22.

Pakistani jets flew over Jammu during the day, but apparently did not plan to attack. As the jets circled there was great excitement in the crowded streets of the capital and anti-aircraft guns trained on them.

The sounds of war could be heard in the city, with distant shelling booming in the distance.

The village of Jaurian, where Indian officials said 45 persons were killed by strafing Thursday, remained under fire Saturday.

Crowds of refugees from the fighting in the Chamb area flocked into Jammu. Officials said more than 10,000 have left their homes. Refugee camps were set up but already were crowded. The refugees dragged or carried their household goods, walking to the city or riding horse-drawn tonga carts.

They left a fertile farming area of tall grass, grazing cattle, and water buffalo, their fields now ripped up by armored warfare.

U.N. SECRETARY-GENERAL U Thant listens to U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as they await start of Saturday's special session of the U. N. Security Council called by Goldberg as council president to consider the crisis resulting from Indian-Pakistani fighting in Kashmir. The Council called for an immediate cease-fire in Kashmir. Earlier an appeal by Thant for a cease-fire had been rejected by Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri. (AP Wirephoto)

Withdrawal Of Soldiers Is Demanded

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council Saturday night called for an immediate cease fire in Kashmir and demanded the withdrawal of Indian and Pakistani troops which have crossed the 1949 U.N. cease fire line.

The vote was unanimous on a proposal put forward by the six elected members of the 11-nation council.

Secretary General U Thant was directed to report back within three days on the implementation of the resolution.

Reinforce Appeal

The aim of the council was to reinforce an appeal by the secretary general which already had been rejected in effect by Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri. Just before the vote India's Ambassador Gopalaswami Parthasarathi indicated the council's appeal also would be turned down.

"The council does not seem to be facing up to the simple issue of aggression," he said. "A cease-fire is a desirable objective, but it can come only after Pakistan has been condemned as an aggressor."

Pakistani Ambassador Amjad Ali denied a long list of charges made by the Indian representative. He said India was the first to cross the cease-fire line in May. India said Pakistan started the current fighting by sending armed infiltrators across the line Aug. 5.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, president of the council, said he had been instructed by President Johnson to support both the cease-fire appeals of the secretary general and the council.

Sponsors of the approved resolution were Malaysia, Jordan, the Netherlands, Uruguay, Ivory Coast and Bolivia. It was laid before the council by Malaysia's Radhakrishna Ramani after India had demanded the condemnation of Pakistan.

In his message to Thant, Shastri said the first step toward a cease-fire must be an agreement by Pakistan to stop infiltration across the cease-fire line.

Shastri was the first to reply to cables Thant sent Wednesday to him and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan asking that both declare their intention to respect the 1949 Indian-Pakistani cease-fire agreement for Kashmir. Thant's appeal requested no more crossing of the cease-fire line by armed personnel, no more shooting across it and withdrawal by each side of armed personnel occupying the other's positions.

In a report to the council, Thant said he had first appealed to Indian and Pakistan privately for such withdrawals and cease-fire observance about mid-August.

He said "I have not obtained from the government of Pakistan any assurance that the cease-fire will be respected" — and noted in another connection that Pakistan had claimed "a cease-fire alone supports the status quo to India's benefit."

Thant said he obtained India's assurance that it would respect the cease-fire agreement if Pakistan would do so, and also could "act with restraint with regard to any retaliatory acts."

His report said he made his first cease-fire appeal after he got a cabled warning from Australian Lt. Gen. Robert H. Nimmo, chief of the U.N. military observer group in India and Pakistan.

Traffic Toll For Holiday Mounts Fast

By United Press International

The traffic toll for the long Labor Day holiday soared past the 150 mark Saturday as rain-slick highways plagued drivers in many parts of the nation.

Americans died at the rate of nearly five an hour during the first third of the 78-hour holiday period, which began at 6 p.m. local time Friday.

A United Press International count at midnight showed 186 persons dead in traffic accidents during the holiday.

California Leads

California led the nation with 15 traffic deaths. Texas reported 11, North Carolina 10, and Pennsylvania and New Mexico each had nine.

A National Safety Council spokesman said the death toll was running about even with the recent July 4th holiday, during which 557 persons died in traffic accidents.

The toll was running slightly behind that of the first third of the 1964 Labor Day weekend, during which 535 were killed in traffic. It was slightly ahead of the toll at the same hour of the 1963 Labor Day weekend, which ended with 561 persons dead, highest ever for any summer holiday, the Safety Council spokesman said.

The Safety Council had estimated that from 500 to 600 persons would die in traffic accidents during the holiday period, which ends at midnight local time Monday. A similar non-holiday period would claim 440 traffic victims.

The council also estimated that another 20,000 to 24,000 persons would be injured in holiday traffic accidents. Of these, the council said, as many as 200 would die within a year.

South Vietnamese Troops Belt Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese troops whacked the Viet Cong in the steaming swamps of the Mekong River delta south of Saigon Saturday and U.S. B52 jet bombers pounded suspected guerilla positions in the high lands far to the north.

In the air war over Communist North Viet Nam, a U.S. Air Force Phantom jet crashed after failing to pull out of a diving attack on a bridge. The pilot was presumed killed. Heavy antiaircraft fire was reported in the area.

The eight-engine B52s, flying from Guam, hit targets in Quang Tin Province, 320 miles northeast of Saigon. It was the 18th B52 strike of the war.

53 Cong Killed

U.S. Military spokesmen gave no further details of the strike, presumably another saturation bombing of areas in which the Viet Cong guerrillas were believed dug in.

In the jungle swamps of the Mekong River delta, the government force was reported to have killed 53 Viet Cong.

But elsewhere in the Mekong area, the guerrillas attacked a government outpost 135 miles south of Saigon, inflicting heavy casualties. Regional forces eventually drove the attackers off.

A government force ranging around Vinh Binh Province 75 miles southwest of Saigon captured 24 guerrillas Friday in a battle that was launched Thursday at the mouth of the Bassac River, 25 miles west of the provincial capital of Phu Vinh.

U.S. officials listed as missing a U.S. Air Force pilot whose plane was brought down by North Vietnamese gunners Thursday 100 miles west of Hanoi, the Communist capital.

In Saturday's raids on the North, U.S. planes hammered at warehouse areas, bridges and trucks. Two U.S. B57 jet bombers attacked a fiery complex with five tons of bombs 85 miles southeast of Vinh. The planes drew light ground fire but both were said to have returned safely.

Forty other U.S. Air Force jets roamed the skies over the North in 10 different missions to hit targets of opportunity. A spokesman said pilots reported damage or destruction to bridges, staging areas and military barracks.

U.S. air action in South Viet Nam included strikes against troop positions, rest and supply areas and base camps.

Stalemate Ends Clearing Way On Immigration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., indicated Saturday that a stalemate on the Judiciary Committee has been broken, clearing the way for approval of the administration's immigration reform bill.

The legislation, one of President Johnson's priority measures, was blocked by Dirksen last week when committee liberals refused to clear his constitutional amendment on reapportionment of state legislatures.

"I am pretty sure it (the constitutional amendment) will come out of committee Wednesday," Dirksen said. He added that the liberals have been doing "a little bit of conferring."

Once the committee agrees to clear the amendment to the floor, even without a favorable recommendation, Dirksen will drop his delaying tactics on the immigration bill.

He repeated his pledge that he will not call up his amendment at this session. He said he had so assured Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

But he wants the amendment, which would allow one house of a state legislature to be reapportioned on a basis other than population, to be on the calendar when the Senate comes back in January.

Dr. Schweitzer Nearing Death

LAMBARENE, Gabon (UPI) — The heartbeat of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, lying near death in his African jungle hospital, has begun slowing down, his doctor announced Saturday night.

"Dr. Schweitzer's heartbeat is becoming increasingly more faint," said Dr. Walter Munz, the Swiss physician who has been in charge of the 90-year-old missionary doctor's hospital for six months.

"No one can say when the fateful moment will come."

Schweitzer has gone into a coma and doctors said earlier Saturday the end was "only hours away." Aides at the hospital he built near the equator 52 years ago said hope has been virtually abandoned.

Dr. Munz, Schweitzer's right-hand man, spoke to reporters at 5:30 p.m., as the African night began falling on the silent medical compound known the world over.

New Nuclear Device Under Development

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has a new nuclear tactical weapon in development for its atomic battlefield arsenal, it was learned Saturday.

Still wrapped tightly in official secrecy, the weapon presently carries only the designation "207."

A brief reference to "207" was made in a recently published document, but Army spokesmen declined to disclose any details.

The document indicates the weapon is intended for use by Army divisons.

Like other artillery, rocket and missile weapons of the Army, it presumably will be able to use either conventional or nuclear warheads.

At least two of three dual-purpose weapons — the eighth-inch and 155mm howitzers — now are used by Army and Marine forces in Viet Nam, although only with conventional explosive loads. They can be adapted quickly for atomic warheads.

In addition to the two howitzers, the Army atomic arsenal includes three relatively short-range (up to about 10 or 12 miles) rockets — the Little John Honest John and Davy Crockett — and two intermediate-range missiles, the Sergeant and the newer Perhsing with a 300-mile range.

Also in the Army arsenal are atomic demolition charges for destroying fortifications or underground installations.

The reference to the "207" appears in connection with mention of the 155mm howitzer. However, the 207 figure may not necessarily mean the millimeter measurement of the weapon diameter. The eight-inch howitzer is only slightly larger than that and it would anpear unlikely the Army would need two tube weapons so close together in size.

The new weapon could be a rocket-launched device or some form of short-range guided missile.

Some military men believe tactical nuclear weapons could be used to advantage in the Viet Nam war. But there has been nothing to suggest that the policymaking level in Washington has done any more than to put the idea into contingency planning.

If field commanders wanted to use small or medium atomic weapons against Viet Cong personnel and supply concentrations in South Viet Nam or in aerial bombing of North Viet Nam targets they would have to receive approval of the President. Under law, only he can authorize the use of nuclear weapons, either tactically or strategically.

Recognition Given Dominican By U.S.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson Saturday formally recognized the new provisional government of the revolt-torn Dominican Republic and promised a swift $20 million to help get the country back on its feet.

The Chief Executive promised "full support" to Dominican President Hector Garcia Godoy. Johnson hailed his government as "the beginning of a new road to peace, freedom and hope for the Dominican people" after four months of revolution that cost the United States alone the lives of 27 American soldiers and $67 million.

In Washington, officials warned that troubles still could lie ahead for the Caribbean island nation. They said there were serious economic problems for the country after 30 years of political turmoil.

There was no immediate word on whether the 9,400 American troops remaining in the country would be withdrawn. At the height of the leftist revolt that began last April in Santo Domingo, 24,000 American troops were in the country.

Johnson rested at his ranch after warding off a nationwide steel strike. He planned to spend the Labor Day weekend like millions of fellow Americans, just taking it easy, but he also got a lot of work done Friday. In addition to the Dominican recognition, the President:

—Announced in a Labor Day weekend message that unemployment had dropped 1.6 million in four years; but there still were 3.3 million Americans jobless as of last month.

—Named career diplomat William J. Porter to be deputy to U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in Viet Nam, succeeding U. Alexis Johnson.

—Diplomat Johnson returns to his post as undersecretary of state for political affairs, where he still will wok on the Viet Nam situation.

—Announced a $14.5 million fund for highway construction and a civic center in El Paso, Tex. This had been promised when Mexico received the "Chamizal" (thicket) District of the U.S. city in a 1964 treaty.

—Named Joseph A. Mendenhall, a career diplomat, as head of the U.S. aid program in Laos.

—Named regional directors for the anti-poverty program, including William H. Crook, at Austin, Tex.; Samuel D. Proctor at New York; Frank H. Sloan at Atlanta and Daniel Luevano at San Francisco.

—Warned Americans to "drive safely" during the holiday weekend.

—Appointed Education Commissioner Francis Keppel as assistant secretary for education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Through the Texas White House, the President disclosed details of the letters and notes involved in the recognition of the new Dominican government.

"We are already discussing on an urgent basis the resumption of certain projects which have been interrupted since the tragic days of last April," Johnson said.

In a statement he said the United States is ready "to participate fully" with the Organization of American States in the "important rehabilitation effort that lies ahead."

Preliminary discussions have established "an immediate need for approximately $20 million in assistance and we hope that arrangements can be soon concluded with the provision government to make this amount available," Johnson disclosed.

The United States' note of recognition was handed to Garcia Godoy by Ambassador Tapley Bennett in Santo Domingo. Nicaragua already has recognized the new regime and other governments are expected to follow suit.

By RICHARD TYLER
World Staff Writer

Jack Hayes Elementary School northeast of Monroe — the 37th facility in the Ouachita Parish system and the only new school to open in the parish this fall — has "the finest plant in the state" and "a dedicated staff."

Those were the words used last week as Principal J. R. Akins and Gerald York, ward one representative on the Ouachita Parish School Board, described the smart one-story buff-brick structure on the Old Sterlington Road.

Seated on the northern edge of a 20 acre site purchased by the school board about a year ago, Jack Hayes encloses 17 classrooms, plus administrative and special areas, and "some of the most modern features to be found in a grammar school" within approximately 40,000 square feet of usable space.

Initial enrollment last week exceeded all expectations, totaling 264 with more expected to register Tuesday, and the school, it is hoped, will meet growth needs over five years into the future.

Built by Breck Construction Company and designed by architects Wells & Parker, the $370,000 facility is one step in expansion plans for the ward one area. The south end of the property, on the Old Sterlington Road, adjacent to Town & Country subdivision, is seen as the eventual site of a complementary junior high school.

Plans call for addition of the junior high school "soon" officially, which, depending on the official commenting, means from two to four years.

Meanwhile, an "exceptionally large" first-year enrollment in the school's primary grades, one through six, has been drawn from Treasure Island, Horseshoe Lake Road, North Park Village, the North Monroe subdivision, Fink's Hide-Away Road (including Raymond Drive) to Town & Country subdivision, and all of Bon Aire Drive to Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Without question, York says, Jack Hayes has "the finest elementary school plant in the state" and it was built for "well under the money budgeted for it."

Its construction, officials claim, combines beauty with functionalism. Black tinted windows throughout the building impart an appearance almost unique in the area and eliminate the need for blinds.

The windows, together with a wide overhang and east-west situation of the building, are expected to dispense with complaints of sun glare, such as is often encountered with open, modern building design.

School officials have expressed special pride in features rarely found in elementary schools, among them a partitioned, 51 by 21, observation room, permitting unobtrusive study by college students of classroom techniques.

Jack Hayes also has a centralized library, joined to a work room and book storage room, and Akins predicts by year's end a collection of approximately six volumes per student. An 88 by 28 multi-purpose room, seating from 90-120, will serve for band and choir work, as well as film showings and general meetings of all types.

The building features a 45 by 73 cafetorium, to which is added an 18 by 22 stage. The school's kitchen is "all-modern," with both gas and electric appliances.

Use of air conditioning is extensive and cools the building's administrative area, sick room, cafetorium, multi-purpose room, teachers' lounge and work room.

The school's design is generally U-shaped, its administration center joined on each end by 189-foot classroom wings — all flanked on the north base of the U by the cafetorium.

Width of the building is 264 feet.

To the list of the school's virtues, Akins adds "outstanding visual aids and up-to-date instructional materials."

But at the heart of the facility, he says, is its "dedicated staff, all here on invitation and voluntarily." Five of the 10 members of the Jack Hayes staff hold masters degrees and three of the remaining five of working toward such degrees.

Others on the staff are:

First grade — Mrs. Harvey White and Mrs. Bonnie Moreau.

Second grade — Mrs. Betty Reid and Mrs. Charlotte Carter.

Third grade — Mrs. Opal Bauer.

Fourth grade — Mrs. Una Lea Wallace and Mrs. Ann Gannaway.

Fifth grade — Mrs. Ada McWilliams.

Sixth grade — Milam Borden.

While the school has no gymnasium, Borden is in charge of a vigorous athletic program, which will include football, basketball, track and other activities. Working out for fall football, for example, are 49 boys.

Johnson Lists Achievements Of U.S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson in a Labor Day statement Saturday night listed some of the many triumphs of the American economy but said "a large segment of our citizens remains untouched by our prosperity."

Among the nation's economic blessings, Johnson noted record employment of 75 million, almost 2.5 million above last year; per capita spendable income at a record high of $2,343, up 3 per cent from 1964; average weekly take-home pay for factory workers at a record peak of $108.21 in June; and unemployment down substantially from 1964 with the economy in "the longest unbroken peacetime expansion in more than a century."

The President noted that since Labor Day of 1964 Congress has enacted such landmark legislation as medicare, voting rights, aid to education and various measures to help the economically disadvantaged.

But he went on to say:

"Our promise of a better America will become fact only when all citizens — not just most — have the opportunity to enjoy the benefits of our free society.

"To accomplish these goals, our national purpose must be

"—Expand the employment opportunities of the impoverished and the undereducated.

"—Open more job opportunities for minorities and older citizens.

"—Expand the opportunities of our young people for education, training and constructive work experience necessary for our high-specialized society.

"—Lessen the impact of technological change for displaced workers and disrupted communities:

"—Develop and fill new jobs and continue measures to spur our economic growth."

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz struck a similar note in his Labor Day statement and said "the worst mistake would be to rest on the victories of the past. Each step forward is only encouragement to take the next one.

"There are still men apart in our nation.

"There are new fears about the capacity of America to withstand the pressures of social change."

Astronauts Hear Debriefing From Gemini 5 Twins

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex., (AP) — The nation's astronauts gathered Saturday at the Manned Spacecraft Center to hear a debriefing by Gemini 5 space twins L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr.

The meeting was held primarily for the Gemini 6 and 7 crews but the 22 other astronauts attended as interested observers.

Donald K. Slayton, assistant director for flight crew operations, headed the session but the stars were Cooper and Conrad.

The two newest space heroes started the debriefing by telling about the record-breaking flight in general terms. Afterwards, other astronauts asked questions.

The session lasted all day.

The Gemini 6 crewmen are Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr, command pilot; Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, co-pilot; and backup crewmen, Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Cmdr. John W. Young. The flight is expected Oct. 25 and will be a two-day mission to attempt a rendezvous and docking maneuver with an Agena rocket.

The Gemini 7 crew consists of Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman, command pilot; Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell, co-pilot; and backup crewmen, Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins.

The Gemini 7 mission is a long duration flight of 14 days, the maximum time estimated by officials to go to the moon and back. It is expected in December.

Cooper and Conrad have been locked up in debriefing sessions since they arrived in Houston Thursday. Today's meeting will be to identify the hundreds of photographs taken during the flight.

On Monday, the two space twins will meet with engineers and technicians to go over each system in the spacecraft, how it worked, how it can be improved, and what happened to cause the several equipment failures.

The debriefings are to be finished Thursday, when Cooper and Conrad are to hold a news conference.

President Johnson has said he wants the astronauts to travel to foreign countries. They are expected to be called to Washington after the debriefings have finished.

Meanwhile, the space heroes will have dinner with their families again before Thursday, a spokesman said.

The astronauts and their families spent about three hours having dinner together Thursday after their arrival from Cape Kennedy. They are staying in dormitories inside the fence at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Tornado Causes Several Million Dollars Damage

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) —City workers labored under a warm sun removing huge trees and debris from Wichita streets Saturday, and the police department estimated damage from Friday night's tornado would run "several million dollars."

The twister whirled out of a heavy thunderstorm and skipped through three sections of the city, flattening expensive homes uprooting trees and injuring at least 27 persons.

The injured were treated and released. None was serious.

The tornado hit hardest in an expensive neighborhood on Wichita's east side. Some 150 homes in the $35,000 to $100,000 price range were damaged, 80 of them severely.

About 10 homes were destroyed.

The twister churned through an industrial section, damaging factories, and then ripped through some shopping centers in the southeast section.

3-Day Nightmare Ends With Sunshine

ROME (AP) — Bright sun ended Saturday a three-day Italian nightmare of torrential rains that left more than 100 dead and missing.

Swollen rivers and continued flooding kept the nation's life in disorder, however.

The rain also stopped in neighboring Austria, which counted 12 dead and millions of dollars in damage along with two men missing and feared dead in the collapse of a flood-weakened bridge near Klagenfurt. Mamy other persons who fell into the flooding Drau River when the bridge plunged swam to safety or were picked up in a swift rescue operation.

The unprecedented September storms put Italy in something like a state of shock. Pope Paul VI toured one of the hardest hit suburbs of Rome and found embittered, sometimes hostile, flood victims asking his help, not his blessing. He promised aid, and it was promptly sent.

With the return of good weather, which meterological experts warned might be short-lived, thousands of army and police rescue squads stepped up their relief work from Sicily in the south to the Brenner Pass in the north.

As water drained off farmlands and reports came in from villages that had been isolated, the death toll rose to 55, with 46, possibly more, missing.

Crop and building damage amounted to millions of dollars, and tens of thousands were homeless, living in requisitioned hotels and makeshift quarters in such places as the Rome Trade Fair grounds.

Road and rail communications remained cut in dozens of places. Rome and some other cities had partially disrupted water supplies.

The Italian State Railways said 13 lines in Italy and Sicily were cut or disrupted in one way or another. These included four main lines: two between Rome and Florence, the Brenner Pass line to Austria and northern Europe, and the Italy-Austria line via Udine. Officials said it might be days before they are restored.

As weather improved, officials announced the reopening Saturday night of the key Rome-Florence superhighway, the Autostrada del Sole. They had not expected to be able to reopen it until this week.

Half of Rome's more than two million residents were without regular water supplies because of a damaged aqueduct, and service is not expected to be normal until Monday or Tuesday.

More than 100,000 policemen, soldiers and firemen were engaged in relief work around the country.

Such big rivers as the Po and the Tiber, appeared to be subsiding.

But swollen streams continued to cause havoc. A bridge near Trapani collapsed during the night, taking two automobiles with it.

A passenger of one car was killed, and another passenger was missing and presumed dead. The passengers of the other car were missing.

Pope Paul's visit to Prima Porta, and Labaro, neighboring rural suburbs of Rome, was dramatic.

His white robes and red slippers were splashed with mud as he moved through the area for almost 2½ hours. A few of the residents of Prima Porta, a working class suburb of about 4,000 where the Communist party is strong, shouted at him:

"We don't need your blessing. We need money."

The Pope told a group of flood victims pressing around the truck in which he rode:

"Unfortunately there is no remedy in my hands against the disaster which struck this peaceful community."

A woman shouted:

"Even if God came here, it would be no help."

Another thanked the Pope for coming, but said she would have preferred money. But not all were bitter; some applauded the Pope, some prayed with him.

50 Of Nation's Loveliest Women Seeking Crown

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) —Fifty of the nation's loveliest young women match beauty, brains and talent here next week to determine the fairest miss of all—Miss America.

The oldest and most famous beauty pageant in the United States begins officially Monday when the 50 entrants, representing every state, register and begin six solid days of rehearsals, interviews and performances which for one will end with fame and fortune.

The 1966 Miss America will be crowned at midnight Saturday, Sept. 11, in massive Convention Hall before a nationwide television audience (CBS) and some 20,000 spectators. There will be cheers and tears and the traditional pomp and circumstance which has kept the pageant premier over many imitators.

Tech Dorms Start Opening On Thursday

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech will begin to hum with student activity when dormitories for freshmen will be open at 1 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 9.

Dormitories for upperclassmen will be open at 1 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 13.

Orientation programs for beginning students are scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Monday, Sept. 10, 11 and 13. Registration for classes is listed for Sept. 14-15 in an alphabetical order and those who do not enroll at the designated time will register on Sept. 15 from 3-4 p.m., the registrar's office reported.

Students registering after Sept. 15 will be charged a late fee of $10, it was emphasized.

Every student will be required to have an identification card for purposes of admission to concerts, for withdrawing library books, attending athletic events, cashing checks and for other uses. The required card will be included in each packet of registration material. It is to be filled in with ink and given to the photographer at the beginning of the registration line in the Student Center. Plans call for the finished ID cards to be distributed at the end of the registration line.

All entering students — transfers and freshmen—are required to have a complete physical examination by their family physician before they register. This examination cannot be dated more than 30 days before the first day of registration.

The arrangement for registration for evening and Saturday classes provides for in-service students to enroll Friday, Sept. 17, from 7-9 p.m. or Saturday morning, Sept. 18. These students have been asked to report first to the registrar's office.

The regular schedule of registration will be as follows:

Sept. 14 — Ca-Colh, 8 to 8:30 a.m.; Coll-Da, 8:30 to 9 a.m.; De-Ei, 9 to 9:30 a.m.; El-Fra, 9:30 to 10 a.m.; Fre-Gra, 10 to 10:30 a.m. Gre-Har, 10:30 to 11 a.m.; Has-Holt, 11 to 12 a.m.; Hon-Jol, 1 to 1:30 p.m.; Jon-La, 1:30 to 2 p.m.; Le-Ly, McA-McCol, 2 to 2:30 p.m.; McCom-McZ, M-Mas, 2:30 to 3 p.m.; Mat-Mo, 3 to 3:30 p.m.; Mu-Pari, 3:30 to 4 p.m.

Parade Of Homes Set For Twin Cities

Latest designs in construction will be featured in the 1965 Parade of Homes to be held in the Twin Cities Sunday Sept. 19 and on Sunday, Sept. 26.

The event, sponsored by the Northeast Association of Home Builders, is being held in connection with National Home Week.

Houses on the parade will be open from 2 until 6 p.m. on both Sundays.

Included will be seven homes in Monroe and West Monroe in all price ranges. The houses, consisting of three or four bedrooms, will have the latest fixtures, designs and materials in home construction.

At a recent meeting held at the Paragon Club, coordinators for the event formulated plans for the 1965 Parade of Homes. These include Jim Butler, sales manager of the West Monroe office of Butler Real Estate and Construction; W. L. Dean, president of the Northeast Louisiana Association of Home Builders; Bernon Butler, second vice president of the association and chairman of the parade; David Turrentine of Shell Advertising; and A. Lee Booth, first vice president of the association.

Builders in the parade will be Butler Real Estate and Construction (two homes), A. Lee Booth, Mid-South Homes, Carson Homes, Holiday Homes and P. G. Zuber and Sons.

The Northeast Association of Home Builders has 57 builder and associate members.

Provisional President Gives Posts To Bosch Supporters

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy made new peace overtures to the Dominican rebels Saturday night by naming two former supporters of ex-President Juan D. Bosch to the Cabinet and stripping the powerful armed forces training center of much of its autonomy.

Garcia-Godoy ordered the training center, outside Santo Domingo, reintegrated into the army in a move that may be aimed at the eventual ouster of the center's controversial commander, Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin.

Feeling continues to run high against Wessin y Wessin in the rebel sector, where he is held largely responsible for the 1963 military coup that toppled Bosch, the country's first popularly elected president in more than a generation.

Rebel leaders also blame Wessin y Wessin for air attacks on Santo Domingo in the first days after the revolution started April 24.

The two ex-Bosch men given ministries were among five Cabinet posts filled by Garcia-Godoy. The vacant portfolios are armed forces, interior, labor and foreign affairs. Informants said Garcia-Godoy, 44, diplomat-lawyer, probably will be his own foreign minister.

The cabinet appointments:

Agriculture — Silvestre Alba de Moya, 52, former governor of the central bank and Bosch's minister of labor.

Public works — Salvador Sturla, 46, director of engineering and construction for a sugar company.

Public health — Dr. Julio Espaillant Rodriguez, 55, a heart specialist.

Garcia-Godoy's decision to put the training center under control of the army chief of staff is part of his avowed aim to halt military interference in the country's political life. In the past the center was responsible only to the armed forces secretary. Critics said this gave the center too much political maneuverability.

Earlier the provisional regime appeared to be running into some trouble in pushing the disarmament of civilians in the rebel quarters. Rebel leaders hinted they would oppose the collection of weapons unless Garcia-Godoy fires certain military leaders. Wessin y Wessin topped the list.

Office Hours Set At NLSC

Gov. McKeithen, Monroe Mayor To Be Honored

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Governor John J. McKeithen, along with 11 civic and governmental leaders including Monroe Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard, will be honored at the 1965 convention of the Louisiana Architects Association to be held in Alexandria on October 7, 8, 9.

The governor will receive a resolution adopted by the LAA Board in recognition of his significant contribution "toward advancement of professional standards in the development of better architecture for the State of Louisiana" and for his programs and actions which have "dramatically projected a positive, mature image of the State of Louisiana."

The other honorees will be recognized for their efforts in improving the physical environment of their communities and state. Five of these people were nominated by the Louisiana Architects Association for their efforts of a state - wide nature. They are William A. Marbury Jr., of Ruston, president of William A. Marbury Company, Inc.; Mrs. Anna Gray Noe of Monroe; Lamar Walters, executive vice president of the Louisiana State Chamber of Commerce; Mayor J. Rayburn Bertrand of Lafayette, president of the Louisiana Municipal Association and A. J. Hodges, developer of Hodges Gardens at Many.

Those selected by local chapters of the American Institute of Architects are: B. B. Taylor Jr., Baton Rouge attorney; Monroe Mayor Howard; Joe D. Smith, publisher and general manager of the Alexandria Town Talk; the Shreveport Beautification Foundation, James Campbell president; Walter Barnett, New Orleans attorney, and Gervais Favrot, New Orleans Contractor. A posthumous award was made in the memory of deLesepps Morrison, deceased former Mayor of New Orleans. Mayor Bertrand of Lafayette was also nominated by the South Louisiana A. I. A. Chapter.

Five Injured Here In Auto, Fire Mishaps

Auto accidents and a home fire injured five in Monroe Saturday.

Four - year - old Lucindy Robertson was admitted to St. Francis Hospital after being struck by an auto on DeSiard Street near North Nineteenth at 7 p.m.

The child was walking with her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Robertson, when struck by a car driven by Doris B. Jarmon, 46, of 1902 College Ave., Monroe. Police reports quoted the Jarmon woman as saying she was traveling in the outside westbound lane of DeSiard when the child was hit.

Mrs. Robertson was unable to give any details of the accident to police and listed her address as only Jarvis Alley, Monroe.

Mattie T. Bullard, 46, of 2202 DeSiard St., Monroe, was admitted to St. Francis following an accident at Jackson and Grammont Streets shortly after noon Saturday.

Her car collided with an auto driven by Daniel Little, 26, of 128 Lynette Dr., West Monroe, and then hit a utility pole. Little was ticketed for running a red light.

Two youths were treated and released at St. Francis after the motor scooter they were riding collided with an auto.

They were Stephen W. Fontana, 14, of 728 Lakeshore Dr., Monroe, operator of the scooter, and Kenny Fontana, 12, of 106 Lincoln Rd. Monroe, a passenger.

Police said the scooter hit the rear of a vehicle driven by Otis S. Whitlow, 32, of 409 Gulpha Dr., West Monroe, which had stopped on DeSiard near College Avenue. The accident occurred shortly after 2 p.m.

George Sanders was given first aid by members of the Monroe fire department after he was burned while putting out a small fire in the kitchen of his home at 112 DeSiard Ave.

The fire started when window curtains were blown over the kitchen stove and caught fire. Two fire department units answered the call at 1:14 p.m. but Sanders had it out at the cost of a burned arm.

Tech Dorms Start Opening On Thursday

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech will begin to hum with student activity when dormitories for freshmen will be open at 1 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 9.

Dormitories for upperclassmen will be open at 1 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 13.

Orientation programs for beginning students are scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Monday, Sept. 10, 11 and 13. Registration for classes is listed for Sept. 14-15 in an alphabetical order and those who do not enroll at the designated time will register on Sept. 15 from 3-4 p.m., the registrar's office reported.

Students registering after Sept. 15 will be charged a late fee of $10, it was emphasized.

Every student will be required to have an identification card for purposes of admission to concerts, for withdrawing library books, attending athletic events, cashing checks and for other uses. The required card will be included in each packet of registration material. It is to be filled in with ink and given to the photographer at the beginning of the registration line in the Student Center. Plans call for the finished ID cards to be distributed at the end of the registration line.

All entering students — transfers and freshmen—are required to have a complete physical examination by their family physician before they register. This examination cannot be dated more than 30 days before the first day of registration.

The arrangement for registration for evening and Saturday classes provides for in-service students to enroll Friday, Sept. 17, from 7-9 p.m. or Saturday morning, Sept. 18. These students have been asked to report first to the registrar's office.

The regular schedule of registration will be as follows:

Sept. 14 — Ca-Colh, 8 to 8:30 a.m.; Coll-Da, 8:30 to 9 a.m.; De-Ei, 9 to 9:30 a.m.; El-Fra, 9:30 to 10 a.m.; Fre-Gra, 10 to 10:30 a.m. Gre-Har, 10:30 to 11 a.m.; Has-Holt, 11 to 12 a.m.; Hon-Jol, 1 to 1:30 p.m.; Jon-La, 1:30 to 2 p.m.; Le-Ly, McA-McCol, 2 to 2:30 p.m.; McCom-McZ, M-Mas, 2:30 to 3 p.m.; Mat-Mo, 3 to 3:30 p.m.; Mu-Pari, 3:30 to 4 p.m.

Sept. 15 — Park-Py, 8 to 8:30 a.m.; Q-Ro, 8:30 to 9 a.m.; Ru-Sl, 9 to 9:30 a.m.; Sm-Ston, 9:30 to 10 a.m.; Stor-Tol, 10 to 10:30 a.m.; Tom-Wa, 10:30 to 11 a.m.; We-Wi, 11 to 12 a.m.; Wo-Z, A-Andi, 1 to 1:30 p.m.; Andr-Bed, 1:30 to 2 p.m.; Bee-Bril, 2 to 2:30 p.m.; Brin-By, 2:30 to 3 p.m.; late registrants, 3 to 4 p.m.

Brush and Palette

by Jan Bank

How I've enjoyed reading this column this summer, thanks to the guest writers who so graciously shared their experiences and feelings on the subject of art. It certainly was enriching to learn of the happenings in so many cross sections of the world.

I think it proves that art is with us no matter where we go, therefore it is so much more interesting if we are abreast of the newest methods and techniques as well as retaining the knowledge of the more recognized artists.

For myself, I looked forward to absorbing a wealth of knowledge while traveling south.

In Alabama, a contemporary art gallery that apparently sprung forth in the middle of nowhere, graced a peaceful hillside.

In Florida, alongside a "monkey jungle" or "alligator farm" paintings were displayed. Fort Lauderdale could almost claim an art shop and gallery for every shopping center. In Miami there was the Miami Museum of Modern Art, The International Design Centre. The Lowe Gallery was featuring the "Plate, Block and Stone Exhibit," plus "The Photographers Eye," direct from The Museum of Modern Art in New York, not to mention The Bass Museum with its fine permanent collection, or Vizcaya, the Dade county art museum, which is an Italian Pallazzo on Biscayne bay filled with art treasures.

On the gulf coast another famous palace harbors scores of priceless art in the Ringling Museum complex at Sarasota. The Asolo Theater is the only original Italian 18th century theater in America. The Museum of Art features the paintings of the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries and the Reubens collection is world renowned. The sumptuous mansion of John and Mable Ringling on Sarasota Bay is maintained in all its opulence and America's greatest museum of circus history completes the grouping.

The Inness paintings are on view further up the coast toward Tarpon Springs, and Cedar Key, off the beaten path is an artists colony.

They were all there to see and by the end of my trip I began to feel like one of those famous Florida dogs (only unfortunately, not as lean) chasing that dumb mechanical rabbit around in circles, because I didn't see one of the places I mentioned due to circumstances beyond control. Which brings me to the whole point of this column. For those who especially enjoy visiting galleries, there are dozens to be found, and for those who perhaps are not quite as interested in art they are bound to run across all types, wherever they go.

The larger hotels in Miami all had their own elegant galleries in the lobby. The motel we inhabited for one night boasted original paintings in every room and carport and even on the back of the motel sign.

In a Miami department store gallery when none of the paintings touched my asthetic nature, the male clerk tried appealing to my feminine weakness by telling me the paintings were on speical at half price, and I walked out with a painting.

On the home front, two new galleires and art shops will have their formal openings soon, and this column has been informed of three local businesses that have added art supplies. Very shortly, on September 12, The Masur Museum of Art will reopen for the coming year. Not only are some fine exhibits planned but a series of interesting gallery talks by well known personalities will be an added attraction. What better place to begin developing or furthering an understanding of art than right in our own backyard where we can view the work of professional serious artists.

DAY OR EVENING LOOK

Fashion has simmered down to two looks, says Irene Galitzine of Rome. The designer calls them "the day look" and the "evening look" — "that's why the cocktail dress is gone". She adds that the jet age has influenced fashion to the extent that style is international — very much the same in Rome, Paris, New York, or wherever.

Police Report Several Booked In Twin Cities

Traffic offenses again kept police busy Saturday in the Twin Cities.

Charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages in Monroe were Jerry W. Griffin, 27, of 3624 Curry St., Monroe, apprehended at 12:15 a.m. in the 2900 block of Renwick, and Edward R. Beauchamps, 22, of 1744 Westeria St., Baton Rouge, apprehended on Railroad Avenue at 12:45 a.m.

Booked on charges of aggravated battery were Ruthie Mae Brown, 21, of 1214 Pine St., Monroe, Henry L. Mills, 67, of 1003 Louise Anne St., Monroe, and Joseph Martin, 51, of 203½ N. 14th St., Monroe. Mills was also charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Barbara Jean Mosely, 28, of 1105 N. 4th St., Monroe, was booked with theft by check.

Charged with negligent driving was William G. Adams, 19, of 1613 Georgia St., Monroe.

Charged with indecent exposure in West Monroe was Wallace B. Woods, 32, of Jonesboro.

Ticketed for speeding were Danny E. Crawford, 19, of 1404 Cedar St., West Monroe, Daniel M. Harkness, 17, of 800 S. 5th St., West Monroe, Chester W. Hilburn, 20, of Ruston, Gary E. Talbert, 20, of 207 Hood St., West Monroe, Tillo O. Simpson, 57, of 1708 S. 8th St., Monroe, Clyde H. Crane, 32, of New Iberia, and Elmer Evans, 28, of Ruston.

Ticketed for reckless driving were Clifford L. Allen, 48, of Clarks, and Terry M. Chavers, 17, of 1602 Bailey St., West Monroe.

Booked in Monroe for theft by shoplifting was Barbara Harkins, 21, of 2916 Maddox St., Monroe.

Also ticketed for reckless driving in West Monroe was Leslie Scott Jr., 48, of 410 Texas Ave., Monroe.

GIBSON'S DISCOUNT — GIBSON'S DISCOUNT

Status Of Legislation Now Pending In U.S. Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Status of major legislation:

Health & Welfare

Regional Disease Centers — The President has proposed establishment of 32 geographically distributed medical complexes within five years to fight heart disease, cancer and stroke. First year cost $50 million; five-year total estimated at more than $1 billion. Senate: Approved four-year, $650 million bill. House: Commerce Committee approved three year, $340 million measure.

Roadsides—Johnson has recommended legislation to bar billboards and junkyards from interstate highways except in commercially zoned areas. House: Hearings under way. Senate: Hearings under way.

Water Pollution — Administration proposes increasing federal grants for municipal sewage treatment plants and more federal-state research projects for improved sewage disposal plants. Senate: Bill passed. House: Differing bill passed. Conference committee seeking compromise version.

Air Pollution — Johnson requesting increased federal authority to investigate potential pollution sources and to launch a full-scale attack on automobile and truck exhaust fumes. Senate: Passed. House: Commerce Committee approved.

Education

Colleges — Administration is backing a $601 million, one-year authorization measure to upgrade college libraries and assist small new colleges, increase student aid, including scholarships and federal insurance of private loans to students, and double present class. House: passed. Senate: Approved enlarged $4.7 billion 5-year measure that includes national teachers corps for poverty areas. Conference committee to work out differences.

Labor

Right To Work — President asked for repeal of section 14-B of Taft - Hartley law, under which 19 states have outlawed union shop contracts between management and labor. House: Approved. Senate: Labor subcommittee approved with religious convictions exemption.

Wage Hour—President asked for new minimum wage coverage of 4.6 million workers; double-time rates for work beyond 45 hours a week; unspecified increase in the $1.25 hourly minimum wage. House—Education and Labor Committee has approved new coverage for 6.1 million persons, including farm workers; $1.75 minimum wage by July 1, 1968; no double-time provisions. Senate: Labor subcommittee hearings completed.

President is seeking $1.5 billion authority to continue the "War on Poverty" program started last year, with spending to be doubled in 1965-66. House: Passed $1.9 billion bill. Senate: Approved $1.65 billion bill. Compromise $1.8 billion bill still to be approved by both houses.

Farm

President Johnson has submitted an omnibus farm bill to revamp and continue most major price support and production control programs and to start a new long - term cropland retirement plan. House: Approved. Senate: Agriculture Committee approved differing version. Senate action expected this week.

Government Workers

President proposed 3 per cent raise for civil servants to maintain present relationship with salaries in private industry. Also called for system of semi-automatic raises. House: Post Office and Civil Service Committee approved 4.5 per cent boost this year, similar hike next year. Senate: Post Office and Civil Service Committee hearings underway.

Immigration

Administration supports elimination in three years of the national origins quota system and replacement with a first-come, first-served pool of 170,000 visas outside the western hemisphere. Preference would be given members of separated families. House: Approved. Senate: Judiciary Committee approved similar measure but added a 120,000-person ceiling for the western hemisphere. Senate: Action expected this week.

Reapportionment

Congressional Districts—House has approved bill to restrict gerrymandering by requiring that Congressional districts be compact, and composed of population within 15 per cent of the average figure for each state. Senate: Judiciary subcommittee hearings completed.

State legislatures and a number of members of both parties are seeking a Constitutional amendment to permit one house of state legislatures to be apportioned on non-population basis, upsetting Supreme Court's 1964 "one-man, one-vote" rulings. House: Effort underway to take measure away from Judiciary Committee which has begun hearings. Senate: Judiciary subcommittee rejected proposal and Senate rejected it as amendment to another bill. New efforts underway.

Home Rule

Administration has proposed legislation to let Washington, D. C., residents elect a mayor, city council and non-voting delegate to the House. President and Congress would protect federal interests through the power to veto city action. Senate: Approved. House: Members have ordered the bill to the floor for a vote, possibly Sept. 27.

Crime

President Johnson has proposed an all-out attack on crime. Included among his weapons would be laws: Forbidding mail order sales of firearms except to federally licensed dealers and manufacturers; assisting the Justice Department in fighting organized crime; and permitting civil commitment for treatment instead of mandatory jail sentences for certain narcotics offenders. Senate: Hearings under way. House: Approved bill increasing federal aid for training local and state police. Hearings underway on others.

Constitutional Amendment

Disability — Johnson has endorsed a proposed Constitutional amendment to provide for Congressional confirmation of a vice president, chosen by the president when the second spot is vacant, plus a formal procedure for transfer of powers to the vice president as "acting president" when the chief executive becomes unable to carry out his duties. Approved by Congress. Awaiting ratification by two-thirds of the states.

Awaiting President's Signature

Department of housing and urban development — President proposed and Congress approved creation of cabinet-level department of housing and urban development.

Foreign Aid — The President asked Congress to authorize spending of $3.37 billion on overseas economic and military assistance during the next year. Congress voted $3.36 billion.

Signed By President

Area Redevelopment Program —President Johnson asked Congress to extend and broaden existing program to help economically depressed areas, authorizing additional $510 million. Congress approved expanded $660 million version of Administration bill.

Military Pay — Congress approved a pay raise for members of the armed forces costing more than $1 billion a year, twice the amount recommended by President Johnson. For those with more than two years service, wage hike would be 11 per cent for enlisted men and 6 per cent for officers. Enlisted personnel with less than two years will get raises ranging from 13 to 33.8 per cent while officers in this category will get about 22 per cent.

Assassination — The Warren Commission recommended and Congress approved legislation making the murder of a chief executive a federal crime. Imposes penalties up to execution on kidnaping and assaults on presidents, vice presidents and officers next in line for the presidency. House and Senate approved.

Housing—Congress approved $7 billion 4-year program to continue public housing and urban renewal programs, and set up a special rent subsidy plan for persons who cannot afford decent housing.

Voting Rights—President Johnson has proposed outlawing literacy and other voter tests and providing for federal registration of Negroes in seven states with low registration or voter turnout. Congress added provisions to challenge poll taxes still used in four states and new means to combat voter discrimination in other states.

Hospital Care and Social Security—The administration recommended a hospital care program under Social Security for persons over 65 years of age. Congress enacted, along with a voluntary insurance program to cover doctor bills, and 7 per cent increase in all Social Security payments.

Watch In The Night

On the ground are scattered huge stone columns, and the temple of Saturn is burnished gold in the late afternoon sun. In the Senate House is no oratory, and the dust of centuries covers the ground over which walked citizens, soldiers, and the people of the Old Republic. The blue Roman sky seems to match the colours of the beautiful mosaic fountains built so long ago. A breeze whispers through the low trees, and in the Forum, there is stillness and quiet now.

In the beginning, it was a gathering place on marshy ground. Soon, one could have looked down from the seven hills and seen a few shops and several small temples. Little Rome was the center of a hardy, agricultural people, and as the nation grew, its forum became a center of commerce and later, government.

In the early days of the Republic, citizens met in the Forum to discuss the affairs of the nation and to take part in its operation. The great senators of the early years were servants of the citizens and the ability to vote was the privilege of those who realized the tremendous responsibility of their franchise. The Forum must have been magnificent in those glorious days of the Roman Republic. Later, in the decline, there were mightier buildings and loftier temples, but there was something which had departed the scene. The touch of destiny was gone, and there was no Cicero abroad to try to rekindle the spirit of the old days.

The last sense bearers of a great, free people were gone, and even though the legions were mightier, captives more plentiful, and the false prosperity greater, Rome had begun to live on its past. Senators became spokesmen for Caesars-afraid of themselves and of the mob. While half the people toiled, worked and payed, the other half played, spent, despoiled, and a great nation came apart at the seams.

The Forum saw it all—saw the rot destroy a mighty and free nation, witnessed the orgies of a people gone wild, and finally beheld the sack and destruction of the city. The Old Republic was dead, and the darkness of the middle ages blacked out the brilliance and greatness which was Rome. The mighty temples tumbled down, and the market place became a desolate plain buried beneath the rubbish. Where then were the mighty Caesars, the legions, crowds, and babble of many tongues? Where was Cicero who once plead the lateness of Rome's hour, begging the Senate to return to its senses and the Republic?

Today's afternoon lingers, and visitors from across the sea wander through the ruins. Still, a feel of vast splendor and power envelops even the lighthearted. In the Curia, one can almost imagine the Senate debates, and witness the treachery of Brutus as he helped fell his friend Julius, first of the Caesars. The beautiful little temple of Venus almost sparkles, and headless statues seem to roam along the streets while others curiously mingle with the visitors.

The Forum of yesterday is as an island in the mighty city of today. On top of the hill, busy Romans plummet about in hordes of autos, and on droves of motorbikes. Green streetcars clang noisily up and down the streets, and a tour bus disgorges a load of sightseers. Colourful ice cream carts are surrounded by throngs of excited children, and a happy lizard suns himself on the temple of Julius Caesar. Rome of today is awake from its siesta, and it's business as usual.

When night falls on the Forum, the shadows have gone, and in the dark streets must be the Old Citizens who have come back, across the span of centuries to their meeting place. The soft breeze sighs, and one can almost hear the tramp of strange feet, see the high standards of the Old Legions marching in and out of the past, and feel the touch of a citizen's soft linen toga.

Suddenly, the Forum is ablaze with light and sound. There are shouts and cries, and for a ghostly instant, time has reversed. One is lone, twenty centuries away, when Caesar has returned in triumph from Gaul, Mark Antony delivers his funeral oration, and Rome burns.

Once again, there is only the quiet and the moonlight. The legions have departed, Caesars have gone, and there are no more orations. In the old magnificence and splendour, there is a single, pearly white column which stands alone, a sentinel — the watch in the night.

Caldwell Parish Labor Survey Set

COLUMBIA (Special) — A labor availability survey will be held in Caldwell Parish Friday and Saturday by a major manufacturing company.

The survey will be held at the Caldwell Parish Community Center 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, and 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday.

Only about 10 minutes will be required for individuals to register, and the Caldwell Parish Resource Development Association is waging a campaign to get from 1,200 to 1,500 persons signed up.

The new plant would employ 130 women and 70 men. The deciding factor in locating the factory here will be an accurate estimate of the number of persons interested in employment.

Helping sponsor registration is the Louisiana Department of Commerce and Industry and the Louisiana Department of Labor, Employment Security Division.

The starting wage — after a short training period — in a full - time, air - conditioned factory will be $1.25 per hour.

The company has sent representatives here on several occasions to look over industrial possibilities and they have reported back favorably.

The parish has an 80 - acre industrial site located about six miles north of Columbia, available to any industry that might be interested in locating here.

The Caldwell Resource Development group is urging persons interested in this factory within a 20 - 25 mile radius of Columbia, to register on Friday and Saturday.

Art Festival Flower Show Is Scheduled

COLUMBIA (Special) — One of the outstanding attractions at the Louisiana Art and Folk Festival on October 9-10 at the Community Center Grounds here, will be the second annual Flower Show presented by the Caldwell Parish Garden Club.

Miss Lillian Tarver is the chairman and Mrs. W. M. Causey, co-chairman of the show.

All entries will be by invitation to members of the Louisiana Garden Club Federation and the judging will be in accordance with the rules of the National Council of State Garden Clubs.

Judges will be Mrs. Guy Kincaid, Winnsboro; Mrs. Jettie Barnum, Jonesboro; Mrs. Paul Bourg, Hodge; Mrs. Ann Mooney and Mrs. A. D. Hulett, both of Jonesboro, and Mrs. Earl Preddy of Ruston.

The artistic division will be entitled, "Joyful Days in Caldwell Parish."

Pot plants and garden exhibits will be received Friday, Oct. 8 from 2 to 6 p.m. and arrangements for the artistic division will be received Saturday, Oct. 9, from 7:30 until 9:00 a.m.

There will be a high school garden and junior garden division including the following classes in Horticulture — any worthy specimen, dish garden and pot plants. There will also be a division devoted to educational and conservation exhibits.

The brush arbor especially constructed last year for the show will be used again this year. In the event of rain the festival will be held at the Caldwell Parish High School.

Anyone desiring any information about the flower show can contact Mrs. K. R. Harris, at Columbia.

New Accounting Firm Chosen To Handle Project

EDWARDS, Miss. (UPI)— A new accounting firm has been chosen to handle the bookkeeping for a controversial Head Start project recently accused of using federal funds for civil rights purposes.

A Washington spokesman said the firm of Spokney-Gersten Co. of New York was dismissed as accountants for the child development group after certain financial records were reported missing earlier this week.

A project official said the records merely had been taken by the accounting firm and were shipped back to Edwards by air express a few days later.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., charged the records disappeared the day after a Senate appropriations committee auditor, William J. Miller, arrived to resume an examination of them. Stennis earlier had accused the Head Start group of using federal money to post bond for civil rights workers arrested during demonstrations at nearby Jackson.

James F. Kelleher, an assistant to poverty chief Sargent Shriver, said Friday the New York firm had been dismissed because of "unsatisfactory work." He said another New York accounting firm, Garlick and Hoffman, was named to take over the bookkeeping job.

The new firm, it was reported, originally was called in to evaluate Spokney-Gersten's $3,500 contract with the child development group.

A Jackson newspaper quoted Washington sources this week as saying a number of irregularities had been found in the project's financial records, possibly involving as much as $300,000 in federal funds.

The report said the irregularities included the use of grant funds for paying fines and bail of civil rights workers, with the amounts designated in some cases as salary advances even though the persons jailed were not on the payroll.

The Jackson Clarion-Ledger, in a Washington dispatch, said Saturday Stennis would ask Shriver to explain the "irregularities" during Senate appropriations committee hearings starting Sept. 13.

Pledges Support

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Turkey has pledged $5,000 toward support of the U.N. Institute for Training and Research which will give diplomatic and administrative schooling to students from underdeveloped countries.

Dr. Qualls Gets Acting Director Post At NLSC

Dr. Buckley E. Qualls, assistant professor of education, has been appointed acting director of Student Teaching at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Dr. Eugene Holtzclaw, dean of the School of Education.

Dr. Qualls joined the Northeast faculty last year. A native Texan, he earned his bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees at Baylor University, where he was a four-year football letterman.

After receiving his bachelor's degree in 1949, Dr. Qualls was employed by the Gulf Oil Corporation for a year before entering the U.S. Air Force. After completing his military duty in 1954, he returned to Baylor for graduate study and received the M.S. degree in education the following year.

He joined the faculty of the Randolph Air Force (Tex.) Post School as teacher and assistant principal in 1955.

Three years later he returned to Baylor for doctoral studies and while there served as assistant dean of men, counselor and teacher. His duties there included supervising student teachers.

He completed requirements for the Ed. D. degree in August, 1963, writing his dissertation on "Disciplinary Problems of College Students, 1952-1963."

During the 1963-64 school year, Dr. Qualls was director of student personnel at Mobile College in Mobile, Ala.

The new director of student teaching is married and the father of three children, a girl and two boys. He is a Baptist.

Generosity May Cost Farmers Loss Of Income

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The apparent generosity of the Senate Agriculture Committee to wheat growers is more apparent than real, according to some wheat state senators.

They fear the higher price support provided in the committee's recommended farm program bill actually will cost the farmers $570 million in annual gross income.

But they do not plan to make a fight on the Senate floor when the bill comes up for debate sometime after the Labor Day weekend. They do not even want to be identified.

"Who wants to look as though he's throwing rocks at Santa Claus?" said one.

The Senate committee adopted an amendment by Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., to raise the price support on wheat grown for domestic use from the $1.81-per-bushel set in the House-passed bill to $1.90. The support would be available to farmers who comply with established acreage or planting limits.

The Agriculture Department, which opposed the increase, calculated it would raise the cost of the wheat program to $1.6 billion, compared to $1.2 billion under the House bill and the $1.1 billion cost of the present program.

Young heatedly noted that these figures include the cost of the food for peace and other foreign aid program which he said should not be assigned as a farmer-incurred expense.

He figured his amendment would cost no more than $100 million, "a piddling amount compared to the additional billions of the Great Society program."

The 9-cent increase over the House bill amounts to only a 5 to 6 per cent raise in the supports, considerably less than the increase in the prices farmers must pay, Young said.

AIRMAN OF THE YEAR for 753rd Radar Squadron (SAGE) is A1C Jimmie H. Lafayette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lafayette of West Monroe, who is a communications specialist and is currently assigned to the squadron communications section. The airman was selected for the award on the basis of initiative, professionalism, military bearing and devotion to duty. He was formly named an Airman of the Quarter. Lafayette is stationed at Ste. Saulte-Marie, Mich.

Head Majorette Of West Monroe Band Is Named

Miss Clara Dee Drew, a West Monroe High School senior, will lead the Rebel Band this school year as head drum majorette, according to Henry Camp, band director.

The drum majorette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Drew of Arkansas Road, West Monroe, and has been a member of the high school band for the past three years in the cornet section. She has served as majorette two years, acting as head majorette during the past year.

Miss Drew has previously been named Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau Queen, Key Club Sweetheart, a member of the 1964-65 Homecoming Court, a Student Council member and Miss Future Business Leaders of America in 1963-64 and 1964-65.

The West Monroe High School Band includes 102 members and will perform for the first time this school year at the half-time of the West Monroe-Jonesboro football game Friday, Sept. 10.

MISS CLARA DEE DREW

Meet Of School Board Scheduled

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Parish School Board will meet in regular session Tuesday at 9 a.m. at the Parish School Board office.

Routine business, along with several items of new business is scheduled for the meeting, according to James Mott, president.

First American To Escape Cong Awarded Stars

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Army M. Sgt. Isaac Camacho, the first American soldier to escape a Viet Cong prison camp was awarded the Silver Star and the Bronze Star in special ceremonies Saturday at Ft. Bliss.

Accompanying the citations presented by Maj. Gen. George T. Powers III, commander of Ft. Bliss, was a telegram from President Johnson, who ordered the medals presented.

The telegram read:

"Your service to your country in Viet Nam typifies the finest in the youth of our great nation. Your valiant efforts during a time of crisis deserves the highest praise. A grateful nation recognizes your deeds by awarding you a Silver Star for valor and a Bronze Star for meritorious service. Sincere thanks from the country you served so gallantly."

Camacho was promoted to the rank of master sergeant Friday.

He was captured by the Viet Cong in November 1963 and escaped in July of this year.

A Good Place

With Jimmy Hatten

DURING THE PAST several months that we have written this column, we have endeavored to applaud the achievmenets of Northeast Louisiana and pepper it with constructive criticism about some of the shortcomings.

Our success must be judged only by you.

We hear so much these days about what will make an area successful and a good place to live. To some, it is new industries and the bustle of a new way of life.

To others, tourism is the answer. Get other people to come in and spend their money, the theory goes, and the rest of us here have got it made.

The sportsman wants to make it a good place to hunt and fish, and, it appears, a lot of the farmers want to grow soybeans.

WE SUBMIT that one very essential ingredient has been left out. And that is the attitude of the people.

Bring in enough industry to make us a second Pittsburgh; have us deep enough in Eden where the fish jump in the boat, let more tourists see our land than Gettsyburg; but take the friendliness and spirit from the people and you still won't have a good place to live.

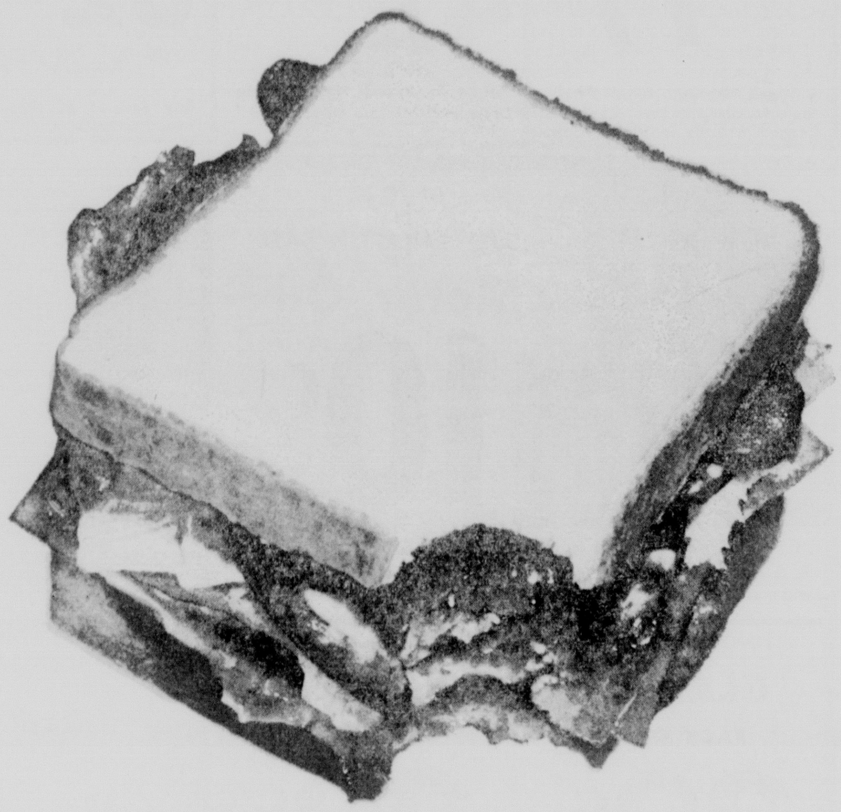
Progress in the fields of commerce and industry is desirable in making a good place to live.

THE GOODNESS of the people is essential.

Caldwell Parish Jury Will Meet

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Parish Police Jury will meet in their regular September session at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Caldwell Parish Courthouse.

The session, usually held on the first Monday each month, was postponed one day because of Labor Day which falls on Monday, according to W. H. Lay, president.



save some for yourself

Scarcely a day goes by that most of us – children and adults alike – don't "put away" a fat sandwich. When we take our first bite, rarely do we think to "Save Some for Ourselves" . . . that is, save some for later. As appetizing as sandwiches are, we're down to the crust in a few big bites.

People's Homestead reminds you not to let the same thing happen to your income. Just as in eating a sandwich, when you have the "fat" part of your paycheck, plan right then to "Save Some for Yourself". Set aside a certain portion of your income and each payday place it in a savings account at People's Homestead.

We'll be glad to "refrigerate your sandwich" for you. We'll garnish it twice a year with dividends . . . our current annual rate is 4½%, compounded semi-annually. Why not open your savings account next week at People's Homestead and Savings.

Water — Indestructible, Necessary And Now, Short

Monroe Morning World

Editorials — Spotlight — Sports

Monroe, La., September 5, 1965 1-B

If water is indestructible, why is there suddenly a shortage of this vital substance in certain parts of the country. This penetrating article points up the problem.

By BEM PRICE . . . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — Water is indestructible. Presumably there is exactly as much water on earth today as there was at the time of creation.

It is not the total amount of water that concerns mankind, however: It is the quality of the water and its availability for human use.

And herein lies the crux of what is now recognized as the U.S. Water Problem:

(1) The available supply of good water is so limited that within 35 years demand will outstrip supply by 350 billion gallons daily.

(2) The water in the nation's 90 major river basins is being polluted by municipal, industrial and agricultural wastes.

The work of improving the water quality of just 17 of these streams has cost nearly $3.1 billion since the program began in 1957.

The fact that the nation's waters are being polluted is probably no surprise to anyone, especially anyone who has felt the urge to swim in the waters off Milwaukee, Cleveland or New York City, for example.

But pollution is a variable, depending for definition upon the intended use of the water. And that complicates matters.

For domestic use, water must be clear, free of disease organisms, waste and odor. It must not have a dissolved mineral content higher than 500 parts per million, according to U. S. Public Health Service standards.

Water for agriculture is judged on mineral content, particularly its sodium level. Sodium will turn good soil into a sort of compacted gumbo.

Water for fish propagation must be relatively free of industrial and municipal wastes and be able to sustain a flora for the small organisms which serve as fish foods. It must also have a minimum dissolved oxygen content of at least four per cent.

Water for industrial use runs the gamut from complete absence of minerals to temperature, the critical factor where water is used for cooling.

There is, apparently, a widespread assumption that the nation's waters are being polluted chiefly by municipalities, which dump raw sewerage into lakes, rivers and streams.

This is true only in part. One of the worst offenders is the nation's industrial complex.

The report of a special subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Public Works found that "at the present level of industrial waste treatment, in 1970 the amount of organic industrial wastes discharged will be the equivalent of the raw sewage that could be discharged by the entire population of the United States in that year."

By 1970, the United States is expected to have a population of 210 million. The subcommittee estimates the nation's industries need to build 6,000 waste treatment plants, beginning now.

The subcommittee also reported that there are now 7,939 municipalities with waste treatment plants which serve the needs of 102 million people. Many of these plants, however, are obsolescent.

There are 6,141 municipalities with waste treatment projects under way, costing $3.1 billion.

The Public Health Service is processing another 1,400 applications for federal assistance in building treatment plants which will cost $879 million.

Cleaning up the nation's waters is not going to be cheap. The ultimate bill may run as high as $40 billion.

In any event, the health service contends the nation's cities are not moving fast enough. Paul W. Reed, in charge of water supply construction grants for the service, has estimated there are still 5,277 communities in need of waste treatment plants and sewers.

Under the present law, the health service has $100 million a year for loans to communities for waste treatment plant construction. The law limits the loans to 30 per cent of the total estimated cost up to a maximum cost of $600,000.

For all practical purposes this excludes the nation's larger cities. Atlanta, for example, figures that to clean up its wastes will cost somewhere between $60 million and $70 million.

But industry is the big headache. The health service says that until it knows what industry is putting into the nation's waters, it has no idea of just how to go about cleaning them up — and industry is hesitant to tell.

Richard S. Greene, chief of the service's basic data branch, says most industrialists have refused to provide information on the quality and quantity of liquid wastes.

"It is understandable from the management viewpoint," he said. "No industry makes a profit from treating wastes — unless it figures the cost of lawsuits is going to be higher than the cost of installing treatment facilities."

But water pollution is not the only problem. In the arid and semi-arid regions of the West, water collected underground over thousands of years is being pumped out much faster than it is being replaced, raising the specter of great areas returning to desert.

Ironically, some of this water is used to irrigate crops, such as cotton, which the government is paying producers in other sections to take out of production.

Deer Valley, an 80-square mile area north of Phoenix, Ariz., already has returned to desert, its ground waters exhausted.

The pumping of ground waters has caused parts of the Imperial Valley in California to subside. On Long Island, N.Y., salt water is intruding into the drained reservoirs.

The nation now uses about 360 billion gallons of water a day. The Senate Public Works subcommittee estimates the nation will be using 515 billion gallons within 15 years and "the most the nation can ever hope to achieve as a result of engineering works is about 650 billion gallons a day."

At the present rate of growth, the nation will need more than one trillion gallons daily by the year 2,000, leaving a deficit of about 350 billions gallons daily in the dependable supply. This means, the committee said, that the nation is going to have to use and reuse its available waters, hence the concern with pollution.

Any water, no matter how polluted, can be made reusable — at a price. When people talk of converting sea water to fresh water, or of reusing waste waters, they are talking economics, primarily.

What they generally mean is water available at a price they want to pay, not what they can afford to pay.

As the nation runs out of dependable water supplies, the cost of water undoubtedly will climb — unless communities are willing to subsidize the users by delivering water at below cost.

Water reuse means the nation's scientists are going to have to learn a great deal more about water than they now know.

There is, for example, no infallible test for detecting the presence of waterborne viruses such as hepatitis. The more water is reused, the more acute will be the need for devising such a test.

For the past two years Leland J. McCabe of the Robert A. Taft Sanitary Engineering Center in Cincinnati, has been studying the mineralization of water.

He has found — and similar studies in England seem to support him — that the fewer the minerals in drinking water, the higher the death rate from cancer and heart disease, among other things.

River water usually has a lower mineral content than well water. Should mineral salts be added and, if so, in what amount?

The U.S. Public Health Service is spending only $4.2 million annually on water research, but the nation is spending about 3,600 times that much on defense and space research.

Whatever the research needs, pollution remains the No. 1 problem, and it is essentially one of degree.

The matter of degree boils down to the question of what is a tolerable limit of pollution on what stream. This means every major stream and its tributaries must be studied separately with the end use of the water in mind.

The Senate subcommittee put it this way:

"To say that we must cease discharging wastes is unrealistic. However, there is a limit to which individuals or groups of individuals can go before their their neighbors; the problem, then, is when to establish the limit and how to develop effective means of enforcement and control. No stream should be reduced to a mere carrier of wastes.

"Water pollution is no longer a local affair. There is growing concern over the ability of our water purification plants to protect the public health against the sheer mass of biological and chemical pollutants entering their intakes."

Whatever the subcommittee may think, however, the fact remains that in passing the Water Pollution Control Act of 1961, Congress specifically declared it "to be the policy of Congress to recognize, preserve and protect the primary responsibilities and rights of the states in preventing and controlling water pollution."

Under the present law the secretary of health, education and welfare "cooperates" with the states in controlling pollution unless he determines that a clear and present danger to public health exists.

If it does, he can in theory go to court and force a cleanup. But in 34 hearings on pollution since January 1957, the secretary has never gone to court. These hearings involved 24 states, 2 interstate agencies, 470 industrial establishments and 450 communities in voluntary agreements to clean up streams.

One of the problems is that the states jealously guard their rights to establish water quality standards of their own. What is an acceptable standard in one state, may be totally unacceptable to a state downstream.

But at least a start has been made on managing the nation's water resources: thirty-five states now have water quality control boards.

ALREADY THIRSTING in many sections and faced by growing shortage and pollution of its water supplies, the United States is making a start toward solving the complicated problem. At left is a typical view of the polluted South Platte River northeast of Denver, Colo., which will change with completion next year of a $32 million project linking all metropolitan area sewers and including construction of a secondary sewerage treatment plant. Authorities say the pollution will be eliminated. Water pollution also affects farm lands and countryside as well as cities, reducing available sustenance for crops. At right, a once beautiful woodland pool, headwater of a brook leading to a river in Westchester County, New York, now is littered with civilization's debris. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

Ham Helps Soldier In Dominican Hear From States

By FRANCES PHILLIPS

Staff Writer

A phone conversation is probably the next best substitute for actually being with loved ones, and a former West Monroe girl makes this possible for several soldiers stationed in the Dominican Republic.

Mrs. James Nye of Fort Bragg, N.C., who before her marriage was Martha Robinson of West Monroe, has happily utilized her hobby as an amateur radio operator to talk with her husband while he is away.

Both are "hams" and, since Lt. Nye's shipment to the Dominican, they have conversed regularly via short-wave sets in their home at Ft. Bragg and his headquarters.

Mrs. Nye, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Robinson of 305 McClendon St., is a graduate of West Monroe High School and Louisiana Tech. Always interested in design and machinery, she enrolled in engineering when starting to Tech.

While there, she worked for a professor who was a ham and, according to her mother, "That's when she got the bug."

Then she met Jim Nye, who was also interested in short-wave radio operation. They were married four years ago this past Thursday, and both received radio licenses in 1961.

While studying for licenses, Mrs. Nye said, they read books on the subject, then purchased a receiver so they could listen to broadcasts.

First Set

They built their first short-wave set, and have now added enough equipment to have the "very latest" type of radio.

Lt. Nye, who is from Brownsville, Tex., and is a graduate of the University of Arizona, plans to make a career of the Army. He is now serving with the 50th Signal Battalion, and was sent to the Dominican Republic last September.

When he was shipped overseas, several men from his outfit joined forces in their free time and erected a beam, or directional, antenna in front of Mrs. Nye's apartment. Since that time, the couple has conversed an average of three times a week, depending on Lt. Nye's schedule.

Mrs. Nye has added a phone patch to her equipment which enables other soldiers in Lt. Nye's overseas unit to talk with their families at home.

They get on the radio in the Dominican and give Mrs. Nye their home phone number. She dials the number, plugs the phone into the radio, and a conversation can be carried on between the two parties.

The only catch is that she must monitor all conversations. Only one person can talk at a time, and Mrs. Nye must listen in order to know just when to throw the switch so the other person can speak.

"I've had phone calls to points as far away as Washington, D.C.," Mrs. Nye said. "The calls are placed collect by me, and the cost of the call is rated from here at Fort Bragg to its destination. Therefore it really doesn't cost an awfully lot for a man to speak to his loved ones."

So far she has encountered only one major problem in the entire system. It seems that the Nye's 13-month-old son Mark is constantly wandering around the house wanting to talk to his "Da-Da."

Except, that is, any time he stands in front of the radio with the lieutenant all ready and waiting on the other end—then there is nothing but total silence.

HAM RADIO has proved to be a very valuable hobby to Mrs. James Nye, the former Martha Robinson of West Monroe. Mrs. Nye, now at Fort Bragg, N. C., is shown here talking with her husband in the Dominican Republic. She has also installed phone patches so the other men in the Dominican can talk to their families in the states.

Significance To Africans In A Name

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE

BLANTYRE, Malawi (AP) — What's in a name? For some African leaders, struggling to make something of their recent independence, the right title enhances their chances of topping the African popularity poll.

Presidents or prime ministers don't really mean much to millions of Africans living in dusty, mud-hut villages and clinging to age-old tribal adoration of their chiefs and clan elders.

They prefer something more resounding — like redeemers, saviors, messiahs and lions.

Ethiopia's Emperor Haile Selassie has a long string of Biblical titles. Legend has it that he is a direct descendant of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

His titles include King of Kings, Conquering Lion of Judah and Elect of God. Among the septuagenarian's royal courtiers he's referred to as imperial Majesty. But the people of his country prefer the title of Conquering Lion.

On Africa's steamy west coast, Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah has taken the title of Osagyefo, which broadly translated liken him to Redeemer, Savior or Messiah.

The fact that he has survived bullet and bomb attacks on his life adds weight to his spiritual title, which impresses the Ghanaian people. Some of them believe him immune from killing.

Down on the palm-fringed East African coast, Tanzania's President Julius Nyerere, architect of Tanganyika's independence and a former schoolteacher, is known as Mwalimu — a Swahili term for Teacher.

Kenya's President Jomo Kenyatta, elder statesman of African nationalism and the man the English believe was leader of the country's former Mau Mau terrorist organization, was originally called Burning Spear.

This has now been replaced with a simple "Mzee" — a Swahili term meaning old man. Among Kenya's white population, many of whom recall the terrible jungle savagery of Mau Mau days, he is sometimes jocularly known as Jolly Jomo.

Beautification Hits Snag

Because of strong opposition, particularly on the part of state governors, President Johnson is reported to have said he is willing to drop at least one major provision and to increase spending for others in order to get his highway beautification bill through Congress this year.

Senators and House members handling the measure have told the President there are not enough votes to get the bill out of the Public Works Committee in its present form.

Governors generally have centered their opposition on two major provisions of the bill. One of these would require that three per cent of federal highway funds allocated to a state be used for preservation and enhancement of scenic beauty adjacent to highways. The other would direct that one-third of the United States money appropriated to a state for its secondary system be spent in construction of scenic roads and roads leading to scenic or recreational areas, or for landscaping and roadside development.

While highway beautification and scenic roads are highly desirable, the governors contend these two provisions would mean severe cutbacks in their present highway programs.

The three per cent proposal for federal - state highways seems more reasonable than the one-third proposal for scenic roads and roads leading to scenic spots. Even so, a three per cent expenditure for beautification on some highways would not be necessary. Under a land - acquisition plan, the government contends that many wooded areas should be left in their natural state. Sponsors have said that natural beauty is better than man-made beauty. This is doubtfully true in that man is certainly able to improve on nature in many ways. However, the same argument for natural beauty along highways and for natural beauties in the forests might well be used.

It is difficult to say the construction of scenic roads and roads to scenic places would be unwise. In fact, such a statement can be made only when the value and necessity of these roads is weighed against the value and necessity of roads that would be more generally used. We might sum it up by saying that the roads needed to get to the scenic roads and to other places where people go in great numbers are more necessary than the scenic roads themselves. Legislation should allow more leeway in deciding the value and practicality of various roads.

In one way, highway construction, both from a practical viewpoint and from the standpoint of scenic beauty, may be compared to education. Education has been declared to be the best investment a state, community or city can make, monetarily, and the same is true of highways. Tax money spent on highways not only is more than returned to the highway users because of shorter mileages, smoother travel and less wear and tear on both vehicles and people, but it is also returned to the state and nation in the form of greater industrial expansion and greater economic improvement.

If fraud and graft are eliminated, the federal and state governments can hardly go wrong in building more and better roads—and beautification must play a part in such a program, although perhaps on a more limited basis than that suggested by President Johnson.

'Royal' Company Here

Dave L. Pearce, Louisiana commissioner of agriculture, a leading promoter of gospel singing and a man of considerable general prestige, traveled in "royal" and beautiful company when he appeared in the Twin Cities a few days ago on a tour promoting Louisiana yams.

With the commissioner were Kathleen Ledoux of Eunice, the state yam queen, and Suzanne Flash of Ville Platt, Louisiana's queen of yam cookery.

Also along the tour's public appearances were marketing specialists Larry Feduccia, Pete Beridon, Bill Odom and Ray Stringfield.

Pearce is referred to as the "father of yam production in Louisiana." He launched and put through drives for yam dehydration plants and for many years has been a leading promoter in the production and marketing of sweet potatoes.

The commissioner noted that the 1965 yam harvest is well under way and that Louisiana, which last year supplied about one-fourth of the nation's production, is expected to produce some 14 per cent yield this year, about 54,000 acres have been planted in this crop and a harvest of 7,363,000 million bushels is predicted.

Pearce stated: "Our department is putting everything behind an effective marketing program to move these yams in an orderly manner."

Dehydration, which keeps yams in good condition far longer, and the finding of good markets are the two non-farming elements required to make yam-growing a success.

Louisiana has taken the lead in providing these two essentials. The amazing fact that Louisiana now produces one-fourth of the nation's sweet potato crop has been the result. Such success certainly deserves commendation.

Housing, Urban Renewal

United States Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana has announced that he will mail to each mayor in Louisiana copies of the Housing and Urban Renewal act and the Economic Development act.

In its intrusion into state and city affairs, the federal government always offers a tempting bait in the form of "free" money. Of course, no money handed out by the government is free, but those states and cities which refuse to accept money in this movement toward socialism are left holding an empty bag while those which accept the so-called largasse receive a fatter than average share.

Both of the above-mentioned acts contain many programs in which city officials might be interested, regardless of the size of the communities. Without doubt, officials will investigate these new programs by which loans and grants will be made available for a variety of municipal services.

Heretofore, in the urban renewal programs, cities which accepted the programs were required to give the federal government carte blanche authority in deciding which buildings were to be destroyed, which were to be retained and the type of new structure that would replace the old. In some instances, old buildings costing hundreds of thousands of dollars and capable of lasting perhaps half a century more have been torn down and replaced by so-called modern buildings which were less substantial and which would not last as long as the old buildings.

If the cities and states sacrifice their authority to handle their own affairs, they will be paying a big price for the illusionary "gift dollars" they receive.

In planning the Gemini orbits, the policy is to take one day at a time. It's nice to know that there are some things we learn on earth that can be useful in outer space.

Anti-Poverty

Monroe, La.

To The Editor:

There has been much controversy over the impending Anti-Poverty program in Ouachita Parish. This program needs to be looked at with a jaundice eye, since it deals primarily with preschool age children and young teenagers.

There is much to be said about President Johnson's "Great Society". My first response is, society of who and for what. It seems that Mr. Johnson's answer to all our problems is simply to give more federal (tax money) hand-outs to more people. Evidently, the principle of an honest day's work for an honest day's pay has escaped most of today's leaders.

There seems to be an attitude among the proponents of this program that those who oppose the anti - poverty program, must, by the nature of their opposition believe in poverty. Nothing could be further from the truth. The writer and his constituents would back any program that would delete poverty and suffering for the truly poor. But to take from people who have worked hard to earn a living, and to give it to people who are not working and have little or no intentions of doing a strenuous days work, is not the American way!

There are only two classes of people who will benefit by the program, those who are looking for a handout, and the politician who administers the program. The war on poverty is like any other political war, only the politician will win. This program has been denounced by every conservative in the nation.

Congressman Otto Passman called it the greatest move to socialism in our nation's history. Quoting an article in the News-Star—World—Mr. Marvin Wyatt of Winnsboro said that it was governed by the civil rights act of 1964 which clearly in title six states that no assistance will be given anyone who does not agree to totally integrate.

It is beyond me how our leading citizen's can say that this program is wrong in principle but it is better for us to sell our principles than to let some other organization reap the so-called benefits from this piece of socialistic legislation.

As spokesman for the Greater Ouachita Citizen's Council, we would like to go on record as being opposed to the Anti-Poverty program, or any federal programs that demands total integration. We urge our leaders, both civic and spiritual to stand up on the side of Americanism, and to think more of a free nation that a "Great Society."

If Ouachita Parish needs an Anti-anything, it needs an Anti-Communism, Anti - Socialism, Anti-Compromise program.

Human Kindness

Winnsboro, La.

To the Editor:

What has happened to the humanitarianism of this country? There was a time when with only a hint of sickness in the community, would send the ladies hurrying forth with a pot of home made soup, a jar of their best peaches and a kind word or two for the sick. Has progress taken away all the joy of doing for others? We have a pushbutton universe these days and still we do not have time to do the things that really matter. We have machines to do our bidding at the flick of a switch and yet there are hundreds of lonely children in homes that would welcome our presence in their dull every day existence. There are oldsters that have been sadly neglected. Oh, I know the first thing that comes to mind is the fact that we have the very best homes for that sort of thing. Yes I know we do but have you ever thought that they might enjoy the presence of their family more often?

Isn't it possible that the sick would enjoy our company once in a while? But we always find an excuse to put off what we know we should do today. We are in fact too busy to even get on the telephone and make a simple call to see if our neighbor is in need.

What has progress done for us? Has it made us more attentive to the needs of our fellow man or made us hurry through life, on, as the saying goes, greased skids. I do not believe that progress was meant to take the place of human kindness as it has in some places and in some instances.

Until we learn again to be a friend to those who need friends then progress will mean very little to the world.

Lucille L. Jones

A Free Society

Kelly, La.

To the Editor:

The liberal establishment has espoused and enacted into law many concepts that are contrary to the conscience of a free society. One of the most debilitating and seemingly least understood and recognized pernicious attitudes that the liberals have of a society is their constant attacks that they wage against free enterprise. Probably this area of a free society does as much if not more than anything else to keep the equilibrium of a just and prosperous nation. Since 1932 a constant war has been waged against this basic tenet of freedom.

Sometimes the forces of freedom have been able to momentarily hold back the onslaught of this undertaking but so much of the time very valuable and precious ground has been gained by this movement which seeks to destroy the vitalizing force of true prosperity. The most repeated excuse for interference in the affairs of business is that it is necessary in order to keep things moving, to keep a balance in the economy. However, it is very plain at times that their proposals do just the opposite of this. They loan on the providing segment of our society an unjust and burdensome task that tends to slow down the machinery of free enterprise. One of the most paradoxical issues that has been unsolved is the fact that the business community has had to support, through taxation of their own earnings, government owned and operated institutions that are in direct competition with their own and other business. The consumer public has also had to share in this warped idea of a collectivist power. Sometimes the disguise of something for nothing has entranced Mr. Q. Public. However he should remember government is a parasite in matters such as these and that government has to first take away in order to give anything. He also should remember that when business suffers, he suffers.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Goldwater Raps King's Meddling

IF EVER A MAN should be considered on his merit, or lack of it, with absolutely no regard to race or creed, it is Dr. Martin Luther King in his new role as unofficial secretary of state.

It would be a serious mistake to permit his image as a Negro leader and Nobel laureate to distort or diminish the criticism he deserves for his far-fetched meddling in the Vietnamese war.

From the protective shelter of his international fame, Dr. King has suggested that he intercede directly with Ho Chi Minh in an effort to halt the war. He has also spoken vaguely of the possibility of campaigns of "non-violence," similar to the ones that worked so effectively in the domestic racial situation, being used to stop the shooting.

Further, he has called on President Johnson for an "unconditional and unambiguous" statement of our willingness to negotiate a peace settlement in Viet Nam. If Dr. King is so poorly informed that he does not know of President Johnson's repeated offers to do exactly that — offers which some feel may even have gone too far — Dr. King is in a very poor position to be issuing advice.

EVERY CITIZEN, of course, has a right to sound off on anything he wants. But a citizen of Dr. King's other qualifications must realize that what he says will be taken more seriously by many people than they would if coming from a Joe Doe. Yet there is nothing in Dr. King's background that equips him for major foreign policy pronouncements any more than there is in the background of Mr. Doe.

But Dr. King's notion of going directly to Ho Chi Minh with his own peace plan goes beyond simple bumbling. It is potentially mischief of a major order and conceivably could have an adverse effect on our war effort, the hope for peace and the security of our soldiers.

Ho Chi Minh is not so isolated from news of our domestic affairs that he does not realize Dr. King speaks for a considerable number of our citizens. He must also know that talk of "non-violent" resistance to the fighting in Viet Nam, and attempts to link up the Negro and the pacifist movements, is a volatile and possibly explosive mixture that could be fully exploited on behalf of the Communists' war efforts.

AS GEORGE WEAVER, a highy placed Negro of the Labor Department, has forthrightly pointed out, Dr. King's rambling, if well meaning, interference in foreign policy may dangerously confuse Communist understanding of our opposition to aggression.

His statement is just one more unfortunate aspect of the situation, where the administration should feel constrained to slap back at Dr. King through another Negro, apparently hoping this would remove any misunderstanding that opposition to Dr. King has racial undertones.

Any American, white or colored, should be privileged to speak out against Dr. King on this Vietnamese matter without any fear of confusing the issue with racial concerns.

Dr. King is inept and wrong when it comes to Viet Nam. The color of his skin or the stature of his other activities do not excuse him, should not protect him and certainly should not silence his critics. In moving into an area where he is less than adequately grounded, Dr. King must accept the consequences and the inevitable and justified criticisms.

RALPH de TOLEDANO

Johnson's Aiding Russia Puzzling

PRESIDENT Johnson's present insistence to bolster the sagging Soviet agricultural economy by pouring U. S. wheat into the country promises to kick off one of the 89th Congress's biggest controversies. Opposing Mr. Johnson are most of the Republicans, many conservative Democrats, the AFL-CIO, and a variety of public groups.

Within Congress, the feeling prevails that the President has been sold a bill of goods by the State Department and its constellation of bleeding hearts. The wheat-to-Communism effort, it is known, is but one aspect of a long-standing Administration policy to "win over" the Kremlin by bribing the leaders of world revolution with American goods.

This policy has been implemented during the past years by a long series of shipments to the Soviet Union of goods and industrial processes with direct or indirect military use. Interestingly enough, these shipments run directly counter to the expressed intent of the 87th — or first Kennedy — Congress. A select committee of that Congress, in a report almost universally seconded, argued that "it makes no more sense to strengthen the economic potential of our cold war Communist armies than to arm them."

THE DEMAND was made at that time for "immediate steps to be taken to more effectively control the exports of technical data." More pertinently, there was an admonition against the export of "prototypes or single units to Communist countries." These units are used by the Soviets as models for copies which are mass produced without benefit of patent royalties.

The unrest on Capitol Hill over the cornucopia of industrial and technical aid to the Soviet Union is reflected by Representative Craig Hosmer (R.-Calif.) Mr. Hosmer has been remarkably prescient in his analyses of the Soviet Union and of America's efforts to find peace through appeasement. In a speech to the House of Representatives this week, Mr. Hosmer carefully listed the Johnson Administration's contributions to Soviet economic well-being.

For example:

In May 1965, a license was issued to authorize shipment to the Soviet Union of technical data for the construction of an ethylene plant with a productive capacity of one million metric tons of heavy petroleum oil. End products: petrochemicals, synthetic fibers, plastics, propane, butane, and gasoline.

On July 13, a license was issued authorizing the shipment to the Soviet Union of grinding machines worth $2.44 million.

These machines are essential for the making of crankshafts and camshafts. They will give a shot in the arm to the feeble Soviet automotive industry.

Recently, another license was issued to authorize the sale to the Kremlin of technical data for the production of what the Commerce Department delicately referred to as "chemical products." Inquiry disclosed that these products were necessary in the manufacture of polystyrene, used as a binder in explosives. Polystyrene capacitors are used in the Minuteman program. And polystyrene was used by the Nazis as an ignitor for their V-2 rockets and for non-magnetic mines.

ANOTHER LICENSE was issued permitting the sale of technical data for the building of a fertilizer plant. In 1963, the Commerce Department authorized the export to the U. S. S. R. of $9.5 million of highly automated mining machinery, also designed to bail out the Communist agricultural program.

Copper is vitally needed in this country, particularly since the warming up of the Viet Nam war. Yet, as Mr. Hosmer notes, "over the last two months, during July and August, twelve licenses were granted authorizing the shipment of copper scrap to Yugoslavia valued at $5,436,960. What is more, although Yugoslavia claims it has insufficient copper supplies to meet domestic requirements, it is a net exporter of semi-finished and finished copper products." One - third of those products go to Communist countries.

These examples merely scratch the surface. The fact, hard to believe and harder to understand, is that the Commerce Department is exerting itself in finding ways and means to circumvent the loosely - worded restrictions on shipment of goods to Iron Curtain countries. It reminds me of the days when this country was shipping steel scrap to the Japanese — a two - way proposition since we got a lot of it back at Pearl Harbor and in the battles for the Pacific stepping stones to Tokyo.

The GIs and Marines on the receiving end found it hard to appreciate the form in which the scrap was returned. American boys in Viet Nam must harbor considerable sympathy for that sentiment.

Dangers In Viet Parleying Seen

DURING THE LAST fortnight, the pressures to negotiate the Vietnamese war have mounted. Although they are largely fetishistic, they are not to be ignored. Several quarters suggest that the original "Geneva powers" reconvene to consider the mess they created in 1954. A day doesn't go by that an anonymous — but always "highly placed" — spokesman for some government or other, doesn't tell us that Hanoi is on the point of negotiation.

U Thant is forever talking to Ambassador Goldberg, or somebody else, about some aspect or another of negotiation. Nasser, with the full confidence of Gbenye and Sukarno, has gone to Moscow to bring to bear on the disputants the great moral force of the Afro-Asian Bloc. And Martin Luther King has suggested that the Pope, the Queen of England, U Thant, Shirley Temple, and Martin Luther King journey to South Viet Nam and forthwith put a stop to all this business.

MR. RICHARD NIXON, on the other hand, has spoken out in warning against our over-advertised desire to negotiate in Viet Nam. His point isn't that the United States should be unwilling to negotiate with the enemy those differences that are negotiable between us, but rather that our stressing and restressing our willingness to negotiate will very likely give the enemy the impression that we are desperately anxious to go to the conference table. So much so that we might just be willing to compromise our position a bit. The over-advertisement of our desire to negotiate has the effect on the public psychology that commercial over - advertisements are sometimes calculated to do — the Clearance Sale approach. Mad-Man Muntz made a national name for himself a decade ago with his advertisements on the theme that he was so anxious to dispose of his television sets, he was prepared to sell them not at a profit but at a loss, hence the general inference that he must be Mad.

Are we willing to negotiate even at a loss? Not if we can still believe Lyndon Johnson that the freedom of the South Vietnamese people is not negotiable. But Lyndon Johnson has a way of convincing himself that whatever he does is transcendently right, and subsumes, in its higher morality, his previous positions. And that is why we have something to fear from reckless negotiation at Mad-Man Muntz prices.

THE REPUBLICAN Party has been anxious to find a position from which effectively to argue against the Administration's policies in Southeast Asia. So far the GOP has floundered badly, never quite knowing whether on the one hand we should back the action over there because it is clearly anti - Communist, or whether we should oppose it because it got to be as bad as it got because of Democratic maladministration.

Here is an opportunity to warn against the dangers of over-advertising our desire to negotiate, and it is good that Mr. Nixon has taken the lead. The warning ought also to be made that we are so maneuvering ourselves as to endow the Viet Cong with an enormous strategical advantage. If indeed we succeed militarily to the point of seriously weakening the enemy, it can call for a surcease — in order to regroup, the better to renew hostilities — by the simple expedient of announcing its readiness to negotiate. Needless to say, nothing at all must be done at the negotiation table other than to heap insults upon us.

Ideally, the United States Government should refuse to negotiate until, under international supervision, the North Vietnamese return home, and the supply lines of the Vietcong are sealed. But it is unlikely the Government will feel it can insist on this concession as a preliminary to negotiation. At the very least, then, it should insist that until a satisfactory solution is found at the negotiation table, the fighting will go on.

Editor's LAGNIAPPE With Jack Gates

INTERESTING

Two men were finding seats the other day in a Twin Cities restaurant when one of them looked across the room and said:

"How about that? There's my wife over there."

"Want to join her," asked his friend.

"No, let's don't," said the other, scrooching down low in his chair. "If we do I'll have to pay for her lunch."

SUNDAY MORNING PRAYER

May I meet this day without hurry
Imbued with faith that casts out worry,
Face its emergencies with nerve
That's steady, nor from duty swerve,
Approach temptations with restraint,
And bear my cross without complaint,
Rest at its closing without shame,
And for my faults, no other blame.
And this last prayer I make to Thee;
Lord, let Thy Kingdom come in me.

GUILTY PLEA

A judge friend told this one:

A defendant told the judge, "I would like to ask a couple of questions before I enter my plea if that is okay with you."

"You have the court's permission," replied the court.

"If I go on trial, your honor, do I have to sit here and listen to all the hypothetical questions asked by the lawyers?"

"Certainly."

"And try to understand the jargon of the psychiatrists?"

"Very probably."

"Well, your honor, I will now enter my plea."

"What is it?"

"GUILTY."

IN CHURCH

This happened recently in a local church, or so we're told.

As the ushers, armed with collection plates, approached a pew occupied by a small boy and his parents, he advised his father in a whisper audible throughout the sanctuary, "Don't pay for me, Daddy, I'm under five."

PRESS FREEDOM

This happened recently in Nebraska. Some state senators apparently had their toes stepped on by newspapers and introduced a resolution criticizing the press for "indiscriminate and irresponsible" use of its freedom — the charge that is made often by some politicians.

This resolution appeared to be picking up considerable steam, a dispatch reported, until a perceptive friend of the press, Sen. Terry Carpenter, managed to push through an amendment. The amendment read: "Those who vote for this resolution request that in the future their names be stricken from all news media."

When the resolution came to a vote, it received only one — and that by its sponsor.

DOUBLE TALK

Double talk is the most necessary skill in the complex society in which we live in the United States and possibly the world. And if you don't have the knack for it, you ain't gonna succeed.

Double talk, in case you haven't caught on, is saying publicly the opposite of what is in your mind or what you really think.

Here are a few examples and their literal translations and maybe they'll come in handy for you.

"Pastor, that was a wonderful sermon today." It was so bad I even didn't get to take a nap.

"Every man has a right to his opinion." But how about shutting your cotton picking mouth until I can express mine.

"I sure did enjoy reading your column." At least I hope it is your last one.

"Gee, boss, it sure is a pleasure to accept this 25 year pin from you." Why didn't the old tightwad come through with a bonus or a gold watch?

"The starting salary is small, but the opportunity is unlimited and besides it is an honor to work for us." If the job really required any brains, we'd have to pay more.

"Oh, Henry, what a darling engagement ring. But it looks terribly expensive." It must have been a big day at the dime store when you bought it.

"Naturally, I welcome criticism — as long as it's constructive." When I really need or want your advice, I'll ask for it.

"You're in the phone book aren't you?" Well, that's one wrong number I'll never call.

"Let's have lunch sometime." You eat at your restaurant, and I'll eat at mine.

"I'll sure support you for that post in the next election." That guy must be nuts to think I'll vote for him.

When she was radiant seventeen
She brushed her hair to satin sheen
She was a natural beauty queen
Shapely as a willow green.
Her cheeks were smooth with pinkish tone
She could eat butter, creame and scone,
They added zest to skin and bone
All her beauty was her own.
Now she has reached the middle line
A "beauty" still at forty-nine
Sweeping lashes, hair with shine
But she can't say: "This beauty's mine."
Her purchased wig fits well and cozy
She starves to wear the latest clothesy
Hormones keep her fresh and rosy
A phoney from her head to toesy.

FREE PRESS, FAIR TRIAL

Our hat is off to Federal District Judge Frank Wilson who told a journalism workshop in Chattanooga recently that he does not believe the concept of a free press is one a collision course with the concept of a fair trial.

Said the judge: "I for one have great difficulty in understanding why after 175 years of reasonably successful administration of criminal justice we suddenly find that the tried and tested remedies for assuring a fair trial are inadequate."

Judge Wilson, who has a reputation for exerting the highest degree of care for the rights of defendants in his court, added: "I know of no greater bulwark to the preservation of a fair trial than the continuation of a free press. Show me an unfair trial that goes uncorrected and I will show you a judge who has failed in his duty."

Some lawyers and judges are seeking to shackle the press with restrictions in reporting the news about crime and those charged with crimes. These critics, incidentally, have seen fit to bolster their attack by calling the issue "Free Press Versus Fair Trial" — as if there is no chance for both.

To those who argue for such a restriction on the press, the people should take a close look at their work.

EVERY PERSON should make the most of himself, for that is all he will ever have to work with.

JENA LETTER

We received a letter the past week along with a bit of prose, describing the happiest days of his life, from Joe Marx of San Antonio, Texas, who is a native of Monroe.

Mr. Marx is a brother of Mrs. Sam Rubin and Mrs. George Spiro.

Joe's prose went like this:

The happiest days of my life — was when I was full of spice—riding my mule to a little country school.

Gee — those roads were hard to travel — especially when heavy dark clouds unraveled on ruts and holes — where wagons had rolled from gins to town — carrying bales of cotton that weighed 500 pounds.

Still my mule seemed to know the ropes — to tote me to the school among the pines and oaks.

Once in a while a cotton tail would cross the road or a covey of quail would fly to a patch of gold.

Too — now and then — a hunter could be seen with his pooch roaming around Bayou Lafourche—to trouble a squirrel's glee — way up in a tall cypress tree.

My thoughts go back to Mary Lou — with eyes of blue — and curly hair strolling along that little school square. All dressed up in calico style that her Ma had made with a smile.

Reading, writing and arithmetic — was taught by a chick — pretty as a picture with a magnolia on her stand and smart as a whip with a chalk in her hand.

I never had a worry or a single care — a nickel in my pocket made me a millionaire.

My happiest days of my life was when I was full of spice — riding my mule to a little country school.

Twin Cities Week In Review

Active, Serene Aspects Noted

By RICHARD TYLER
World Staff Writer

"Our life is March weather," Emerson said, over a century ago — "savage and serene in one hour."

A hundred years ago or not, he was right, and though we probably can assume the "enraptured Yankee" had other things in mind than Twin City news, his poetical prose still bears local application handily.

Of course, one must salt his thinking with some liberality in interpretation of the term "savage," but certainly there was violence on the scene last week as accidental death claimed two local victims. There was the threat of violent death also in the bitter sweet approach of another Labor Day holiday, with its attendant gaiety coupled to the almost virtual certainty of accidents.

TYLER

The week further included perhaps more than its share of strong words on a perenially-recurring, though contoversial-as-ever subject — the operation within Ouachita Parish of dual school systems — that is, both a city and a parish system.

The schools themselves were cranking up during the week for another year's walk through the Temple of Knowledge, and athletics — a fact which contributed measurably to the rush of events. We say measurable, since reports establish that something over 26,000 students had enrolled for classes in the two systems by week's end. While the figure fell below announced predictions, officials anticipate a registration rush of sorts Tuesday, following Labor Day.

School bells started the week in a way, with teacher workshops held Monday and Tuesday. Half-day school sessions in the public facilities commenced Thursday and will continue through Monday, Sept. 13.

There were other developments school-wise in the "other than serene" category, of which more later.

As for the serenities, there were plenty out-of-doors as August mellowed into September and some of the year's most fantastic natural panoramas began to appear. Serene too was the demeanor of columnists returning from vacation. We were amoung them and would like to express here our thanks for the kind words of that discerning few who've spoken of a certain lack in their literary diet. More thanks are in order to staff writer Robert Simonton for a frightengly good job in our absence.

Debts paid, a listing of some of the details on the matters above, and others, seems the proper course.

Bouquets, Brickbats

It was a West Monroe Chamber of Commerce report that revived the smoldering issue of dual school systems, drawing both bouquets and brickbats.

Judgments are not our business, but there were plenty of pegs on the span of opinion to choose from, when commentary on the critical report's findings flew thick and fast.

As Sen. Jamar Adcock of Monroe noted, perhaps inadvertently understating, in supporting the Chamber paper, the matter indeed appeared politically hot. Reps. Lawrence Gibbs and George Wood reserved judgment until possible legislation develops, but views on the Ouachita Parish School Board ranged from "forthright presentation of facts" to "absurb" and "misstatements."

In briefest outline, the report charged overlapping services by the two systems, which it deemed uneconomical, as well as representation of Monroe residents on the parish school board, though Monroe residents, as such, do not pay parish taxes. It further asserted that non-Monroyans, in some cases, pay for services within the city.

In rebuttal, the points were made that some 90 per cent of the cost of both operations is realized from state taxes, and that Monroyans owning parish property outside the city pay taxes on it.

Still on the school front, Dist. Atty. Albin P. Lassiter last week released an up-dating statement on the status of the recently-filed suit seeking integration of the City of Monroe system. He listed as filed his replies on behalf of the defendant board and other respondents, noting that either hearing or trial is awaited in Federal District Court at Shreveport. Plaintiff efforts or total integration by Sept. 7, or a halt to the sale of city school bonds and for removal of the case to a circuit court apparently were unsuccessful.

Meanwhile, four Negro youths failed in an attempt Thursday to enroll at Neville High School.

With the start of school, law authorities were urging special caution against accidents. However, two local persons died early in the week — James H. White, 54, killed in an auto crash in Claiborne Parish, and Cecil Joe Day, 17-year-old Neville student, accidentally shot in the chest with a .22 pistol by a friend.

Here To Tell

If you're sitting there Sunday wondering what else happened last week, we're here to tell you that:

The three-day "Little Britches" Rodeo for amateurs (what else?) aged six months to 14 years kicked off Friday night and winds up with a 2 p.m. performance today. The West Monroe Riding Club is holding the program at its arena. Scrawling our hieroglyphics on the selfsame Friday night, we can't provide the winners' names, but you'll find the champs listed in Monday's World.

Monroe Little Theatre announced a program of dramatic training for young people starting this fall and taught by Murray Burfford of West Monroe. We can remember when the talented Miss Burfford was a World copy girl. Details are available from theatre officials among them Mrs. O. A. Easterling Jr., president.

The United Givers Fund and J. C. Loftin, general campaign chairman, announced the names of division chairmen in the Monroe area — M. Brents Witty, small business, James Ussery, large business, and Sebron M. Sneed, advance gifts. This year's campaign goal is $284,934, with $196,770 to be sought in the Monroe area.

The Ouachita River Valley Association set a special board meeting for Sept. 15, aboard the houseboat here of businessman James W. Moore.

Monroe Jaycees began the search for an outstanding young (21-35) man in the area, for entry in a national event to select 10 youthful community leaders.

The Monroe Day Care Center, for the pre-school mentally handicapped, took a new name — Ouachita Day Care Center, in keeping with the area which it serves.

Louisiana Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce visited Monroe Wednesday on a promotional tour to boost yams, in company with the state's yam queen and champion yam cook.

Also due for a boost, after a union meeting Tuesday and starting Oct. 1, are haircut prices. A shearing will cost 25 cents more, or $1.75.

The Jaycees — Monroe again — went on record in opposition to the proposed U.S. Senate ratification of a consular treaty which would permit the establishment in this country of four additional Soviet consulates.

Monroe's sewage treatment plant — oops, water pollution control center—went into operation Tuesday on a trial run that, barring problems, might be made permanent. It will eliminate the dumping of such refuse by the city into the Ouachita River, though there have apparently been no recent actions along this line in West Monroe. The Ouachita Wildlife Unit Tuesday honored Monroe for the step, along with Olin Mathieson, a firm which has made salutory efforts anent the dumping of industrial wastes.

The American Legion's local L. B. Faulk Post 13 installed officers, including R. W. Sherman as commander (Mrs. Sherman was made auxiliary president), Sam Orchard as first vice commander and C. E. Copeland, second vice commander.

Louisiana Highway Department officials authorized a survey aimed at the four-laning of two West Monroe area streets — Highway 80 from North Seventh to Claiborne School and North Seventh from 80 to the Arkansas Road.

Northeast News

Our file this week on Northeast Louisiana State College-oriented news contains items enough for expansion to full column length. At this point, however, for obvious reasons, such expansion is impractical. Suffice to say:

The formation of the Northeast Louisiana Land Corporation was announced by Dr. George T. Walker, college president, and President W. E. Whetstone of the Louisiana Education Board. The non-profit corporation, headed by G. L. Morgan, will assist the college in acquiring land for expansion purposes in the future.

Robert B. Anderson, a Morning World veteran, was named head of the Northeast news bureau, succeeding R. B. Gandy, who will devote more time to teaching. Anderson was bureau assistant formerly.

Assitants to the deans of men and women were announced — Miss Ramona Wigley, a native of Jonesboro, and Thomas E. Murphy, a native Minnesotan, respectively.

An award - winning teacher, Beverly R. Ricks of Mississippi, was named assistant professor of biology.

The Northeast State Concerts Association announced its season's list of six attractions and set a membership drive, Sept. 18-Oct. 2. Mrs. Charles Petrus will chair the campaign.

The World's Week In Focus

Clear Hint Of Autumn

By John Cale

LONGER AND COOLER nights, a deeper blue in the sky and a welcome brush of cool air in the early morning hours greeted us last week as August gave way to September.

In some localities a good many miles east and slightly south of our North Louisiana vantage, this sort of weather spells hurricanes this time of year, and Betsy, small but powerful early comer to the 1965 series of tropical disturbances, is churning up the Atlantic.

But the big September stir to inland and upland dwellers is a more pleasant surge of "back to school," the oncoming football season — whether you like it junior high or professional, the prospects for the 1965 World Series, or a look over the rim of a coffee cup at some of the early fall fashions in action.

On Adjournment

CAN CONGRESS for real ever hereafter in any year complete a session in six months?

It was asking itself that question as it observes Labor Day, which had been its adjournment target. It will be here probably at the end of this month and possibly on November 1.

President Johnson at the White House nearly two weeks ago told Congressional leaders that if they would enact his program at this session they could probably go home by June 30 next year. When these leaders got back to the Capitol with this information they found members skeptical it could be done even though the Administration wished it that way.

The last time Congress adjourned before June 30 was in 1938 when the date was June 16. Out of the 100 members of the Senate now, just 5 were here that year. And of the 435 House members just 14 are still around.

Although the President mentioned only transportation legislation for the next session he did say there would be some other important recommendation for consideration. Veteran legislators already believe that by using only the naked eye they can see a 1966 program which will keep them churning away until the Labor Day that is a year away.

The fact is that Congress believes it will spend most of the long, hot summers of the future in Washington. Its special Joint Committee on the Organization of the Congress has just completed hearings, extending over a period of more than 3 months, looking to reforms it might make in its procedure to cope more effectively with its problems.

A large number of the members of Congress, spokesmen for organizations, political scientists and others who appeared before the Committee expressed the belief that sessions of Congress are a year around business.

Proposals were made for a divided year in each session, one to handle appropriations and the other legislative matters. One of the most popular suggestions was that there be a recess each year, probably in late July or August, then it come back with its members rested and in cooler autumn days transact its remaining business. Big rooters for this change are the Congressional wives and children.

It has been a long time since Congress as a whole considered its appropriation bills in an orderly manner or that a major part of its members made much pretense that they had great interest in an effective control over spending and budgetry matters. Even the biggest of all appropriations, that for defense, is often debated with a bare quorum, or less, in the legislative chambers.

No knowledgeable member of Congress ever expects to see another annual Budget of less than $100,000,000,000. Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, recently told a Congressional Committee that current tax rates would produce about $170,000,000,000 five years from now. That amount would have to be used up in tax cuts, expenditure increases or reduction of the national debt.

In a book to be published this autumn by the Brookings Institute, two economists, Gerhard Colm and Peter Wagner of the National Planning Association, calculate that by 1973 total Federal Government expenditures are likely to range between $170,000,000,000 and $200,000,000,000.

Whatever may be the program submitted by the President in January, 1966, Congress undoubtedly will want to take time to make some revisions in its own precedure at that session. Indeed, next year or soon after, it must make some sweeping revisions.

Conspicious among those plugging for a respite from a heavy legislative program in the session of Congress beginning in January is Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

Mansfield thinks that in any program as massive as that which has been, and will be, enacted before adjournment of the present session there are certain to be some errors that will impede operation, and will need legislative amendment.

Then there is the fact, say some members of Congress, that if the program on which Congressional hearings have been completed are practically all enacted at this session, hearings on the new matters must be held in the January session. It all adds up to the package that can hardly be disposed of by June.

One reason for an early adjournment next year is the midterm Congressional election. The Democrats have a majority of 62 to 38 in the Senate and of 293 to 140 in the House, with 2 vacancies. Even at that Republican votes have been needed on some legislation, such as the repeal of Section 14(b), right-to-work, of the Taft-Hartley Act and the rent subsidy provision of the Housing bill, both in the House of Representatives.

The rent subsidy provision was such a squeaker that 4 New York City urban or close - by suburban Republican Representatives furnished in the winning margin.

Democrats will hope that if Congress does make a midsummer getaway in 1966 that the last June adjournment (1938) will be no omen. In that autumn they lost 70 seats in the House of Representatives and seven in the Senate. And it was just 2 years after what from a State to State stand - point (46 for Roosevelt, 2 for Landon) was the greatest Presidential landslide in history.

At A Glance

BASIC SETTLEMENT in the steel crisis which had hung fire since last May came Friday night with President Johnson's announcement that steel company representatives and officials of the United Steelworkers union had reached basic agreement on a three-year contract. Formal action by the parties concerned is slated for today in Pittsburgh.

Other developments in the mainstream of the news included the medical examinations of astronauts Cooper and Conrad and their return to families at the Houston, Texas, Space Center following last Sunday's landing in the Atlantic. Space officials are said to be enthusiastic about man's qualification for a round trip to the moon.

President Johnson's choice of former Postmaster General John A. Gronouski as ambassador to Poland was viewed as a try at halting a downward slide in U.S.-Warsaw relations. Lawrence F. O'Brien was named as replacement for Gronouski's vacated post.

AT A HASTILY CALLED conference in New York, the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway and the Norfolk & Western announced they had agreed to merge. They said they hoped to bring in five other rail systems with them - Erie Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson, Boston & Maine, Reading, and Central of New Jersey. The vast deal, if successful, would create a system of 26,000 miles, with annual revenues of $1.8 billion. It was complicated, and full of road blocks. Management stockholders of at least some of the proposed partners immediately raised obstacles. If it came off at all, the merger was years off.

WITH VIRTUALLY no dissent, Congress completed action on creation of an 11th Cabinet post, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, giving new status to such problems as urban renewal, mass transportation and community planning. The action, first proposed in the Kennedy regime, carried with it the strong possibility that Robert C. Weaver would head the new department, thus becoming the first Negro Cabinet member. Weaver now heads the Housing and Home Finance Agency, which will be the core of the new department. President Johnson is expected to name Weaver, though the name of Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, who will be job hunting come Jan. 1, has been mentioned.

FOR A TIME, it was reported that Nikita Khrushchev, 71, former premier of the Soviet Union, was seriously ill. Not so, said a daughter, Friday. She said Khrushchev had been in a hospital last month for a routine medical checkup, was now in good health at his country home.

AFTER A FLAREUP in Santo Domingo during the early part of the week, Hector Garcia-Godoy was named provisional president of the Dominican Republic. The peace proposal ending four months of crisis for the Caribbean island country was signed first by the insurgent regime behind rebel lines and later at junta headquarters.

Meanwhile, India and Pakistan faced one another in battle again when Pakistani tanks and infantry reportedly penetrated some five miles into Southwest Kasmir.

The latest outbreak of Asia warfare was described by Indian Prime Minister Bahadur Shastri to a closed door meeting of the Indian Parliament at New Delhi.

SHASTRI

KING CONSTANTINE of Greece continued to try and form a coalition government following his second defeat in the power struggle with ousted Premier George Papandreou.

For a measure of mystery in the news, there is speculation as to the exact whereabouts of deposed President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria and Cuba's tough economics-defense minister, Ernesto "Che" Guevara.

SOME OF AMERICA'S esteemed old soldiers have faded away quite honorably. But in the communist and "neutralist" systems, some figures seem to vanish without a trace. For example, whatever happened to Rumania's Anna Pauka, that model of Stalinist efficiency who used to puff cigarette smoke at the photographers back in the late 1940's?

In Detail

THOUGH IT STILL lacks the emotional and financial impact of "King Cotton" in this part of the world, the steel industry is big enough to affect the value of every dollar we spend.

President Johnson emphasized the losses that would be experienced by both sides in the event of a nationwide strike.

Citing an array of statistics showing how well the companies and their workers have fared, and coupling these with other figures on the costly effects of the 116-day steel strike in 1959, Johnson said another strike could put as big a dent in the economy in a couple of months as would a recession lasting nine months.

Johnson told the negotiators he had not walked from his White House office to their conference room in the neighboring executive office building to present a settlement proposal.

NEITHER, HE SAID, did he want to twist arms.

But he assered that he wanted both sides to know how a strike would affect them and the nation, and to urge them to consider the national interest.

Johnson was said to be quite confident that an agreement would be reached without a strike.

THE PROVISIONAL "peace" in the Dominican Republic appeared by the week's end to rest in the hands of the newly installed President.

Garcia-Godoy, who has pledged himself to restoring the strifetorn country to normalcy, was foreign minister in the government of Juan Bosch, who was ousted as president in September, 1963.

GARCIA-GODOY

Bosch now is in exile in San Juan, Puerto Rico, but seemed certain to return to the political limelight now that his former right-hand men has been named provisional president.

Estimates of the number of Dominicans killed since the uprising began run from 1,600 to more than 3,000, with another 3,500 wounded.

President Johnson ordered U. S. Marines and troops sent in four days after the fighting last May. Many units are still on duty with the inter-American forces in Santo Domingo.

DR. ALBERT SCHWEITZER, 90, Alsatian-born physician, missionary and philosopher was reported gravely ill last week at his jungle hospital at Lamberne, Gabon, West Africa.

The nature of the illness was not disclosed, but friends said he had shown increasing signs of fatigue recently. Educated as an organist, theologian and doctor of medicine, Schweitzer came to Africa in 1913 and built a one-room thatched-roof hospital for lepers with his own hands. He seldom and reluctantly left since then, but thousands of persons have made the trip up the Ogowe River to visit him.

HIS WIFE, who helped him develop the hospital into the 52-building complex now standing, died in 1957, at the age of 79.

Schweitzer's reputation as a philosopher, intellectual and humanitarian had spread far beyond the African continent when he was named in 1952 to receive the Nobel Peace Prize.

Vietnamese Negotiations

SENATOR MIKE Mansfield told colleagues last week both sides had a clear idea of why they are fighting in Viet Nam and outlined conditions under which he thought they would halt the bloodshed.

But since Senator Mansfield is no spokesman for the communist North Viet Nam, nor for Red China nor Soviet Russia, we wonder how he presumed he could also present their side of the case.

While Mansfield has at times been critical of administration policy, he was congratulated by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey after his speech. At the White House, press secretary Bill D. Moyers was asked if this was significant.

THE U.S. CONDITIONS for peace, as Mansfield viewed it on the basis of statements by administration officals include:

"There must be a verified choice free of terrorism, violence and coercion from any quarter."

"There can be a future for South Viet Nam either in independence or as part of a unified Viet Nam . . . in general accord with the Geneva agreements."

"There shall be a withdrawal of all foreign forces and bases throughout Viet Nam, North and South" including "adequate international guarantees of noninterference, not only for Viet Nam, but for Laos and Cambodia as well."

Mansfield also listed the conditions under which it appears to him Hanoi would consider negotiations feasible:

"1. That the rights of the Vietnamese people . . . on the basis of the Geneva agreements are recognized:

"2. THAT THE DIVISION of Viet Nam will continue, pending peaceful reunification and that there will be no foreign military alliances, or troop personnel in connection with either zone;

"3. That the internal affairs of South Viet Nam will be determined by the South Vietnamese people themselves alone in accordance with the National Liberation Front Viet Cong program and without any foreign interference.

"4. That the peaceful reunification of Viet Nam will be settled eventually by the Vietnamese people themselves in both zones and without foreign interference."

Junior Charity League — 35 Years Of Service

After 35 years of service to the Twin Cities, the Junior Charity League makes plans for even more community activity as it opens its 36th year. Here is a look at one of the most active of local charity and service organizations.

Embarking upon its 36th year of service to the Twin Cities, the Junior Charity League, Inc., continues its contributions with primary attention to the underprivileged children in the area.

Always considered one of the most active organizations among the young women of the Twin Cities, it has grown both in size and program since its founding in the depression year of 1930. The desperate welfare situation at that time was the inspiration for a small group of civic-minded friends to organize and help the needy children during the crisis. For three decades the local Junior Charity League has been endeavoring to continue the work begun here by Mrs. Ed (Louise) Seymour, the first president, Mrs. John (Ruth) Sherrouse, Mrs. Harold (Margaret) Dixon, Mrs. H. W. (Elizabeth) Green, Mrs. Mary Gray, Mrs. Betty Isaacman, Mrs. James (Anna Gray) Noe, Mrs. Jack (Enola) Rogers, Mrs. Laura Shaw and Mrs. Elmer (Anna) Slagle.

Early Years

The early years were a struggle because of the times, but with luncheon benefits in the homes of Monroe, charity balls and style shows, enough money was made to establish and operate the first large project, the Baby Clinic for underprivileged babies and very small children located in the basement of the St. Francis Hospital. Also prior to those World War II days, the records speak for League hours spent on Red Cross nursing committees, trips to St. Francis with magazines, work with the Y.W.C.A., Camp Fire Girls, the Salvation Army, Louisiana Training Institute, Crippled Children's Clinic and Christmas baskets to the needy.

The first of the 40's saw the move of the Baby Clinic to Neville High School for a short period of time, establishment of a clothes bank for children on the milk list, and a book project for charity hospital library. Members found time to aid the March of Dimes and Easter Seal drives, wpile doing patriotic work at the Red Cross Canteen and Selman Field.

Around 1950 League members established a thrift shop, which remains the backbone of the League's budget. Also in the early 50's the children's reading room project at the Ouachita Parish Library was realized, which broadened the scope of the League's activities by permanently branching into the cultural and educational fields of service. The annual Charity Ball and Silver Tea were instituted to aid in raising money for needy projects in the community.

The mid-50's saw the League helping with the physical establishment of the long - needed, local mental health guidance center. A room was decorated at St. Francis for ambulatory patients in the pediatrics wing. Of a financial nature, the Follies were reborn, given approximately every three years by members.

The proceeds first went to the establishment of a special gifts fund. With great pride the Junior Charity League has been able to answer diverse needs with this new fund: projector to the Y.M.C.A. for the training of workers and the education and entertainment of boys; a fence for the Little League baseball park; wheel chairs and work table for the Cerebral Palsy school; a station wagon to the Cerebral Palsy school; blinds for the treatment rooms at the Carolyn Rose Strauss Rehabilitation Center; donation of first aid room in new Y.M.C.A. building and financial aid to the Y.W.C.A.

Other Projects

Since 1962, the Junior Charity League has sponsored a summer remedial reading program for the children of the area. In 1963, the League began a picture-lending collection at the library. Another phase of League work in the cultural field is support of the Masur Art Museum, Northeast Concert Association, an annual scholarship to a worthy Northeast College student and support of Strauss Playhouse, continued financial aid to the Y.W.C.A., financial support to the Open Door Home, and hundreds of volunteer hours of service each year at the Cerebral Palsy School, Crippled Children's Hospital, and Cooley School for the Mentally Retarded. League members also present approximately two puppet shows a month to school children throughout the parish, and continue to make layettes for the charity hospital.

Today, the local League numbers 55 active members, 19 provisionals, 33 inactive, and 216 sustaining members — from a beginning just 35 years ago of 10 members. League members take great pride in their contributions to the community, and with membership growth have increased their services in every field. This past year alone over 8,000 quarts of milk were provided for needy children!

This month League members are initiating a huge Straw Market sale to aid in obtaining funds for all these projects. This massive sale, the first of its kind ever in this area, will offer items for sale from used automobiles to refrigerators, dishes to clothes, furniture to refreshments. The market will be held on the corner of 18th Street, Arkansas and Pine, for one day, Saturday, Sept. 25. All proceeds from the Straw Market will be used to further aid the projects in the Twin Cities area.

GETTING A tricycle ready for the Junior Charity League's Straw Market sale is Mrs. James Rivers. The League will hold the sale Sept. 25. All manner of things — from used cars to clothing — will be offered for sale by the League to sponsor their charitable activities in the Twin Cities. (Staff Photos by John Fogleman)

'Man Behind Scenes' Of Northeast Concerts

By ROBERT SIMONTON
Staff Writer

Monroe's 39th consecutive concert season will be opened in October by the Northeast State Concert Association.

A number of top-ranked artists have been secured for the season and the membership drive for the series is currently underway.

Yet, in the excitement of the theatre world on the local level, few will give a passing thought as to who is responsible for the multitude of details incurred by each concert.

The "Man Behind the Scenes" in this case is Davis Bingham, chairman of the Northeast State Concert Association.

Davis, who is associate professor of music at Northeast State, was appointed by the college to this chairmanship for three years as part of his extracurricular responsibilities.

Duties of the position are year round. As soon as one series has ended, booking must begin for the following season, which usually runs five attractions from October through March. Six have been scheduled for this season.

Headaches

Contracts quite often prove impossible headaches. It is not valid unless signed by both parties. A chairman may — after many phone calls and conferences — sign a contract and return it to the booking agent only to have it stalemated for weeks before it is signed — or rejected.

Thomas McCann last year's chairman had signed a contract for a well-known symphony and had the contract returned after six weeks, because the company could not secure sufficient bookings to make Monroe worthwhile. At the last minute another symphony had to be booked.

McCann recalls with horror the popular "Brothers Four" who opened the NSCA series last year. Final contracts were not signed and returned to him until a bare few weeks before the show. Northeast students then began clamoring to see the show — in larger numbers than expected. McCann spent the day consulting Neville, the fire department, the "Brothers Four", and the fire department again about extra seating for students. In the midst of setting up chairs, he had to stop to take one of the "Brothers" to the doctor.

Despite all the confusion, the performance went off without a hitch and was acclaimed the most notable success in years.

McCann also remembers going from house to house collecting mirrors on Sunday morning for a Sunday afternoon opera troupe, which needed twenty extra ones for applying makeup.

Once he barely prevented a visiting act from nailing scenery to the Neville stage, which is also used as a gym floor. He has more than once dissuaded the removal of existing draperies and the hanging of new ones by the visitors.

Membership in the association is by season ticket only, and this involves another important facet of the chairman's work. He must appoint a leader for the annual membership campaign. He then works closely in outlining publicity, securing sales representatives, and attending to the many pertinent details of actual ticket sales, records, and reservations.

Throughout the season, there are letters to the membership to be dictated and mailed. R.O.T.C. students who act as ushers must be briefed before each performance concerning seating. Programs to be distributed at the door must be printed. Stage hands must be secured. Hotel reservations must be made for performers. The list is endless, and full of surprises as each group of performers arrive with requests for a special brand piano, a new type of lighting, or whatever.

Ironically, the very nature of the N.S.C.A. chairman's work requires that it go unnoticed when done well. With all details attended, each part running smoothly, Association member can enjoy the concert, which Chairman Bingham says "is one of the primary goals of the Association in the first place".

Several Top Names Downed In Cotton States

Monroe Morning World

SPORTS

Six-B Sunday, September 5, 1965

Baton Rouge Golfer Defeats Geiselman

The medalist, a former medalist and a former runner-up fell by the wayside in the first round of match play at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club Saturday as several newcomers and an old hand kept in the running for the undefended 17th Annual Cotton States Invitational golf title.

John Sample of Baton Rouge ousted Friday's medalist, Randy Geiselman, three and two while last year's medalist, Eugene Mitchell, fell a three and two victim to Randy Wolff, a Louisiana State University golfer. Henry Cole, runner up to Homero Blancas in the past tourney, was dropped by NAIA champ Craig Metz, of Pauls Valley, Okla., by the same score.

H. P. Childress of McComb, Miss., who has won the Cotton States twice, dusted off Mike Rasco of Bossier City, 7 - 6 as Clayton Cole, the current host club title holder, put out Ken Lindsay of Memphis, 4 - 3 and Northeast - bound Wayne Peddy came from behind to take a one up victory over Baton Rouge's highly rated Sonny Fowler.

Peddy dropped in a 12 - foot birdie putt on the final hole of the match to take the win.

Other championship flight winners include: Ricky Hyland of Monroe, who also had a bird on the final hole to down Bob Lundy of Memphis one up; Glen Walker who downed Bastrop's Don Sims three and two; Bob Travis, a three and two victor over Ray Clark; Bob Hartquist, who defeated David Smith of Baylor three and two; Don Easterwood of Shreveport who topped Dr. Ray Rhymes, three and two; Buddy Short of Lafayette, a one up winner over Monroe's Guy DuPriest Jr.; Bob Rogers of Lafayette who defeated Robert Ewing III, of Monroe, two up; and Lamar Loe of Vicksburg who defeated Tommy Tyson, Houston junior high basketball coach, two and one.

Geiselman dropped the first two holes to Sample and kept running into trouble throughout the round. "I played miserable," he said. The medalist looked as if he would pull back into form with a birdie on the par five fifth hole, but ran back into trouble by hitting one in the lake on the next hole.

Sample missed a short par putt on the ninth green and went to the backside one up on Geiselman. Sample played safe most of the round and found himself in little trouble.

Wayne Peddy, who was down as many as three holes at one point on the first nine, made the turn one down to Fowler.

Wolff picked up his winning margin on the last nine holes after turning with Mitchell even. The LSU player bogied the ninth green and missed a chance to turn at one up.

Hyland was one up on Lunday at the turn and managed to stay that way until he lost number 17.

Clayton Cole was four up coming onto the ninth hole but missed an 18 inch putt to score what was to become his final winning margin.

The championship and first flights will play two 18 - hole matches today with the final round set for Monday in all flights.

Losers in Saturday's championship round will make up the first flight.

Metz was three up on Henry Cole after nine and had the former runner up down as many as five holes before over shooting the 14th green twice.

Childress, who has won the tourney twice, had his opponent down five at the turn.

Packers Defeat Cleveland, 30-14

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Green Bay Packers stopped the National Football League champion Cleveland Browns 30-14 Saturday night in the second game of a National Football League exhibition doubleheader.

Bart Starr threw a short touchdown pass and Ekjan Pitts and Paul Hornung cracked for short yardage scores.

The Detroit Lions came from behind with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to edge the New York Giants 25-21 in the first game before a standing room crowd of 83,118, largest to watch a National Football League pre-season game this year.

The Packers snapped the Browns' eight-game exhibition victory string set over two years with Starr's precision passing and a blitzing defense against Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan.

Starr, top passer in the NFL last year, flipped a 10-yard TD pass to Boyd Dowler in the third quarter to give the Packers a 27-7 lead. A 44-yard pass to Dowler in the first quarter set up Green Bay's first touchdown and Hornung bolted over from the five-yard line.

Chiefs Crush

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs exploded for 21 points in the second quarter Saturday night and crushed the Boston Patriots 34-7 in an American Football League exhibition.

It was Boston's 16th consecutive defeat in pre-season competition.

Boston opened the scoring as Jim Colclough caught a three-yard pass from Babe Parilli in the first period. Kansas City tied it early in the second quarter, marching 50 yards in seven plays, with Bert Coan bulling over from the one.

Chris Burford caught a 38-yard pass from quarterback Len Dawson, shook off two defenders and raced 28 yards to push Kansas City ahead. The Chiefs scored 42 seconds later after they recovered an on-side kick. Flanker Frank Jackson reeled off the final 19 yards on a reverse four plays later.

After a scoreless third quarter the Chiefs got two field goals by Tommy Brooker and a 27-yard TD run with an intercepted pass by cornerback Fred Williamson.

Oilers By 13-10

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — George Blanda kicked a 22-yard field goal with eight seconds remaining to give Houston its fifth straight American Football League exhibition victory, 13-10, over San Diego Saturday night.

The veteran quarterback's second field goal of the game capped a 37-yard Houston drive that consumed the last three minutes of action.

San Diego's drive, from their three to the Houston two, included a 61-yard pass play from quarterback John Hadl to fullback Jim Allison, who was pulled down by Pete Jaquess at the Oiler four.

49ers Roll

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers got going after a key pass interception by veteran Jerry Mertens and rolled to a decisive fourth period touchdown Saturday in defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers 23-9 in a National Football League exhibition.

With the 49ers nursing a 13-10 lead, the Steelers marched to the San Francisco 11 when Mertens made a diving catch under the goal of Ed Brown's second down pass intended for Paul Martha.

The 49ers needed only eight plays to travel 80 yards for a touchdown. George Mira accounted for 58 yards with passes to Monty Stickles, Dave Parks and Bernie Casey and then rolled out to his left and slanted into the end zone on an eight-yard scoring jaunt.

Chance Wins 13th

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dean Chance pitched a four-hitter for his fifth straight victory Saturday night as the Los Angeles Angels capitalized on a sixth inning error and defeated Kansas City 4-1.

Chance, 13-9, and the A's Jim (Catfish) Hunger were locked in a 1-1 stalemate until the sixth inning, when Al Spangler singled, took second on a passed ball and scored as catcher Bill Bryan's throw caromed off shortstop Bert Campaneris' leg and sailed deep into right field.

Chance struck out 14 but lost his shutout in the sixth when Hunter singled, Campaneris doubled and Wayne Causey hit a sacrifice fly. The Angels gained their first run in the fourth inning when Jim Fregosi doubled and scored on an infield out by Willie Smith.

Cloninger 2nd 20-Game Man, Tops Pirates

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tony Cloninger became the major league's second 20-game winner Saturday as the Milwaukee Braves, sparked by Felipe Alou's three-run home run, sloshed their way to a rain-splattered 8-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The game was finally called after 7 1-3 innings.

The victory kept the Braves two games behind National League leading Los Angeles. The fifth-place Pirates fell 5½ back.

Cloninger, who joined Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the select 20-game circle, was touched for 10 hits and two runs in pitching six innings plus.

He was relieved by Billy O'Dell after putting the first two batters on in the seventh inning. O'Dell got out of the jam.

The game, called after the Pirates had scored a run and put two runners on with one out in the eighth, started two hours and 11 minutes late on a sand-covered diamond.

The contest was interrupted for an hour and 37 minutes when the rain returned during a five-run Milwaukee uprising in the first inning. It finally was called after a wait of 42 minutes.

Deron Johnson's Hit Pushes Reds Over Philadelphia, 5-4

CINCINNATI (AP) — Deron Johnson slapped a two-run single to right field in the ninth inning, capping a three-run uprising and giving the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 victory over Philadelphia Saturday night.

The victory kept the second-place Reds one game behind the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Tommy Helms got the Reds started with a leadoff single in the ninth inning off Phillies' starter Jim Bunning. Gordy Coleman followed with a pinch-hit single and Tommy Harper sacrificed. Pete Rosen then singled home the first run.

With runners on second and third, Christ Short replaced Bunning on the mound. Vada Pinson bounced to shortstop Bobby Wine, who tried to get pinch runner Lee May after he left third base but May got back in ahead of the throw and the bases were loaded.

Johnson, the major league runs batted in leader, then brought his total to 109.

Richie Allen and Alex Johnson had pulled the Phillies into a 4-2 lead with consecutive seventh inning homers off reliever Ted Davidson after the Reds had tied the score in the sixth inning.

Harper got the first hit of the game for the Reds in the sixth and Cincinnati went on to score twice on a single by Rose and a double by Pinson.

The Phillies scored their first two runs in the third inning on singles by Cookie Rojas, Johnny Callison and Dick Stuart sandwiched around a walk.

Bunning took the loss for a 16-8 record.

Baltimore Nips Cleveland With Aparicio's Hit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Luis Aparicio's single in the 11th inning, only the fourth Baltimore hit, drove in Dave Johnson and gave the Orioles a 1-0 victory over Cleveland Saturday night.

The Orioles broke through immediately after Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts took out starter Sam McDowell at the start of the inning. McDowell had allowed only two hits and had struck out 16 when T

Indians Enter 2nd Week Of Practices

Northeast State's football squad enters its second week of fall workouts with Coach Dixie White and his staff intent on learning how much platoon football the Indians will be able to play this season.

A supporter of the new liberalized substitution rules, White plans to use more players this year than he did in 1964 when several players stayed on the field nearly all of each game. But before fall practice began, he did not plan to use full-fledged offensive and defensive units because of a lack of depth.

However, if some of the members of a large freshmen contingent are able to step in and solve some of the depth problems, the Indians may have fewer two-way players this fall than expected.

Along with being on the lookout for ability among the freshmen candidates, the staff also has the job of deciding which veterans will play offense, which will play defense and which will go both ways.

White was pleased with the team's opening drills.

White was pleased with the team's opening drills.

"We were pleased with the physical condition and mental attitude of the team," White said. "Most of the boys reported in good shape and the team has been able to go through our two-a-day workouts without exhaustion or a slowdown. Also, we've been getting some good leadership from the older players."

The Indians have been working out at 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. each day in Brown Stadium. The kicking game has been receiving particular attention in the morning workouts with the rougher work coming in the night sessions.

Northeast has two more weeks of drills before the opening game of the campaign against Southeast Missouri in Cape Girardeau, Mo., Sept. 18. The home opener comes Sept. 25 against Delta State in Ouachita Stadium.

Phil Rodgers Grabs Oklahoma City Lead

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Stocky Phil Rodgers, a former collegiate champion from San Diego, Calif., fired a three-under-par 69 Saturday to forge a one-stroke lead after 54 holes of the $65,000 Oklahoma City Open golf tournament.

Rodgers, 27, who won the individual title and took the University of Houston to the NCAA crown in 1958, went four under par for the tournament at 212 after rounds of 72 and 71 the first two days.

The 5-foot-8, 175-pound toured the 7,173-yard par -72 Quail Creek course in spectacular fashion, carving out four birdies and staying out of trouble until he took a bogey on the 469-yard par-four 17th hole.

Bo Wininger of Las Vegas, Nev., who led after each of the first two rounds with a 69-70—139, faded to a 76 Saturday, playing in a back brace because of a pulled muscle.

"Wininger really had tough luck," Rodgers said later. "He pulled a muscle yesterday and just couldn't take a full swing today."

PGA champion Dave Marr faced to a two-over-par 74 after holding down second place at the midway mark. The 31-year-old Larchmont, N.Y., pro bogeyed three of the first four holes and never recovered.

Jack Rule Jr., of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, shot a 70 to move into a second place tie at 213 with Randy Glover, 23, of Florence, Sc. Glover shot a 71 to go with opening rounds of 73 and 69, which had been good for third place.

Marr and Johnny Pott, who fired 71's, were deadlocked at 214.

Bunched at 215 were Wininger, Dave Hill, Tom Aaron and Dean Refram.

At even par 216 were Bobby Nichols, a former PGA champion, and Tommy Jacobs.

Record Holder Back Again At Traweek Track

Gene Schempf, who now holds the track record at Traweek's Raceway, will be back again today along with many other racers trying for the top honors.

Schempf broke Lester Dean's record of 19.0 when he toured the track in 18.7 seconds. Time trials begin today at 1:30.

Wayne McGee, Burl McGee, Howard Halderman, Bo Craighead, Tom Herry, Ralph Robinson and many other local drivers plus some new racers will be on hand this afternoon.

The solunar periods, during which there is maximum fish and wildlife activity, are printed below. Major periods began at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours. Minor periods are shorter.

Officials Set First Meeting Of This Fall

The Northeast Louisiana basketball officials and coaches association holds its first fall meeting on Wednesday night, Sept. 8, at Bastrop High School cafeteria.

The meeting, announced by Northeast commissioner Dave McKenzie, will begin at 7 p.m.

All participating schools and officials are urged to be present for the meet, at which new officers will be selected.

Also anyone wishing to become a member of the association is invited to attend.

Skin Diving Growing Sport

With Sam Hanna

Offers Thrills, Danger

If you have a sore shoulder from Saturday's opening dove shoot or a blister from the hot sun, you might consider taking to the water for a cooler sport.

And if you really want to get away from the heat and the pounding of a shotgun on tender flesh, you might even give some thought to going beneath the water for a more pleasant sport.

But, of course, you also might reconsider, since the sport we have in mind takes you miles off the Louisiana coast to where the Gulf is blue and the oil rigs are home for hundreds of fish. It sounds pleasant enough until you start thinking about diving a hundred feet down.

We've never been skin diving, but John Lacy, a Monroe sportsman who makes his living in the oil and gas leasing field, has. He and fireman Thedore Finkbeiner Jr. and optical technican Rex Dillingham, both of Monroe, have become old hands at exploring the deep blue.

They started out locally, dropping down to the bottom of the Ouachita, or in the holes of the D'Loutre, but after enough practice they struck out for the Gulf.

That was about three or four years ago, and since then a trip to the Gulf has become a regular thing for Lacy, Finkbeiner and Dillingham.

Johnson says it's quite an experience to strike out 30 miles into the Gulf to the continental shelf where the water is blue. We've done that, but we've never pulled up at a rig and dived past the barnacles.

Down there John says you can see upwards of 800 fish of all kinds, sizes, shapes and forms. You keep on going until the redsnappers turn brown.

T. Finkbeiner was down pretty deep when he spotted a big Jew fish that later proved to weigh about 200 pounds. Finkbeiner stopped him with his spear, which, incidentially, is powered by strong rubber that shoots the spear forward with enough power to stop a 200-pound Jew fish.

Or sometimes the diver finds himself being pulled along by a fish that refuses to die. That's when the barnacles on the rigs play havoc with your flesh. At that stage of the game we'd rather be shooting doves.

But that's when John Lacy says it's fun.

Once he shot a 27-pound turtle in the D'Loutre, managed to get him out of the water and brought him home in a run-about. But during the night the turtle revived and crawled out of the boat to freedom. Two days later he turned up in a neighbor's flowerbed.

So you see, it's even fun to live close to a skindiver.

Skindiving, however, can have some heartaches, For instance, last time John and Rex and T. went out to sea and landed a big haul they left the fish aboard their 21-foot cabin cruiser and spent the night on the rig. The cruiser was tied to the rig.

But a storm came up and sank the boat. The fish were lost. Had it not been for styrofoam in the cabin of the cruiser, the boat would have been lost too.

But, there are more and more skin divers. Just as there are more and more dove hunters.

It's because the times are so good.

Afterthoughts On Waterfowl

Now that the smoke is clearing from the one-mallard bombshell dropped on Mississippi Flyway hunters, more information is beginning to come to light through various officials and publications.

For example, the Conservation News, published by the National Wildlife Federation, confirmed in its most recent issue that the Canadian nesting grounds are in better condition and also that the ducks are more numerous.

The federation's H. B. Morgan said, "More ducks occupy the prairie pothole area of these three Canadian provinces than have been observed in any previous study carried on under this project."

But he also said, "Sportsmen and others interested in the future of duck populations should consider the future of the species. A long season and generous bag this fall might prolong the day when the populations again reach numbers enjoyed prior to the late drouth on the prairies. Suffice to say that it appears the prairie potholes will produce more ducks than they have for the past several years."

The Arkansas Game & Fish Commission in its weekly report also said if all states in a flyway are in agreement, the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service is more likely to conform to their recommendation. If there is a drastic disagreement, the service takes the more restrictive course.

This year, in the 14-state Mississippi Flyway, eight states, including Arkansas and Louisiana, recommended the same number of days and the same limits as last year — 40 days and four ducks.

Six states voted for a reduction to only one mallard in the daily bag. There was even some sentiment for a closed season.

Gun Safety Spotlighted

Now that the hunting seasons are back with us, we can't emphasize too much the need for sportsmen to practice gun safety — both adult and young.

Unfortunately, too many of our youngsters do not realize the danger of a gun — no more than they realize the danger of a motorscooter or an automobile or walking across the street.

That's why adults should take time to teach the boy hunters the importance of handling firearms properly. Some boys do not have a dad to do this for them.

Several days ago the Second Annual Gun Safety Clinic in Concordia Parish was conducted at Ferriday. The clinic was patterned after the Optimist Gun Safety Clinic started here over three years ago. It's a good thing, and a growing attraction in Concordia.

Locally, the Monroe Optimist Club is mapping plans to have its Fourth Annual Gun Safety Clinic at the Pine Hills Range at Bancroft's Camp on Saturday, September 25th — the weekend before the squirrel season opens. The Sterlington Optimist Club will co-sponsor it.

Again, wildlife instructors will be provided for youngsters, Winchester's Jim Stotts and Art Hill will be on hand to demonstrate the dangers of firearms, Pine Hill shooters will shoot trap and skeet and zoo director Kit Beecher will show the youngsters what a poisonous snake looks like.

Sheriff Bailey Grant again will serve as clinic master. And all boys and girls — and adults too — are invited.

We'll have more on that later.

Friday, Sheriff Hughie Perry of Bastrop called to tell us he's planning a gun clinic in Morehouse Parish — tentatively set for September 18th — a week before the Monroe clinic.

Sheriff Perry plans to have the same line-up of instructors and events, but he has the job ahead of confirming his plans. He also plans to present Ben Pearson, the professional archer.

These clinics are wonderful projects, but they can't reach enough youngsters. Do your part and bring a boy out. Give him a hand at home too.

Little Man's Corner

It was fall-like, then summertime, but the doves were flying and the fish were biting as the little men made news afield.

Leon Manley, the big Northeast football coach, landed a couple of nice-size bass at Black Bayou. They weighed 4½ pounds each. Pete Shambro landed five, including one that weighed 4 and a quarter pounds.

Also, Mike Pickett and Liz Hendrix landed a string of 121 bream and Bill Ricks caught 61. Jay Stafford caught 40.

Two of the old pros were catching bass. Paul Danna landed four that weighed 15 pounds while John Elmendorff brought one in that weighed four and three-quarter pounds. There was a time when Elmendorff used that size for bait.

Alex Price landed seven bass at Black Bayou.

Still locally, the Ouachita Wildlife Unit presented grand prizes last Tuesday night to the winners of the summer fishing contest. August winners were announced also as follows:

Bass — Sheldon (Big Red) Ray, 6-lb., 15-oz.; second, James Doss, 6-lb., 13-oz.; third, Sam Danna, 6-lb., 10-oz.; and fourth, Johnny Danna, 5-lb., 10-oz.

Bream — Jesse Brantley, 1-lb.; second, Walker Duckett, 12-oz.; third, Mrs. Charles Eads, 12-oz.; and fourth, R. H. Spells, 10-oz.

Spec — George Stamper, 2-lb., 2-oz.; second, Bill Gibson, 2-lb.; third G. D. Guilkey, 1-lb., 15-oz.; fourth, no entry.

But the grand prize winners were the big ones.

Preston Potier won the bass contest with a 7-lb., 13-oz. bass, netting him a fishing car. Ray Price was second with a 7-lb., 3-oz. bass.

Jess Brantley won the bream contest with his even one-pounder while J. D. Causey was second with a 13½-oz. bream. Mrs. D. L. May won the spec contest with a 2-lb., 4-oz. fish, followed by George Stamper, 2-lb., 2-oz.

Jim Packer was chairman of the fishing contest and did a bang-up job, arranging for prizes that were donated by numerous stores, and other business establishments.

Jim says there should have been more participation. So next year, join wildlife club and participate in the contest.

In the Ferriday area, Willis Tanner and his son, Robert, of Ferriday got the limit of bream in Lake St. John. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Foster of Ferriday landed the limit of catfish on crickets in St. John. They were fishing for bream.

Malcolm Cain of Ferriday got the limit of large bream on crickets in Cocodrie Bayou.

UNDERWATER FISHERMAN Theodore Finkbeiner Jr., a Monroe fireman, struggles with a 200-pound Jew fish speared by Finkbeiner on a recent trip in the Gulf of Mexico. Finkbeiner and his sporting colleagues, John Lacy and Max Dillingham, also caught an assortment of fish weighing about 200 pounds, but a storm sank their boat and the catch was lost. They report numerous thrills and dangers in their bold sport — underwater fishing around oil rigs far off the Louisiana coast.

Walker Cup Action

United States Rallies To Tie Great Britain

BALTIMORE (AP) — The United States Walker Cup team rallied from five points behind and charged to a tie with Great Britain Saturday in the finals of the international amateur golf competition.

The Britons apparently had it sewed up when they led 10-5 going into the last eight singles. They quickly increased the margin to 11-7, needing only one more victory to clinch their second triumph since the international competition began in 1922.

The United States, however, won four of the five last singles and halved the other — on which no points are awarded — to gain the first tie in Walker Cup history.

Billy Joe Patton climaxed the whirlwind comeback with a 4 and 2 victory over Mike Lunt.

In all the U.S. amateurs won six of the last eight singles and halved the other.

An agreement was reached that the cup will stay one year on each side of the Atlantic.

The British went tumbling down in startling style before 5,000 spectators, including the ambassador from Britain, Sir Patrick Dean.

The British went into the last eight singles with a 10-5 lead in the two-day event. They had to win only two of the singles to annex the cup.

After Gordon Cosh, 26-year-old Scot, won the third match 4 and 3 over Don Allen, 27, of Rochester, N.Y., the invaders could have finished on top by merely tying two of the remaining five.

Twenty-year-old Clive Clark did his bit by sinking a 34-foot, breaking putt for a birdie on the 18th hole to square his match with Mark Hopkins, 22-year-old Texan.

But the Yankees didn't give an inch in the six other matches and victories were scored by Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., Dean Beman of Bethesda, Md., Ed Tutwiler of Indianapolis, Ind., Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., Davie Eichelberger of Waco, Tex., and Patton from Morganton, N.C.

Tutwiler, 46-year-old West Virginia native, started the tide turning for the Americans, who had been put on the ropes by British youths who ran up a 8-3 lead in Friday's first rounds.

Ronnie Shade, 26-year-old Scot, won the first two holes from Tutwiler and stretched his lead to three at the fourth hole. Tutwiler, last year's runner-up to fellow West Virginian Campbell in the U.S. amateur, refused to be shaken.

Starting at the fifth hole, Tutwiler won seven straight holes to zoom 4-up through 12. He closed out the match by winning the 15th to post the first victory of the decisive singles.

The comeback was catching. Beman, former holder of both the U.S. and British amateur titles, was 2-down to Sandy Saddler after six holes. He battled back to even the count at 12 and was 1-up through 16 where Saddler bogeyed.

Be A Football Expert–Read Dunkel's Index

Another football season is here. Already high schools are playing and the colleges will start in another week.

That means it is time for the Dunkel Football Index to start its weekly selections. The index, said to be the best in the country, allows you to be an expert in picking the winners among the colleges each weekend.

Dunkel's ratings include all 700 football colleges and are not predictions, but a summary of past performances of all teams.

According to surveys, the Dunkel Index has never been topped for accuracy by any other competing service.

The index will be carried weekly by the Monroe Morning World. You'll find the first one in the sports section of The World Tuesday.

Hole-In-One Is Made At MUNY

Tony Lewis dropped his first hole in one in the eighth hole cup of Municipal Golf Course Saturday.

Lewis, using a six - iron, was playing with Julius Haddad, and Earl Mulhearn.

The eighth hole is 140 yards long, par three.

ChiSox Trim Leaders, 5-4, Cut Margin

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Chicago cracked four extra-base hits off Jim Grant and got tight pitching from John Buzhardt and Hoyt Wilhelm Saturday, trimming Minnesota, 5-4 and slicing the American League leaders' margin to 6½ games.

The second-place White Sox collected only six hits, but four were doubles by Pete Ward, Tom McCraw, Ron Hansen and Don Buford and another was Ken Berry's 10th home run.

Berry's two-out homer in the seventh inning broke a 3-3 tie. The White Sox added a run in the eighth when Buford singled off reliever Bill Pleis, moved to second on a ground out, to third on a passed ball and stole home.

That turned out to be the margin of victory after the Twins rallied for a run in the ninth on a double by Rich Rollins, Frank Quilici's single and a sacrifice fly by Zoilo Versalles. But with Quilici at third and two out, Wilhelm struck out Sandy Valdespino, ending the game.

Clayton Says

Demons Figure For '66 Crown

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in the series of preview stories on Gulf States Conference football teams by Associated Press sports writer Ben Thomas, who is touring the GSC schools.)

By BEN THOMAS

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP)—Northwestern State Coach Jack Clayton figures his Demon footballers are a year away from a top season in the Gulf States Conference.

But the easy-going coach has some top flight material and his 1965 squad could jell into a threat this year.

His players looked like a bunch of behmoths working out under a hot sun at Natchitoches although they also appeared slightly sluggish.

Clayton has one tackle—junior Ross Gwinn—who hits the scales at 265 and stands 6-foot-3.

"We'll throw more," says Clayton. "Everybody will. Under the new substitution rules everybody will have more time to work on specialization and play more wide open and entertaining ball like the pros."

Clayton will build his offense around quarterbacks Donnie Carroll and Malcolm Lewis, an immigrant from Darrell Royal's Texas Longhorns.

NSC will continue to operate from the flanker-T. but Clayton says he may split his ends more because of the expected increase in aerials. The quarterbacks will throw their strikes from both sprints out and drop back patterns.

Clayton picks Louisiana Tech, McNeese and Southeastern Louisiana as the top teams in the GSC. "The schedule favors McNeese but on a neutral field, Tech could probably take it," he said. Tech has to play the other on their home fields.

Both Lewis and Carroll were going halfspeed because of slight injuries. Clayton calls Lewis "more of a running threat than Carroll."

The Demon mentor will operate basically with offensive and defensive platoons with a few two-way boys — including guard Lawrence Nugent and flanker Al Dodd.

For his defensive alignment, Clayton will go with the monsterman style, using an eight or nine man front. Holding down the monsterman spot is stubby Claude Patrick, a senior.

Clayton has some sterling linemen in a duo from New Orleans—Eddie Mittelbronn, a 5-10, 195-pound junior, and Kenny Ferro, a 6-2, 210 redshirt freshman.

"Mittelbronn is the finest blocker I've ever seen for a guard," commented Clayton. "He hits and sticks to his man."

"Ferro . . . he's going to specialize in defense. He's a bullhorse."

Nugent was all-conference last year and should have no trouble repeating. Clayton calls him "a whale of a football player."

Why does Clayton think his Demons are a year away?

"We haven't got a senior at center, tackle or guard."

NSC gets a week more than most teams to prepare for its Sept. 25 opener with Louisiana College (most others start on Sept. 18.)

Mays Connects For 42nd Home Run In Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — A pair of home runs by Jim Hart and Willie Mays' 42nd with a mate aboard carried the San Francisco Giants to a 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

The triumph kept the Giants two games behind the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who whipped Houston 5-0.

Rain delayed the start of the game and additional showers interrupted play in the third and fifth innings, threatening to wash out the 4-0 Giant lead.

The Giants jumped on starter Bob Buhl in the first inning when Dick Schofield beat out an infield hit and, with two outs, Willie McCovey doubled home a run, Hart slammed his 18th homer and Hal Lanier doubled in another run.

Mays blasted his homer in the sixth after Len Gabrielson walked, and Hart clouted his 19th in the ninth as the first batter to face Ken Holtzman in the pitcher's first major league appearance.

The Giants' Ron Herbel, boosting his record to 9-7, showed no ill effects from working and stopping and working again until the sixth.

With one out, Herbel walked Don Landrum and Glenn Beckert before Billy Williams crashed his 27th homer, cutting San Francisco's lead in half.

Senators Topple Detroit Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Don Lock's two-out single in the eighth inning scored Ken McMullen with the only run of the game, giving the Washington Senators a 1-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

Washington starting pitcher Jim Duckworth struck out eight of the first nine batters he faced and had 11 before giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The only hits off Duckworth here a leadoff single by Don Wert in the fourth and a single by Ray Oyler in the seventh.

Ron Kline gave up a pair of singles and a walk in the Detroit eighth but preserved Duckworth's first victory of the season.

Detroit's Dave Wickersham, now 7-13, scattered seven hits through seven innings. Then in the eighth the Senators rallied for their run on singles by Dick Nen, Mike Brumley and Lock.

MRS. RUSSELL JOHN SWAN

Swan-Kemp Nuptial Mass Is Celebrated Saturday

In a double ring ceremony at Nuptial High Mass on Saturday, September 4, Miss Martha Francess Kemp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manning H. Kemp, 2515 North 9th, West Monroe, became the bride of Russell John Swan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip F. Swan Sr., of New Orleans.

Father Vitus Duschinsky officiated at the ceremony at 10 a.m. in St. Paschal's Catholic Church, West Monroe. Bouquets of white gladioli and Emerald palms were placed at each side of the altar.

Escorted by her father the bride wore a capuche of Alencon lace, mantilla style, trailing into a cathedral train over a floor length gown of white silk peau de soie, with empire waistline and A-line skirt. The gown featured a scoop neckline and short sleeves. She carried a bocquet of white glamellias surrounded by gladioli florets. Tucked into the bouquet was an heirloom Belgium lace handkerchief belonging to her grandmother. Her only jewelry was a gold cross necklace.

Miss Barbara Jean Kemp who served as maid of honor for her sister, wore a sleeveless Empire styled floor length gown of red peau de soie with a red lace mantilla and matching shoes and gloves. Her bouquet was a nosegay of red tint pompon chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids, Miss Jocelyn Brady, Miss Donna Sue Humphries and Miss Kay Wilson, wore empire styled dresses featuring red bodices and white skirts. They also wore red mantillas and carried bouquets of red pompons. Flower girl, Miss Elizabeth Ward of Alexandria cousin of the bride, was dressed in an Empire gown of red peau de soie and carried a bouquet of pompon chrysanthemums.

Philip F. Swan Jr. of New Orleans served his brother as best man and groomsmen-ushers were Jimmy Frederick of Covington and Robert, Thomas and Stephen Kemp, brothers of the bride.

A reception followed in St. Paschal's school cafeteria. Mrs. Kemp, mother of the bride, received guests wearing a two-piece ensemble of white cotton lace over pink silk taffeta with pink accessories and a corsage of red tinted pompons. The groom's mother chose a dress of beige embroidered eyelet over silk with darker beige accessories and a corsage of white pompons.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over red antique satin and was highlighted by a centerpiece of red pompon chrysanthemums and light pink babies breath. Miss Margie Gilstrap presided at the punch bowl and Miss Eva Zeagler served the tiered wedding cake. Miss Frances Jane Ward presided at the guest book.

For a wedding trip West the bride changed into a three-piece costume of white linen with red blazer style coat, with navy and white trim. Her accessories were white and she wore the corsage of glamellias from her bouquet.

Mrs. Swan was graduated from West Monroe high school and Northeast Louisiana State College and has done graduate work at the University of Iowa. She is a member of Kappa Pi art fraternity. Mr. Swan received his BA degree from Tulane University and will receive his M.A. from the University of Iowa in January. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity. The couple will be at home in Parklawn Apartments, Iowa City, Iowa, while completing work on their masters degrees.

Miss Sally Earle Pierce Weds Arthur Lane Vastine

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, September 4 in the First Methodist Church, Miss Sally Earle Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Presley Richard Pierce, 1015 Hilton, became the bride of Arthur Lane Vastine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Douglas Vastine of Crossett, Arkansas.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 6:30 p.m. by Rev. George Harbuck before an altar banked with arrangements of white stock and gladioli, illuminated by candles in tall candelabra. Nuptial music was provided by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Felton Taylor at the organ and the soloist, William Turpin of this city.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of silk organza featuring a basque bodice with long sleeves tapering to lily points over the hands and Venice lace outlining the scooped neckline. A tiny bow defined the Empire waistline and soft folds of the bell-shaped skirt terminated with a double train of organza over bridal satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion drifted from a double crown of seed pearls and Venice lace insets. Her bouquet featured stephanotis sprays radiating from a white orchid.

Mrs. Ronald Wyatt, Doringkop, Natal, Republic of South Africa, served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Talbott, Miss Bunny Buckner, Miss Barbara Buckner and the junior bridesmaid was Miss Martha Vastine. Their dresses of rose colored peau de soie satin were styled with Empire waists and elbow sleeves. Double back panels floated over the lined skirts, marked at the waist with small bows. Matching bows formed their headdresses and their bouquets were of pink traveler gladioli in crescent design.

Miss Ginny Wyatt, niece of the bride, was flower girl and carried a white basket of pink split carnations.

Allen Noble of Crossett attended Mr. Vastine as best man and groomsmen-ushers were Tommy Willard, Douglas Vastine, Eddy Fruge and George Buckner III.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor where Mrs. A. C. Ransom greeted guests at the door. Receiving with the bride and groom were her mother, wearing a blue silk shantung with matching blue veiled headpiece of velvet leaves and bows, and the groom's mother, in light green lace with beige accessories. Both wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

Floor length organza cloths were used on the tables. The table displaying the guest book, held a memory candle surrounded with net and lilies of the valley. The tiered wedding cake, wreathed with smilax, was flanked by a cupid epergne holding small bridal flowers. White stock in a silver compote centered the punch table and three branched cardelabra were at each end near the silver punch bowls.

Among those assisting were Mrs. T. J. Coenen Jr., Rayville; Mrs. Felton Taylor, Mrs. Bryon Easterling of Crossett; Mrs. Monroe Murphy Hunsicker of Laurel, Mississippi; Mrs. Jack Pierce, Mrs. George Buckner Jr., Mrs. Berry Yeldell, Mrs. Hugh Murray and Mrs. Allen Turpin Jr. Tea girls were Carol Hunsicker, Sadie Jo Gilley, Connie Yancey, Becky Easterling, Pam Fulton and Diane Womack, Rice bag girls were Billie Buckner and Lisa Pierce.

The bride is a graduate of Neville high school and attended Northeast, while Mr. Vastine graduated from Crossett high school and is now attending Louisiana Tech. After a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast the couple will be at home in Monroe. For traveling the bride chose a blue and white tweed suit, a black velvet pillbox and black accessories.

MRS. LYN EARL McCREADY

Betti Fitzhugh Is Bride Of Lyn Earl McCready

The wedding of Miss Betti Fitzhugh, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. E. Fitzhugh, of Fort Worth, Texas to Lyn Earl McCready, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCready, 1602 North 4th, Monroe, was solemnized Saturday, September 4 in St. Giles Presbyterian Church at Fort Worth.

White gladioli sprays formed a background setting for the double ring ceremony performed at 3 p.m. by Rev. Flynn Long Jr.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Richard E. Fitzhugh Jr., in the absence of her father, who is presently serving overseas. Her street length gown of white crocheted lace was styled with bateau neckline and long fitted sleeves. She wore a circular tulle veil attached to a white peau de soie bow and carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Jeanette Risinger, student at LSU, Baton Rouge, served as maid of honor and only attendant for the bride. She wore a blue street-length dress with matching pillbox hat and carried a nosegay of white chrysanthemums and blue cornflowers.

Michael Andrew McCready attended his brother as best man.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a pale olive linen model with a beige orchid corsage. Mrs. McCready, mother of the groom, was wearing a rose linen sheath and a pink orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of Bossier City high school and now attends Northeast Louisiana State College, majoring in medical technology. A graduate of Neville high school, Mr. McCready is a student at Northeast State College School of Pharmacy and a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

MRS. RICHARD JAMES THIBODEAUX

Thibodeaux-Beasley Vows Exchanged In Newellton

The wedding of Miss Jerrie Ann Beasley and Richard James Thibodeaux, Northeast Louisiana State College seniors, was solemnized Saturday, September 4 in Newellton Union Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beasley of Newellton and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Thibodeaux of Breaux Bridge.

Rev. Paul Snellgrove performed the double ring vows at 6:30 p.m. with traditional wedding music presented by Miss Janie Bounds, organist and Mrs. James Doyle, soloist.

Tiers of white tapers in wrought iron candelabra, draped with ivy extended across the altar forming a background for baskets of white gladioli, stock, pompons and palms. The choir loft was also garlanded with greenery and white tapers and greenery marked alternating pews.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage the bride wore a long-sleeved traditional gown of white peau de soie. Lace rose motifs with beaded leaves and stems adorned front panels and embellished the scoop neck. The full Watteau train was held in place by flat bow and self fabric rose. Her tiered veil of silk illusion cascaded elbow length from a teardrop and seed pearl tiara. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a cascade of white roses encircling a white orchid on a white Bible.

Dressed identically in sleeveless, floor length gowns of royal blue faille, featuring A-line skirts, were the matron of honor, Mrs. Terry V. Head of Sterlington and bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Wallace of Newellton and Miss Brenda Foti of St. Martinville. Matching marabou outlined the wide scoop necklines and their headpieces were wedding ring hats of self fabric, with nose veils. They wore royal blue shoes, long white gloves and carried red glamellias attached to moss green velvet stems with leaves of royal blue faille.

Kenneth Harrington attended the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen-ushers were Lynn Beasley, brother of the bride; Tommy Thibodeaux, brother of the groom and Allen J. Thibodeaux. Ring bearer was David Beasley, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Beasley wore a crystal blue and silver brocade costume with matching hat and accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a royal blue knit suit with matching feather hat and black lizard accessories. Both mothers had corsages of purple orchids.

A reception followed in the church annex where candelabra and baskets of gladioli and greenery provided a background setting. The bride's table, covered with an imported linen cloth was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, carnations and yellow chrysanthemums in a five branched silver candelabra holding burning tapers. Mrs. Kenneth Lewis of St. Joseph, assisted by Miss Judy Mongle of Winnsboro, served the tiered wedding cake and alternating at the punch bowl were Miss Mary Amelia Moore of Newellton and Miss Gloria Bradley of Tallulah.

Floating hostesses were Miss Janie Bounds, Mrs. J. W. Hogue, Mrs. D. H. Ratcliff, Mrs. D. H. Netterville, Mrs. Henry Lang and Mrs. John Randall, all of Newellton. Tea girls were Miss Tonya Lewis of St. Joseph and Miss Pamela Head of Sterlington.

The guest book was placed on a table which held the memory candle and the bride's bouquet.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to Texas the bride changed into a bronze double knit suit with tan kid skin trim and harmonizing accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return they will be at home in Monroe. The bride was graduated from Newellton high school and is a senior in speech education at Northeast. A graduate of Breaux Bridge high school, Mr. Thibodeaux attended the University of Southwestern Louisiana and is a senior pharmacy major at Northeast. He is a member of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity.

MRS. JACK R. ARANT

Couple Exchanges Vows In Westminster Church

Fan-shaped arrangements of gladioli, stock agapanthus, and daisies flanked by pedestal candelabra and greenery formed a setting in Westminster Presbyterian Church for the wedding of Miss Patricia Anne Plummer and Jack R. Arant on Saturday, August 28 at 6:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Plummer, 1905 Filhiol and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Arant, 1814 Filhiol.

Rev. W. W. Hatcher performed the double ring ceremony for which traditional nuptial music was provided by Ronnie Brothers, pianist and R. T. Huthmaker, violinist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore an Empire style gown of white peau de soie with bodice of Chantilly lace, embroidered with ribbon loops and featuring long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. A train extended beyond the hemline of the skirt. Her waist length veil cascaded from a crown of tear drops and pearls. She carried a white Bible crested with a white orchid bouquet.

Mrs. J. L. Harrison, who served as matron of honor, wore a dress of blue raw silk with bodice of blue chiffon and white veiled headdress.

Cecil Arant attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were H. A. Cook and Ronald Moore.

Mrs. Plummer was wearing for her daughter's wedding a beige two piece suit with corsage of cymbidium orchids. The groom's mother wore a pink ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidiums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor where the bride's table, covered with a white satin cloth was decorated with clematis, ivy and pink roses, balanced at either end by a cut glass punch bowl and the tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Lester High and Mrs. George M. Fazakerly alternated at the punch bowl and cake was served by Mrs. Robert Sylvester. Mrs. H. M. Naron presided at the bride's book at a table, adorned with a single white taper. Assisting with courtesies were Miss Susan High and Miss Lela Rowan.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to New Orleans the bride wore a white knit suit, with white beaver cloche and black patent accessories. They will be at home in Monroe. Mrs. Arant was graduated from Ouachita Parish high school and Louisiana Tech. Mr. Arant is a Neville high school graduate.

MRS. EDWARD HARPER McDOWELL

Vows Unite Area Couple In Candlelight Setting

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday, September 4 in the First Baptist Church of Kilbourne by Miss Joyce Elizabeth Murray of Bastrop and Edward Harper McDowell of Vidalia. Rev. M. J. Martin performed the double ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m.

The bride, former assistant home demonstration agent of Morehouse Parish, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Murray of Kilbourne. Mr. McDowell, employed by the Agricultural Extension Service as assistant county agent of Concordia Parish, is the son of Mrs. G. V. McDowell and the late Mr. McDowell of Kilbourne.

A white cross with white gladioli and pompons centering the altar was flanked by four seven-branched candelabra holding lighted tapers. A white leather prie dieu completed the scene and pews were marked with pink candles in satin-covered candle holders.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie with long tapered sleeves, bell-shaped skirt and detachable train falling from a self fabric bow. Reembroidered Alencon lace enhanced the bodice front. A headpiece of white peau de soie and Alencon lace held her tiered veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

Attending the bride were Miss Charlotte Edwards of Benton, as maid of honor and Miss Martha Stockstill, Rayville, bridesmaid. They wore short gowns of petal pink peau de soie with scoop necklines and bell shaped skirts. Their headdresses of silk illusion were draped over petal pink peau rings. They carried candlelight bouquets of petal pink carnations attached to pink candles.

James H. McDowell served his brother as best man and groomsman was Gerald Ashcraft, Kilbourne. Ushers were Bruce McGaha and Bryan McGaha, who also served as candlelighters.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose silk ensemble with beige accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds. The mother of the groom chose a teal blue linen model with a white hat and white rosebud corsage.

The pink theme was carried out in the reception which followed in the church social room. Pink satin rings encircled with pink roses centered the bride's table where pink punch and the wedding cake were served.

For a wedding trip through the Ozark Mountains the bride was wearing a blue knit suit with black accessories and a white rose corsage. Upon their return the couple will be at home in Vidalia. The bride is a graduate of Northeast Louisiana State College and Mr. McDowell was graduated from Louisiana State University.

Patio Party Fetes TCU Bound Coed

Miss Mary Einhorn, who leaves today to attend Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, was honored by Mrs. A. B. Smith and daughter, Miss Annette Smith, who entertained at a patio and swimming party at their home on West Highland in West Monroe, Wednesday at 10 a.m.

The TCU colors of purple and white set the theme for the party with TCU banners displayed about the patio. Central decor for the round patio table which was draped with a white burlap cloth, featured banana blooms with grapes and purple photenia. Served with the party foods were white petit fours, trimmed in purple.

Following an hour of swimming the girls exchanged college addresses and autographed a white notebook for the honoree, which was a gift of the hostesses.

Guests included Misses Pat Lolley, Pam Kull, Sandy Barnes, Betty Waller, Donna Simmons, Lynn Allen, Elaine Hanna, Melinda Maleray, Camille Carso and Dee Winn, all of whom are bound for their freshman year at college; Miss Betsy Einhorn and Annette Smith, who are high school seniors this year and Mrs. Ralph Einhorn, mother of the honoree.

Rebecca Brevard Myers Weds Stephen M. Henry

In a late afternoon ceremony at 5 p.m. Saturday, September 4, Miss Rebecca Brevard Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franklin Myers of Greensboro, N.C., became the bride of Stephen Mosely Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Henry, 2301 Jasmine St., Monroe.

Dr. John Redhead, who officiated at the wedding of the bride's parents performed the ceremony in the Greensboro First Presbyterian church where the bride's grandfather, Dr. Charles Franklin Myers, was pastor for many years.

White flowers were placed on the altar with an arch of candles behind the chancel, banked with greenery. Franklin Pethel presented an organ prelude including Toccatto and Fuge in D Minor by Bach; Carrillon by Somerby; Beethoven's Minuet; O Lord Most Holy by Franck; The Heavens Declare the Glory of God by Marcello and Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring by Bach. A quartet from the church choir sang The King of Love My Shepherd Is by Bauston; Praise to the Lord by Pryzell and May the Spirit Rest Upon Us, by Mozart.

Guests were excorted to the pews by the ushers, who included Robert John Caverlee, Charles Allen Foster, George Marshall Riser Jr., and William King Stubbs Jr., all of Monroe; David Henry Carroll of Youngstown, Ohio; Michael Driscoll of Flossmoore, Ill., Joseph William Fields Holliday of Galivant's Ferry, S.C., Harry Oscar True Redd of Memphis, Tenn., and John Pescud Withers of Greensboro, N.C.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was Sydney Johnston Butler of Memphis.

The bridesmaids, wearing sleeveless dresses of soft pink silk chiffon with scoop necklines, and fitted bodices accented by satin bands extending into the back with flowers at the waistline, preceded the bride to the altar. The modified sheaths featured hemline panels of coral and pink chiffon. They wore short gloves. Dior satin bows for their hair and carried bouquets of sweetheart roses. Serving as bridesmaids were Misses Susan Wright Myers and Elizabeth Churchill Myers, sisters of the bride; Miss Elizabeth Hudgins, Miss Martha Eleanor Brown and Miss Frances Elizabeth Tynes, all of Greensboro; Miss Ellen Faucette Black of Richmond, Va.; Miss Marion Hill Harcourt of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. Maurice McAshan of Winston-Salem, N.C.

Maid of honor was the bride's oldest sister, Miss Margaret Alexander Myers, whose gown was identical in style to the bridesmaids, and shaded from pale pink to red.

Entering on the arm of her father the bride wore a gown of ivory silk peau de soie, featuring an Empire bodice with scalloped neckline and elbow sleeves, of Brussels lace. The modified A-line skirt terminated in a full sweep chapel train, also embellished with Brussels lace. Her chapel length bridal veil was of imported Brussels lace in princess design. She carried a bouquet of white roses, cymbidium orchids and stephanotis.

Following the wedding the bride's parents entertained at a reception at the Greensboro Country Club, which was decorated throughout with arrangements of pink and white roses, stock, lilies, lilacs and gladioli and a profusion of greens. The bride's mother received wearing a dress of shocking pink chiffon with elbow sleeves and cowl neckline with capelike back effect. She wore a matching chiffon hat and white gloves. Mrs. Henry, mother of the groom, wore a stone blue silk chiffon with long full sleeves, shirred neckline and a gathered tunic overskirt, banded in taupe satin. Her hat, shoes and bag were of taupe satin. Both mothers carried single gardenias pinned to their bags.

Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. Thomas Hassell Wright of Charlotte, N. C., grandmother of the bride; Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hassell Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Lenoir Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Nelson Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bevens Schenck, uncles and aunts of the bride and Miss Virginia Scheen, aunt of the groom.

After a wedding trip to Hilton Head, S.C., the couple will be at home on River Road, Route 2, Shooter's Hill in Richmond, Virginia. The bride attended Chatham Hall in Chatham, Va., and graduated in June from Hollins College, Hollins, Va. Mr. Henry is a graduate of Washington and Lee University where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, Liberty Hall Society and a captain of the golf team. He is now employed by Cargill, Wilson and Acree Advertising Agency in Richmond.

•INTRODUCING PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN OF THE TWIN CITIES

TELEPHONE SECRETARIES Available To Twin City Businesses

Mrs. Betty Cannon is owner – manager of the Twin City Telephone Answering Service located at 416 Grammont St., in Monroe. Her business operates 24 hours a day and the services she offers to business es and individuals are manifold. They are a member of Answer-America, Inc., an In ternational association.

A better name for her six operators would be telephone secretaries for they take mes sages, relay information and take orders, act as an alarm clock for people who get up at odd hours, take calls for and lo cate professional men who subscribe to their service and even operate the local end of many out-of-city firms who do business in the Twin Cities. They have office facilities for use of the out - of - town businessmen when they are in the city and even provide secre terial service for them.

The telephone secretary at the Twin City Answering Ser vice answers her client's calls "around the clock in an alert, cheerful and helpful manner. Her goal is to be a "diplomat". She conveys by telephone an impression of busi ness and efficiency for her clients. In addition to taking messages, she delivers them, takes orders, quotes prices, makes appointments, dispatches serv ice men, completes claim re ports and "tracks down" her clients to relay important mes sages.

Most housewives will be sur prised to learn it is possible to arrange for them to take their calls when they're not home during mealtimes and other business.

Advertisers in local media who are located out-of-town can arrange to have their calls answered at an assigned num ber with orders taken, appoint ments made or other business handled. Calls can be recorded, time stamped and forwarded to the advertiser with a detail ed report of all calls. A local address is also provided for mail replies.

If you have any special com munications problems a visit with Mrs. Cannon will probably solve them to your satisfaction.

Things Are Different at Mrs. Mac's!

In 1953 Mrs. L. D. McElroy opened a small shoe store in the Forsythe Shopping Center as a hobby. Like so many advoca tions often do, it soon became more than just a hobby. "Mrs. Mac," as she is affectionately known, moved to a larger location at 1402 Olivia Road. There she opened a complete shop of shoes, clothes for children. Last fall Mrs. McElroy opened larger quarters at 1402 North Eighteenth Street. Her hobby has grown from a small shop to a progressive business with two locations each stocked with a complete supply of children's clothing and shoes.

Mrs. Mac has a widely known reputation for correctly fitting children's shoes. Ed wards shoes, which are carried exclusively in Monroe by Mrs. Mac's, are recommended by many doctors for corrective and prescription. They are assured that those shoes will be prop erly fitted and will be of the best quality. A good selection of junior pattes by Stride Rite and Mona Lisa, Merry Mite and Gay Spirits clothes for little boys and girls are available, too. For those talented young lads and lass es who go to dance school, Mrs. Mac's has ballet, tap and toe shoes by Capezio and leo tards and tights by Danskin.

You'll enjoy choosing your child's shoes from the tremen dous selection which features Weather Winky and Cancraft. Shoppers will also find a large selection of junior petites by Stride Rite, Regal and Mona Lisa.

Mrs. Mac's is a delightful and restful change for women of Northeast Louisiana who take pride in their appearance, pre fer superior service and satis factory work.

MRS. WILLIE ROGERS

West Monroe Couple Wed In Home Ceremony

The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Guillory, 210 Gulpha Drive, West Monroe, was scene of the candlelight ceremony uniting their daughter, Miss Charlotte Guillory and Willie Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Rogers, 1725 Coleman Ave., West Monroe, on Friday, September 3.

An arch of white roses and greenery flanked by standards of white gladioli and branched candelabra holding lighted tapers formed an improvised altar for the exchange of vows. Rev. James B. White performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. with piano music provided by Mrs. Lila Stephens.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a street length dress of ivory silk linen, trimmed with braid and seed pearls. Her brief veil was attached to a pearl-encrusted pillbox and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums atop a white Bible.

Miss Linda Sue Horn, maid of honor, wore a blue linen dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums. Nick Rogers served his brother as best man.

Mrs. Guillory was wearing for the occasion an aqua lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white glamellias. The groom's mother chose a cranberry brocade model with accessories to match and a corsage of white glamellias.

A reception followed in the home which was decorated throughout with flowers and candles. The bride's table, covered with a white lace cloth over mint green, was centered with an arrangement of white chrysantheumums and fern in a crystal bowl flanked by white tapers in crystal candle holders. Miss Linda Fletcher served the wedding cake and Mrs. Shirley Rogers presided at the punch bowl. Tea girls were Miss Terri Guillory and Miss Marilyn Rogers.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in West Monroe. A graduate of West Monroe high school the bride is now attend Northeast Louisiana State College. Mr. Rogers, who also graduated from West Monroe high school, attended Northeast and is now employed with Illinois Central Railroad.

Bailey-James Vows Read In Candlelight Setting

Candles lined the bridal aisle and formed a background for mass arrangements of gladioli at the altar of Central Baptist Church, Monroe for the wedding Friday, September 3 of Miss Linda Lucyl James and Jack Richard Bailey.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David D. Cantrell 3300 Gordon Avenue, Monroe and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bailey of Jonesboro.

Rev. A. C. Cantrell, uncle of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Delores Johnson, organist and soloists, David Worthington and Rev. C. B. Littleton.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Cantrell. She wore a traditional floor length gown of ivory satin with a chapel train extending from a back bustle effect. Appliques of reembroidered Chantilly lace embellished the bodice and center panel of the skirt. The basque waist featured long sleeves which tapered to points at the wrists. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion fell from a single white rose, encircled by illusion petals. She carried a fueshia throated white orchid with fleur d'amour atop a white Bible.

Miss Ann Grafton attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Mary Ann Neill. Their A-line gowns of pale rose silk were designed with scooped necklines and long fitted sleeves. Dior bows of rose silk with brief tulle veils formed their headdresses and they carried crescent bouquets of deep rose chrysanthemums.

Candles were lighted by Miss Syble Boyd and Carlton Jones Jr., of Baton Rouge. Miss Boyd was dressed similar to the other attendants.

John Jones Bailey of Baton Rouge served his brother as best man, and groomsman was David Lee Cantrell, brother of the bride. Ushers were Cary Pardue, Jonesboro, cousin of the groom and Phillip Underwood, Jonesboro.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cantrell wore a sheath of pale pink silk with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother was wearing a pale blue sheath with navy accessories and a white orchid.

A reception followed in the church social hall where Mrs. M. D. Fontana presided at the guest book. Alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. M. H. Batten and Mrs. L. R. Cantrell, aunts of the bride. The wedding cake was served by Mrs. J. S. Kingrey, aunt of the groom, assisted by Miss Mona Acosta.

Alyce Eileen Smith Weds Bernard Cerniglia

Miss Alyce Eileen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. French L. Smith Jr., 1301 West Ave., became the bride of Bernard Andrew Cerniglia, son of Mrs. Frank P. Cerniglia, 706 Auburn Ave., and the late Dr. Cerniglia in a double ring ceremony at 7 p. m. Wednesday, September 1.

The Rev. Dave Dabria and the Rev. Edmund Moore performed the nuptials in Jesus the Good Shepherd Catholic Church. Two massive arrangements of gladioli flanked an arch of candelabra holding white tapers against a background of greenery to form a setting for the exchange of vows.

Mrs. Bradley Trimble, organist, rendered the traditional wedding march.

Mr. Smith gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of white silk faille was fashioned with shallow scoop neckline, outlined in deep ovals of Alencon lace, and elbow length sleeves. The princess lines of the gown were accentuated with tucks, released below the waistline into a full circle skirt. The gown was enhanced with appliques of reembroidered lace motifs with seed pearls and iridescent sequins and the bouffant skirt extended into a full chapel train. A triple crown of pearls held her elbow length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered by a white orchid.

Dressed in floor length empire style gowns of deep pink peau de soie with scoop necklines and elbow sleeves, were the bride's attendants, Miss Mary Alice Yeldell, maid of honor and bridesmaids, Miss Kay Adams, Miss Kathryn Bird and Miss Pamela Burgess. The skirts of their dresses formed an A-line silhouette with bias folds of cranberry satin trimmed in pink lace accenting the high rise waists and forming a bow with floor streamers in back. Their headpieces were nose veils of cranberry tulle topped with satin bows. They carried crescent bouquets of cranberry and light pink gladioli.

Flower girl was Miss Debbie Smith, sister of the bride, who was dressed identically to the other attendants with headpiece and shoes in cranberry shade. She wore an add-a-pearl necklace and carried a basket of soft pink carnations.

Frank P. Cerniglia Jr. attended his brother as best man, and groomsman was French Lloyd Smith III, brother of the bride. Ushers were Robert Thomas Cerniglia, brother of the groom and William Spinks.

Mrs. Smith was wearing for her daughter's wedding a sheath of royal blue lace over matching peau de soie with long-sleeved lace overblouse, matching hat and shoes, white gloves and a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Cerniglia chose a costume comprising a green crepe skirt with overblouse in green lace with matching accessories and a green orchid. Mrs. Franch L. Smith, Sr., grandmother of the bride, wore a light blue embroidered suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The Paragon club ballroom was scene of the reception which followed the wedding. Mrs. James G. Daniels was in charge of the reception assisted by Mrs. G. E. Boggs.

The tiered wedding cake which centered a round table, draped in white satin and garlanded with ivy, was flanked by cupid epergnes holding tiny pink roses. A silver coffee service and crystal punch bowl were at opposite ends of the long refreshment table where the central decor was a mass arrangement of pink roses and white stock in a cupid epergne. Silver candelabra held tall pink tapers, further carrying out the pink and white theme.

Alternating at the silver service were Mrs. Nell Chennault and Mrs. Robert L. George. Serving punch were Mrs. W. D. McGee and Mrs. David Chennault. Mrs. J. L. Adams and Mrs. Harry Addison served the wedding cake and tea girls were Miss Sandra Brown, Miss Melinda Mabray, Miss Judy Addison, Miss Elaine Hanna, Miss Nell Martien and Miss Phamie Colvin of Bernice. Miss Kathy Addison presided at the guest book table which displayed a memory candle.

Following a wedding trip to Pensacola, Florida the couple will be at home at 2513 N. 12th in Monroe. For travel the bride wore a three piece green knit suit with matching hat, black kid accessories and the white orchid from her bouquet. The bride is a 1965 graduate of Neville high school and a member of Lamda Sigma Chi. Mr. Cerniglia graduated from Neville and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. He is presently employed with Olin Mathieson.

MRS. WILLIAM STEVENS GREEN

Couple Wed On Bride's Parents' Anniversary

Married on the 28th wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Louis Keller of Collinston, was Miss Jenny Louise Keller, who became the bride of William Stevens Green of West Monroe, on Saturday, August 28. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. A. R. Hart, West Monroe and Elvin Green, Shreveport.

The candlelight ceremony was performed at 6:30 p.m. in Reily Memorial Methodist Church, Collinston. Rev. Don Wineinger of West Monroe, assisted by Rev. L. E. Milem, Collinston, officiated at the double ring vows in the presence of family members and close friends.

Mrs. Bev Handy, pianist, played appropriate selections throughout the ceremony and also sang preceding the vows. Rector Hopgood concluded the service with a solo The Lord's Prayer.

Pedestal baskets of pink and white gladioli and branched candelabra, entwined with clematis formed a setting for the bridal party.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a street length dress of beige silk lace over peau de soie, styled with scoop neckline and A-line skirt. Her bouffant illusion veil was held in place by a satin rose. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums with yellow streamers and entwined in the blossoms were pearls from the wedding dress of her grandmother Mrs. Fielding Keller.

Mrs. Robert Lowery of Shreveport, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore an A-line dress of watermelon silk with headdress of moss green tulle held in place by a white rose. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Roy Green of Calhoun, brother of the bride, served as best man and candlelighters were Scott Keller and John Keller, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Keller was wearing a teal blue crepe sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums. The groom's mother chose a champagne linen sheath with accessories to match and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the church annex. Baskets of pink and white summer flowers provided a background for the bride's table, covered with a white cutwork cloth over pink and centered with an arrangement of pink flowers and pink candles. Mrs. Ed Justice of Monroe served the tiered wedding cake and presiding at the punch bowl was Miss Shirley Nelson of Bastrop.

Miss Suzie Waldrop registered guests in the bride's book placed on an antique table covered in white satin and adorned by the bride's bouquet. Tea girls were Misses Tillie Fontenot and Jean Wineinger of West Monroe. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Jack Waldrop and rice bags were presented by Cindy Hart, West Monroe, cousin of the groom; and Douglas Randolph, Colorado Springs, Colo., cousin of the bride.

For their wedding trip to Pensacola, Florida the bride was wearing a charcoal knit suit with matching accessories. The couple will be at home at 100 Pear St., Monroe, where both will be seniors at Northeast Louisiana State College.

MRS. ROBERT HARLAN JONES

Northeast Students Wed

Lighted tapers surrounded an arch entwined with salal greenery to form an altar setting for the wedding of Miss Jane McKibbens of Dunn and Robert Harlan Jones, Monroe, solemnized August 27 at 7:30 p.m. in Dunn Baptist Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen V. McKibbens, Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. Elson Jones of Buras.

Rev. Herman Savoie performed the double ring vows and appropriate nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Edward Thomas, organist and Edward Thomas, vocalist.

Wearing a gown of white silk peau de soie with bodice of Chantilly lace, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The gown featured a scoop neckline, scalloped sleeves and bell-shaped skirt. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet of pearls and she carried a cascade of white carnations encircling a white orchid, which crested a white satin prayer book.

Miss Kathleen Coats attended her cousin as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Pat Newton and Mrs. Thomas Frazier. They wore belled gowns of pale green peau de soie with matching tulle circlet headdresses anchored by flowers which matched those in their cascade bouquets of yellow carnations and lacelon.

Flower girl, Cindy Neal, wore a lace-bordered white frock with headdress and bouquet identical to those of the bridesmaids.

Walter Dawkins served Mr. Jones as best man and groomsmen were Larry Don Brown and Billy Gammell. Ushers were Rodney and Bobby Clarkson, with Eddie Thomas acting as ring bearer.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. McKibbens received her guests wearing a gown of blue silk with matching accessories and a corsage of garnet roses.

The reception table, covered with a white lace cloth over green, was centered with an arrangement of yellow carnations. Miss Connie Waites served the tiered wedding cake and Miss Sandra Strong presided at the punch bowl. Tea girls were Miss Debbie Travis, Miss Jan Gilman and Miss Babs Gilman. Assisting in extending courtesies were Mrs. Pearl Callahan, Mrs. T. E. Cooper, Mrs. Bill Walker, Mrs. Stanley Gilman and Mrs. Fred Dixon. Miss Lynn Walker presided over the guest book table, ornamented by a memory candle.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs the bride wore a blue linen suit with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. They will be at home in Monroe where both are students at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Jane Routh Lee Marries In Winnsboro Church

Miss Jane Routh Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Edgar Lee Jr., of Winnsboro, became the bride of Jerry Hartfield Jr., Memphis, Tenn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hartfield of Gulfport, Miss., on Sunday, August 29.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. M. David Felder in the First Methodist Church, Winnsboro, at 4 p.m. Vows were exchanged in a setting of baskets of white gladioli and stock, greenery and four seven-branched candelabra.

Miss Suzanne Walter, pianist and Pete Moore, soloist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a traditional gown of white bouquet taffeta featuring a scoop neckline and a fitted bodice defined by a back Obi bow. Reembroidered Alencon lace studded with seed pearls patterned the bell shaped skirt and train. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was sprinkled with flower appliques and fell from a coronet of forget-me-nots and roses. The bride carried a French cascade bouquet of stephanotis and pearlized lily of the valley centered with a white orchid and attached to a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother.

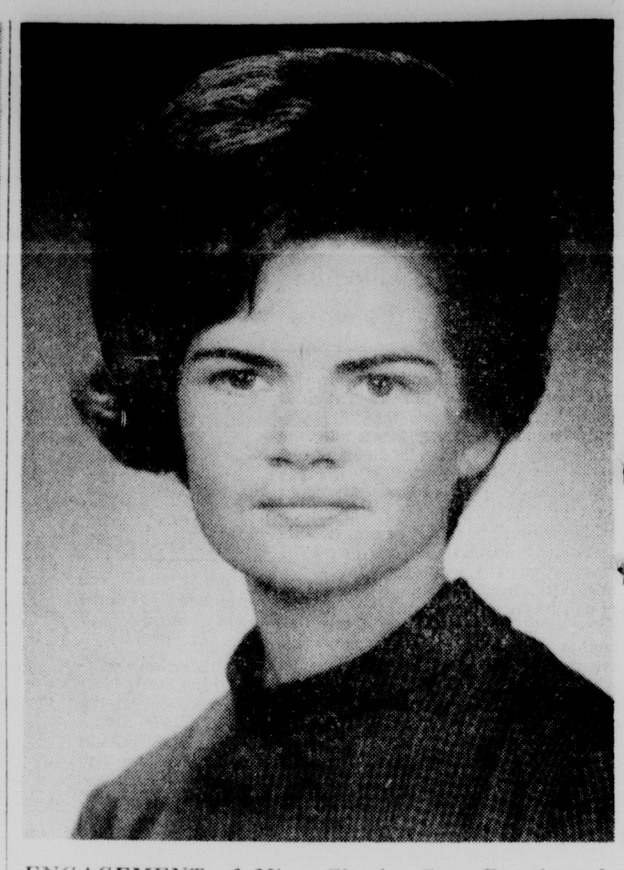
Mrs. Jimmie H. Durr Jr., of Pineville, served her sister as matron of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Gay Walter of Winnsboro. Identically dressed, they wore gold Empire style gowns, featuring floor length crepe skirts and bodices of satin brocade with panel trains of the brocade. Their headdresses were gold satin circlets with short net veils and each carried a single long-stemmed bronze chrysanthemum.

Candlelighters were Paul Smith of Corinth, Miss., and David Hartfield of Gulfport, Miss.

Mr. Hartfield served as best man for his son's wedding and groomsman was Louis O'Bannon of Gulfport. Ushers were Sam Lee, brother of the bride, of Winnsboro and Kint Kinton, Brooklyn, Miss.

For the occasion Mrs. Lee was wearing a pale green silk model with pearl trim, matching hat and pearl accessories. The groom's mother wore a burgundy lace dress and velvet hat with matching accessories. Both mothers wore white cymbidium orchid corsages.

The church parlor was scene of the reception which followed the ceremony. Bronze chrysanthemums and tall white tapers formed the central decor for the bride's table which was covered with a satin-bordered tulle cloth over taffeta. Mrs. B. I. Berry, aunt of the bride, Winnsboro, presided at the crystal punch service and the wedding cake was served by Mrs. J. R. Kinton, Brooklyn, Miss., aunt of the groom. Mrs. Bill Johnston, Alexandria, cousin of the groom, presided at the guest book and tea girls were Misses Faith Robinson, Barbara House and Evelyn Wiltshire of Winnsboro and Miss Carolyn Bailess of Vicksburg, Miss.



ENGAGEMENT of Miss Glenda Gay Beard and Jessie James Heckford, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Heckford is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Beard. All are of West Monroe. The wedding is planned for October 2 in Pleasant Hill Congregational Christian Church, West Monroe. After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in Baton Rouge where Mr. Heckford is employed.

Cherryl Ballard Marries In Pink, White Setting

Myriad pink cathedral tapers in wrought iron candelabra interspersed with fan shaped arrangements of pink gladioli formed a setting in the First Baptist Church, West Monroe for the wedding Saturday, September 4 of Miss Cherryl Gay Ballard and Franklin Dee Rose.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ralph Ballard, 416 Wood Street, West Monroe and the late Mr. Ballard and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Rose of Baton Rouge.

Dr. Clifton Tennison performed the double ring ceremony at 6 p.m. Mrs. Fred Staples, organist, rendered a prenuptial concert and accompanied the soloists, Mrs. Roy Brooks and Henry Camp.

Escorted by her brother, Donald Ray Ballard, the bride wore a gown of silk organza, designed with fitted bodice and scoop neckline, appliqued with white lace roses and tiny seed pearls. The lace and pearl appliques were repeated on the full skirt, with deep folds at the back forming a full chapel sweep train, embellished with lace appliques. Her tiered veil of English silk illusion fell from a silk organza rose. She wore long white gloves and carried bouquet of white feathered chrysanthemums and stephanotis centered with a white orchid corsage.

Miss Gaye Gilliland, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a dress of rose velvet with fitted bodice, scoop neckline and bell-shaped skirt defined at the back by a large velvet rose, which matched the rose forming her veiled headpiece. She wore wrist length gloves a gift of the bride and rose shoes and carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink Fuji chrysanthemums accented with rose skyrockets.

Bridesmaids, dressed identically to the honor attendant, in deeper shades of rose, were Misses Julia Ann Gilliland, Virginia Kay Gilliland, cousins of the bride; Barbara Hoff and Trudie Swink. Miss Toni Carter, flower girl, wore a dress and shoes of white velvet and carried a basket of pale pink Fuji chrysanthemums.

Serving as best man for his brother was William Lee Rose. Groomsmen were James Rose, also a brother of the groom; Robert Ballard, brother of the bride; Thomas Belding of Baton Rouge and James Daniels of West Monroe. Candlelighters were James Gilliland, cousin of the bride and Richard Loftin and ring bearer was Donald Ray Ballard Jr., nephew of the bride.

For the occasion Mrs. Ballard wore a green lace dress with matching hat and accessories and a corsage of feathered chrysanthemums tinted to match her costume. The groom's mother wore a beige lace model with matching accessories and feathered chrysanthemum corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church. Covered with a white lace cloth over pink taffeta, the bride's table held a central decor of pink roses and ivy in a branched silver candelabra which also held lighted pink tapers. Mrs. Donald Ballard registered guests in the bride's book. Mrs. James Rose served the wedding cake and alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. Roy Brooks and Mrs. Henry Camp. Tea girls were Misses Clara Dee Drew, Frances Letterman, Sarah Johnston, and Janet Simmons and rice bag girls were Misses Mary Beth Cox and Ann Hogan.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 1611 College Avenue in Monroe. For travel the bride donned a three-piece turquoise silk linen suit and matching hat, with white lizard accessories.

MRS. CHARLES W. CHATHAM

Lt. Charles W. Chatham Claims Texas Girl Bride

Austin Avenue Methodist Church in Waco, Texas, was scene of the wedding of Miss Mildred Ann Marrow and First Lieut. Charles W. Chatham on August 28 at 4 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Marrow of Waco and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Chatham, 3000 Gordon Avenue, Monroe.

Pedestal baskets of white gladioli and stock against a background of greenery formed a setting at the altar where Rev. R. Herman Boyd performed the double ring vows. Wedding music was presented by James Mitchell, organist and Miss Joy Davis.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a chapel length dress of white peau de soie with lace extending from the scalloped neckline down the A-line skirt. Her tiered veil of illusion drifted waist length from a pillbox of jeweled lace. She carried a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom, crested with a bouquet of white roses encircling a white orchid, showered with streamers.

Miss Roberta Gasker of Waco was maid of honor. She wore an olive green raw silk dress with close fitting self fabric hat, clustered with green leaves. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink chrysanthemums.

Serving as best man for his brother was Thomas W. Chatham of Monroe and ushers were Jim Marrow and Tom Marrow, of Houston, cousins of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a suit of pale green raw silk withthe self fabric hat and matching shoes. Her corsage was a white orchid. Mrs. Chatham, mother of the groom, wore a three piece suit of beige silk linen with lace inserts, hat of matching velvet and beige accessories. She also wore a white orchid.

The church parlor was scene of the reception which followed the ceremony. Pink chrysanthemums and stock formed the central decor for the bride's table where punch was served by Mrs. Beulah Couch of Ville Platte, aunt of the groom and cake was served by Mrs. Bill Ratcliff. Guests were registered by Mrs. Reginald L. Couch of Waco, cousin of the groom and green and yellow rice bags were distributed by Revonne Couch, cousin of the groom.

The couple left for a wedding trip through the Smoky Mountains en route to Goldsboro, North Carolina, where Lt. Chatham is stationed at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base. For travel the bride wore a three piece suit of gray and white cotton with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

A graduate of Waco high school and of Baylor University, the bride is a teacher in elementary education. Lt. Chatham graduated from Neville high school, attended Louisiana Tech, where he was a member of the choir and glee club and afso attended Northeast Louisiana State College where he was a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. He is now a navigator in the U.S. Air Force.

Godwin-Dean Wedding Solemnized Saturday

Solemnized Saturday, September 4 in the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe was the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Virginia Favers Dean and John William Godwin Jr. Dr. Ernest D. Holloway officated at the double ring vows at 2 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stedman Adolph Dean, 116 Pope St., Monroe and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John William Godwin, 401 Parsons Drive, Bastrop.

Vows were exchanged before an altar where smilax formed a background for the lighted wooden cross and white gladioli and jade in twin urns were placed at the foot of the altar.

Preceding the ceremony a concert of nuptial music was presented by Miss Mary Ann Caldwell, organist and Kent Dean, soloist, as guests were escorted to their pews by Keith McGuire and Ronnie LaGuin, both of Bastrop.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white Merrimist taffeta, featuring a low rounded neck and slim, floor length skirt. The bodice and long sleeves, which tapered to points over the hand were of French imported lace. A watteau train of the French lace, bordered by self fabric, fell cathedral length. Her veil of illusion was attached to a halo ring of the taffeta, appliqued with lace motifs. She carried a ruby and pearl ring which had been the engagement ring of her maternal great grandmother, and her bouquet was a crescent design of white bridal roses and stephanotis.

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. Roy E. Lee Jr., of Natchitoches, matron of honor and Misses Shirley Dean, Carolyn Thompson, Kay Sanchez and Jane Brimberry, bridesmaids. Their floor length gowns of antique gold delustered satin featured Empire waistlines, elbow sleeves and princess style skirts. They wore Dior bows of matching satin and carried single bronze chrysanthemums.

Miss Nancy Ann Kelso, flower girl, wore a floor length frock in white Merrimist taffeta and a miniature Dior bow of antique gold delustered satin. She carried a white basket filled with bronze pompons.

Harry Herman Blanke II of New Orleans, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Mr. Godwin attended his son as best man and groomsmen were Joseph G. Files, Jeff J. Seligman, Marvin Wayne Adcock and Mike Collins, all of Bastrop.

Mrs. Dean, mother of the bride, wore a moss green lace sheath with cummerbund of crushed chiffon and a pillbox of matching lace. Her corsage was a green cymbidium orchid. Mrs. Godwin, mother of the groom, chose a teal blue silk suit with hat of beaded paisley print and a white Japhet orchid.

The wedding was followed by a reception given by the bride's parents in the church parlor. Miss Betty Lou Land of Bastrop and Mrs. Harold Breard of Monroe, aunt of the bride, welcomed guests into the reception area where the receiving line was formed. Mrs. Ralph Roberts and Miss Gretchen Masur alternated at the bride's book at a table, covered with white organdy and adorned with white chrysanthemums, and ivy in a miniature cherub epergne.

A massed arrangement of chrysantehmums, stephanotis and ivy encircled a five branch silver candelabra holding white tapers, which centered the linen covered bride's table. At one end of the table a silver punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. Warren Breard and serving the traditional bride's cake opposite was Mrs. Keith McGuire of Bastrop, sister of the groom.

Assisting with courtesies were Mrs. R. D. Farr Jr., Mrs. Fred Brownlee, Mrs. Eugene Huggins, Mrs. William J. Hodge, all of Monroe; Mrs. Wayne Adcock, Bastrop and Miss Lee Bartet of Baton Rouge. Tea girls were Misses Susan Farr, Sally Ann Farr, Carolyn Ortis, Sharolyn Ortis and Dianne Woodruff. Rice bags were distributed by Miss Lisa Kelso and Miss Debbie McWilliams, Monroe and Miss Rebecca Breard Blanke of New Orleans, cousin of the bride.

For their wedding trip the bride changed into a suit of avocado raw silk with chanel jacket, trimmed in antique copper braid. A wide-brimmed hat of antique copper fur felt and matching accessories completed her costume and she wore a corsage of roses. The couple will be at home in Monroe.

A graduate of Neville high school, the bride attended Louisiana Tech and Northeast Louisiana State College. Mr. Godwin graduated from Bastrop high school and attended Louisiana Tech and Northeast. He is employed in Bastrop.

Labor Day weekend, in the Twin Cities as throughout the country, marks the end of summer and beginning of fall activity. Hereabouts, also, it is the occasion for a final flurry of out of town visitors, taking advantage of the last long weekend of the season. Several different sets of parties have honored guests this week.

Here from New Orleans, guests of LOUISE and TOM LEIGH, have been MARY STUART NORMANN, CONNIE FAUST, and SUZANNE HOPKINS. Mary Stuart and Connie are Louise's granddaughters. The three arrived last Saturday, returned to New Orleans Wednesday. On the day of their arrival, Louise invited a group of junior high girls for swimming and lunch at Bayou DeSiard country club. Those attending this party were LYNN LOFLIN, GAY FAULK, VEE MARSHALL, BECKY HUENEFELD, LOU LEMERT, and CAROL DAVIS.

Sunday afternoon, BETTY and JIMMY MOORE and their children, JAMES and CHRISTINE, were hosts for a family boating party aboard their houseboat on the river. Cousins invited to share this affair were JUNE and ARMAND McHENRY, MARTIN, LEWIS, and MARION; CHICK and O. R. LEWIS; EVELYN and ROY COLE, ROY and BETTY. They went upriver for a swim and supper at a sandbar in the late afternoon.

Boating on the bayou was on the agenda Monday evening when LOUISE and JOHN THEUS invited the Leighs and their visitors for supper. The "Robert E. Leigh" was the scene of merrymaking. About twelve guests attended.

WANDA and HENRY HINKLE are entertaining their daughter and family, SALLY and FRANK CALVETTE, and young daughter CATHERINE. The Calvettes arrived from Memphis Friday for a week's visit. Another guest in the Hinkle home this weekend is BOB CANN of Baton Rouge, who was best man in the Calvette's wedding some time ago.

Guest of LUCILLE TURPIN this week was CAMILLA MAYS FRANK of New Orleans, who arrived last Saturday, left Thursday. Camilla, who has held state and national offices in the Society of Colonial Dames XVII Century, is deputy governor for the state Jamestown Society. She was entertained the night of her arrival with a dinner party given at the Pagoda by DOT and FRED AMMAN.

Late Sunday afternoon, Lucille invited a group for a seated tea and visit with Camilla. Guests gathered first in the garden room and on the patio, which were decorated with arrangements of banana foliage and blooms used with colored votive lights. Refreshments served included crab dip, shrimp salad, sliced turkey and ham, and other sandwiches. Later the group adjourned to the dining room for dessert. The table was centered with a cupid compote holding pink roses. On the buffet was a silver wine cooler filled with beautiful roses in pinks and yellows. Lucille's delectable coffee punch was served with assorted petits fours.

Other hostesses who entertained Camilla included LESSIE GARRETT, whose compliment was luncheon at the Paragon on Monday; LU WILLEY, luncheon on Tuesday; and LAURA JOHNSON, Wednesday luncheon. VIRGIE SUE SMITH of Bastrop, who came down Monday to be Lucille's guest, was also entertained at these affairs. The ALLEN TURPINS entertained with a ride aboard their boat, the "Miss Breezy" Monday evening. Prior to her departure Thursday afternoon, Camilla was invited for luncheon with NINA BONNELL. Another special guest for these parties was VIRGIE SUE SMITH of Bastrop.

Another party honoring Camilla was a conversational hour Wednesday afternoon at the home of DOROTHY SHOLARS, with DAISY HAAS co-hostess. For this party, the table was centered with a beautiful and fragrant bouquet of tuberoses and butterfly lilies. Those invited to share a visit and an iced drink with Camilla were BLANCHE OLIVER, CAROL LAYTON, LOUISE LEIGH, MARY DURRETT, CHICK LEWIS, BELLE OAKLEY, SOPHIE HOLLOWAY, MARIE LOUISE SNELLINGS, MARGARET DOWNING, ANNA GRAY NOE, LOUISE THEUS, TOTSY TERZIA, SATCHIE NAIDEN, SUE STUBBS, and ANNA SLAGLE.

A visitor from Doringkop, South Africa, was complimented by MARY LYNN THOMAS and JOYCE BRAKEFIELD last Friday. PEGGY WYATT, who is here for the festivities surrounding the marriage of her sister, SALLY PIERCE, and LANE VASTINE, was named guest of honor at luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club. The party was held in the private dining room, where a bouquet of golden euonymus and lavender althea stood on the console.

A massive bouquet of banana blossoms, immature bananas, cerise celosia, lavender and pink althea, altanthera, pink petunias, yellow cut and come again, and furled aspidistra folia filled a pineapple shaped container which centered the table. Twelve guests, former classmates of the honoree, attended. The menu included tomatoes stuffed with shrimp salad, finger sandwiches, and for dessert, lemon tarts.

Luncheon at Bayou DeSiard country club was the compliment planned by DOLL BURGOYNE for MARY TERRELL of Shreveport last Friday. Mary was here three days as guest of DOTTIE AMMAN. The table in the Garden Room was covered with a white cloth and appointed with green glasses. Centerpiece was a bouquet of yellow and green chrysanthemums. . . Also honoring Mary was a dinner party in the Amman home. Twenty members of the college set attended. Lucille Turpin entertained Friday evening with a boating party on the "Miss Breezy."

Home again after a trip East are MARY ELLEN and GEORGE WALKER, who combined business with pleasure in a week away. They left last Thursday and spent two nights in Washington, D. C., before going on to Philadelphia for a weekend visit with relatives. Next they went on to New York for two days. They had a quick look at the World's Fair and business meetings in the daytime. They had time for two shows: "Hello, Dolly!" and "Barefoot in the Park". The Walkers arrived back in Monroe Wednesday night.

It's a house full at the home of HILDA and GYP McDONALD this weekend. Those arriving Friday for a visit were Hilda's mother, MARIE DELERY WASSERMANN of New Orleans; GEORGE ROBBINS of Hermitage, Louisiana; and LYNN and HUGH McDONALD of Lake St. John . . . . ANN and KING MILLING of New Orleans also arrived on Friday. They are just home from a trip to Bermuda . . . . Due to today is DENIS McDONALD, who has been in Quantico, Virginia, for six weeks of active duty as party of the Marine ROTC program at Tulane.

Leaving today for Atlantic City, New Jersey, are our "Miss Louisiana" and her official party. Escorting LINDA FERGUSON of Shreveport for the week are CAROLINE MASUR of Monroe, Linda's chaperone; JAKE USSERY, chairman of the "Miss Louisiana" pageant held here in July; and LOU FLEEMAN, field representative of the "Miss America" pageant. They will be guests at the Ambassador hotel in Atlantic City.

Saddle-lite Riding club ended its summer activities with a breakfast ride and swim last Saturday morning. The group rode from the stables to Bayou DeSiard country club for an early swim, followed by breakfast on the pool patio. 'Twas a gala party, ending with chaperones taking a forced swim in riding clothes. After eating the group continued on a trail ride until noon.

Ending the summer for members of Riverside Riding club is the trail ride planned for tomorrow. Some twenty-five riders are expected to ride together to the home of the J. W. PERRYS in Perryville. A swim and picnic lunch is planned, with an afternoon ride back home.

Monroe Garden club opens the new club year Monday, September 13, with a tea honoring new members to be held at the home of club president BERNICE WOODS beginning at 2 p.m. A tour of bayou gardens will be combined with the tea, with club members visiting the Woods' as well as adjoining waterfront gardens of LOUISE MORGAN and VIRGINIA GUERRIERO. Tea chairmen are JUDY TURPIN and GEORGIE TOUCHSTONE, with ALICE WADDILL and WILHEMINA INABNET in charge of the tour.

Autumn Weddings

If there's an autumn wedding date circled on your calendar, daisy-type mums and baby wood roses are especially appropriate for attendants' bouquets. They will enhance the fall shades of the gowns, the Society of American Florists points out.

MRS. LEONARD ABINGTON

MRS. RONALD CRAIG STEED

Janna Tull Is Wed In Crossett

In the candlelighted sanctuary of the First Methodist Church at Crossett, Saturday evening, August 28, Miss Janna Lynn Tull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade M. Tull became the bride of Ronald Craig Steed, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig Steed of Greensboro, North Carolina.

The Rev. R. B. Moore performed the double ring ceremony before a background of jade palms, white chrysanthemums, carnations and stock with branched candelabra holding lighted tapers at either end of the chancel. Mrs. James C. Gunnels provided organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of embroidered organza over slipper satin fashioned with fitted bodice, shell neckline and long tapered sleeves. The modified bell skirt was accented at the back waist with a flat satin bow with streamers falling to a brush train. Her ballerina length veil was attached to a Dior bow of satin and she carried a cascade of white roses and carnations.

Miss Judy Phelps of Malvern, served as maid of honor.

Mr. Steed attended his son as best man and ushers were Justin and Joel Tull, bothers of the bride and James Steed, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship hall of the church. Centering the bride's table was an epergne holding lighted candles, pale yellow roses and white stock. Mrs. Max Hardin of Jonesboro, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Robert Walker of Kennett, Mo., aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake. Miss Judi Burch of Tulsa, Okla. was at the bride's book.

Mrs. Steed is a graduate of the University of Arkansas where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board. She received her master's degree in Latin American Area studies from the University of Florida. Mr. Steed is a graduate of Duke University where he was a member of Theta Chi fraternity and Pi Tau Sigma, honorary engineering fraternity. He is now doing graduate work at the University of Florida.

Following a wedding trip through the Blue Ridge Mountains the couple will be at home in Gainsville, Florida.

Colorful Foliage

Shaggy chrysanthemums combined with eucalyptus foliage provide colorful and dramatic fall arrangements, the Society of American Florists says.

EVENING GEMS

Textured gold-tone and stones are used in jewels that are very dressy and designed for late day wear and informal evenings.

The net-like stocking, the spotted bag, the nanny shoe are the shortest road to chic in September according to fashion authorities.

Ruston Church Scene Of Abington-Walker Vows

Solemnized Saturday, September 4 in Temple Baptist Church, Ruston, was the candlelight ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Mary Grace Walker and Leonard Abington, both of Shreveport. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Walker of Ruston and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas C. Abington of Many.

Dr. Robert Magee performed the double ring vows at 5:30 p.m. A massive fan shaped arrangement of pink and white gladioli, chrysanthemums and daisies formed a background setting for branched candelabra holding lighted tapers.

Mrs. Grey Allison, organist and Mrs. Clayton McKaskle, presented traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of peau de soie and reembroidered Alencon lace. The low, round neckline was enhanced with lace and pearl motifs which were repeated on the bouffant skirt. Posed over crinoline, the skirt fell into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a lace and pearl petal shaped headdress and she carried a bouquet of white cattleya orchids with fleur d'amour and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Anne Klopp of Shreveport Miss Kathy Colvin, Miss Sherry Bell and Miss Kandy Eldridge, all of Ruston. They wore formal length Empire dresses of petal pink and azalea pink silk peau accented by a deeper shade of embroidered rosebud braid at the high waistlines. Matching shoes and tiny veil hats completed their costumes and each carried a long stemmed pink rose.

Flower girl was Ellen Sutton of Natchitoches, niece of the groom, who also wore a floor length gown identical to those of the bridesmaids. She carried a white French basket of pink roses.

Douglas C. Abington Jr. of Baton Rouge, served his brother, as best man and groomsmen-ushers were Freddy DeLarcerdo, John Byrd, of Many; Kerlin C. Sutton of Natchitoches and Donald Scaipe of Tioga. Ring bearer was Robert Earl Grace, nephew of the bride of Newellton.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue lace sheath with blue lace pillbox, matching accessories and a lavender orchid. The groom's mother chose a champagne silk brocade dress and jacket costume with matching accessories and a green orchid.

A reception followed in the church parlor where the pink and white theme was carried out in the table decor. Assisting with courtesies were Mrs. Dan Grace, Newellton; Mrs. John M. Eaves, Shreveport; Mrs. Eddie Maxwell of El Dorado, Ark., Misses Camille and Beth Abington of Baton Rouge; Donna and Diane Kimbell, Mrs. Hubert Belisle and Mrs. Don Hammon of Ruston.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing an oyster nubby linen suit with brown accessories and an orange orchid corsage. They will be at home in Shreveport.

A graduate of Ruston high school, the bride attended Louisiana Tech. Mr. Abington graduated from Many high school and from Louisiana Tech and is employed in Shreveport.

DECORATIVE ACCENT

Use a sprig or two of bittersweet in your fresh fall flower arrangements, suggests the Society of American Florists. The vibrant orange and red hues of these berried branches provide a decorative accent in the home.

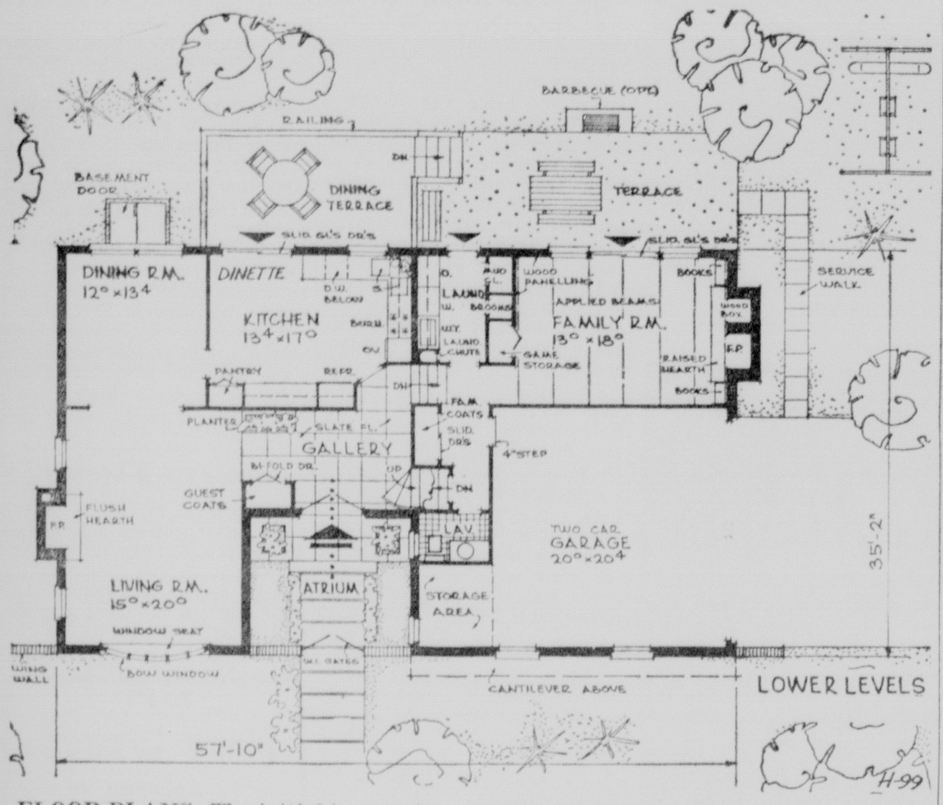
Unusual Entry Enhances Split Level

ATRIUM ENTRY: The open entranceway between the two main structural parts of this split level gives the entire house an interesting and attractive appearance, with the curved brick wall and bowed window providing an extra touch of distinctiveness.



FLOOR PLANS: The initial impression of individuality created by the atrium entrance and large gallery-foyer of Design H-99 is matched by the multiplicity of comfort features throughout the rest of the house, including two fireplaces.

By ANDY LANG

It takes a second look to recognize this house as a split level.

But a split level it is — and with all the economic advantages of a three-level residential structure.

However, it's a split level with a special look of elegance, thanks to an atrium entry, approached through garden gates hung in a curved brick wall. The double front doors are designed with diamond panes in the upper glazed panels. A pair of huge carriage lamps flanks this entrance approach. A sweep of brick 60' long in one plane gives added length to the facade.

Truly an unusual and distinctive exterior!

Upon entering this house, one finds himself in a huge foyer called a gallery by architect Herman H. York. A new general interest in art inspired him to design a foyer area with ample wall space to hang paintings or exhibit sculpture or display souvenirs gathered during travel holidays.

A full study of this architect - designed House of the Week may be obtained by writing THE HOUSE OF THE WEEK, c-o the Monroe Morning World, Monroe, La., and enclosing 50 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing. Please specify House Plan 99.

To the left is the formal living room with a fireplace on the outside long wall. This room is easy to furnish well, for it has a minimum of space lost to traffic. The separate dining room overlooks the rear garden. The kitchen (17' by 13'4") is as large as living rooms in many houses. Here, sliding glass doors in the dinette space give ready access to outside dining and play areas. One such area is a dining deck, raised above the ground with redwood slat flooring and a stairway down to a terrace at grade level. An interesting corner double sink in the kitchen makes use of the corner counter, giving added space on each side.

Next to the kitchen is a laundry complete with space for clothes washer, dryer, laundry tray, clothes chute from the upper level, and mud and broom closets. From this area a door leads directly to the exterior, which incidentally creates a passage to the lavatory near the garage. In addition, we find a huge closet for "family" coats. This is the kind of small but welcome extra one appreciates after having lived in a house. It enables one to come home through the garage and deposit raincoats, overshoes, etc., in a back hall closet. Tradesmen learn to place cleaned clothes in such an area without disturbing the household.

The family room has the warmth associated with a fireplace, which in this case occupies the focal point of interest. Added to this is a large wood box in a brick wall, flanked on each side by built-in bookcases. Another useful item is the closet marked "game storage" for such things as folding chairs and bridge tables. Sliding glass doors lead from the family room to the terrace.

Upstairs are four bedrooms, grouped about a wood-paneled hall with a double lavatory bath serving three of the bedrooms. The laundry chute is reached through the lower part of the bathroom vanity.

In the owners' room, a dressing alcove, walk-in closet, an extra sliding-door closet and a private bath with shower stall make for a comfortable master suite. Note that the owners' bedroom is approached through a double door. Also, the fourth bedroom has been located with an optional feature: doors connecting it to the master bedroom. Should this bedroom become available, it can be used as a den for study or lounging. It could also serve as a nursery, with the connecting door for surveilance over a young child.

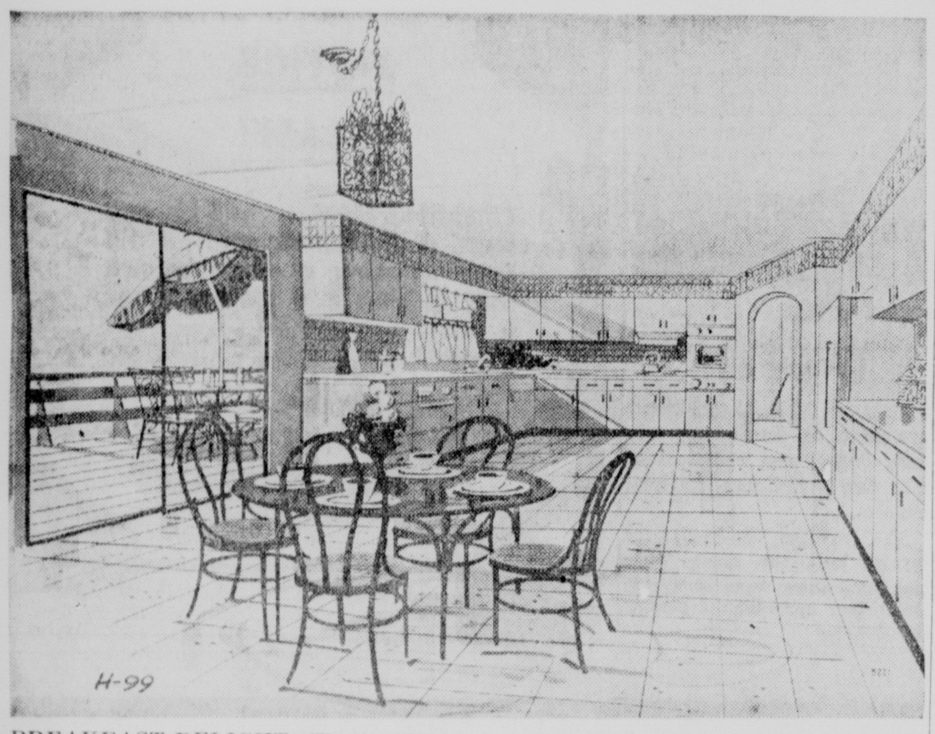
Outside the owners' room, a solar balcony lounge gives opportunity for outdoor sunbathing, with direct access to the bedroom and shower.

There is a cellar under the living room, dining room, kitchen and gallery. The furnace is located in this area.

The two-car garage is shown with doors to the side. Should the property be too narrow to allow this, the doors may be located at the front without seriously affecting the attractiveness of the exterior.

H-99 Statistics

Design H-99 has a living room, dining room, kitchen - dinette, family room, foyer-gallery, two terraces, atrium entrance, two-car garage, laundry area, four bedrooms, solar lounge and two and one-half baths. The habitable area of the two lower levels, not including the garage, is 1314 square feet. The upper level totals 1019 square feet. Over-all dimensions are 57' 10" by 35' 2".



BREAKFAST DELIGHT: That's what eating the morning meal in this pleasant setting could hardly help but being; as an alternative, there's the dining terrace through those sliding glass doors.

Garden Center Notes

Glass Art Is Discussed

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

"Chipped Glass Art", was the subject for last Wednesday's Garden Center program. If you have ever had doubts about this being a real art this idea certainly faded away after having seen this program which featured four outstanding examples of true art. These were made by Mrs. V. S. Garnett, known to her many friends as "Peggy", artistic arranger, master flower show judge, and teacher of handcrafts at the Julia Wossman Recreation Center of Monroe.

The first display consisted of a large panel of clear glass. A radiating design was created from the lower left corner as the rays of the rainbow, all made with colored chips of broken glass which had been glued into place with clear-drying household glue. This large panel was placed upright into a groove which had been cut to size into a large wooden base.

Small metal rods were placed to the back side as a brace in case the glass should sway out of place. The base was finished with a soft gloss of brown oak stain and waxed. Three-tiered candle holders in brass with candles in colors of red, green and gold were placed to the left side of the panel. For a Christmas motif, pine branches were woven through the base of the candle holders curving to the front of the base. Simple yet very effective. For a finishing touch a light was placed behind the panel giving a festive glow to the whole design. If placed before a window the sunlight would create the same effect during the day as sun shining through a chapel window.

A clever idea displayed was the duck decoy which had been covered with colored glass chips in the natural coloring tones of the Mallard duck. This was displayed on a bamboo mat. For further decorating, a piece of driftwood was added to the back of the mat, and also a bottle in amber tones filled with cattails and roadside grasses. To add glamour to the den this design would serve a perfect purpose. Also, being long - lasting for the busy housewife.

Similar to the first design, only in three - tiered panels of narrow glass, placed apart and to the front of each other into fitted grooves of the glossy finished wooden base, the third design was most outstanding. The glass chips blended into tones of green and blue with rows of semi - precious Mexican opals at the upper section of each panel. As a compliment to this design a cluster of green pears with the foliage was placed at the basic part of the panels. The contrast of textures and blends of greens was pleasing. A light was placed behind this design also, showing the beautiful colors of the glass chips and stones. This would add glamour to the Thanksgiving buffet. For other occasions flowers could be used or entire greenery as a compliment. Simple forms and blends of color shiuld be used in all cases because of the elaborate colors and brilliance of the chipped glass.

Butterflies made of heavy net, then covered with the desired colors of glass to form the artistic designs of the different species made a charming accessory to a vertical line design of regal lily pods (sprayed white) and deep brown dock. For a narrow wall space, this would add a modern glamourous touch. The butterflies, glued to narrow wooden stems, were placed in a row to one side of the tall design forming the third line. This was a simple design, yet every decorative as a conversational piece.

Many, many other ideas may be seen in the workshop of Mrs. Garnett at the Julia Wossman Recreation Center. It is interesting to see how many ways the chipped glass is used. It is a very popular art today, yet a very old art that has apparently been revived. Try your hand at new ideas and let us know about them. Maybe we can have another showing real soon.

For details about this art you may contact Mrs. Garnett.

Southern Gardener

Sow Lawns In Early Fall

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT
F. R. H. S.

This is the time to start preparing for your new lawn or to refurbish the old one. Perhaps nothing is more beautiful in the winter landscape here in the South than our lawns of annual rye-grass. There is no reason why we cannot have these lawns to cheer up through the last stages of hot summer in September, but we usually put off planting them till October.

Where winter rye-grass is to be planted in Bermuda, there is a good deal of work to be done on the Bermuda turf before the rye can be planted. If the Bermuda is a thick old lawn, it will be necessary to rake it or disc it two ways in order to get the rye into the ground. Some gardeners scatter rye-grass seed over their Bermuda lawns and then broadcast some rich topsoil over the area. The Bermuda must be kept closely cut until the rye begins to come up. Then the blades should be raised for subsequent fall cutting.

Permanent grass mixtures are best planted in the fall here in the South, and now is the time to prepare for them. It is the long sunny weeks before Chrismas that really establish newly seeded lawns here in the Southern states. Spring sown lawns run into April droughts and high temperatures and must be watered and coddled through-out subsequent drought in summer. Then they must be reseeded in the fall.

As a matter of fact, almost any lawns need some re-seeding in the fall. The best lawns are nearly always re-seeded once a year. Bare spots are worked up and replanted and thin ones seeded and tended until they recover.

In preparing an area for a lawn, the deeper you dig it, the better, but six or eight inches is a minimum depth. If the whole area can be subsoiled first, you will benefit by this operation in future by the fact that deeply subsoiled areas will bring the moisture up from below in times of drought and help the grass. Grass roots will go down deep into the soil, too, and establish a good turf that is resistant to droughts.

There are many places where winter rye can be sown to add its cheerful green to the landscape. In many locations where it it too expensive to grow a permanent lawn, one can enjoy green patches of rye from September till June.

Potted Plant Grooming Due

By AUDREY H. DAWSON
Gardening

It is time for you, Mrs. Gardener, to begin grooming your good potted plants for the Ouachita Valley Fair, Oct. 11-16. Here are a few basic rules which will be of help to you in getting your plants ready for the show. Place the plants in a pot that is in proportion to the plant. A large overpowering pot takes away from the plant, whereas, a small plant does not show up properly. Pots must be clean and attractive. If it is not a decorative pot, be sure to paint the container green.

Remove dead, diseased or any off colored foliage. The foliage must be clean. Dusty foliage cuts down the sheen of the overall plant specimen. All foreign debris in pot or on foliage should be removed.

Do not repot plants just before the fair because there is shock at transplanting. So you better get your plants repotted immediately, if; you plan to exhibit it at the fair.

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, have wood in the landscape such as fences, furniture or any other items, the wood should be treated. The LSU research shows that simple treating methods for wood delays decay for a considerable length of time. A simple treatment as brushing on a coat of preservative will result in longer life wood where it is not in contact with the ground. When the ends of boards can be dipped the life of wood is lengthened much more.

The preservative used at LSU in the tests was Pentachlorophenal (penta) now available in a ready-to-use solution at many paint, hardware or farm supply stores. Penta is toxic to most plants and may be irritating to the skin, thus gloves should be used when applying.

Storage of Food

Mrs. Homemaker, are you aware that canned foods can lose some of their 6 nutritive value if they aren't stored properly? Foods should be stored where the temperature is cool to keep this loss to a minimum.

Canned vegetables, for example, lose up to fifteen per cent of their thiamine when stored for a year at sixty five degrees F. But at eighty degrees this loss increases about twenty five per cent.

Almost more ascorbic acid or vitamin C is lost at high temperatures than low. When stored at eighty degrees, the ascorbic acid content drops as much as twenty-five per cent at sixty five degrees, only ten per cent per year. Carotene is more stable than either vitamin C or thiamine. Losses average only ten per cent at 80.

Now that the older children have started back to school, perhaps you have those preschool youngsters, to get adjusted to life without brother or sister. Have you ever tried making homemade clay for these pre-schoolers. Youngsters from two years of age on up like to play with clay. Just to poke, pound or roll it is a delight for the very young. Playing with clay stimulates their imagination. With a little guidance, these children by age of four are actually creating all kinds of objects. To make the clay at home you mix one cup of flour to one half cup salt and add enough water to make the clay into an easy to handle sort of "play dough." By doubling the recipe you can have enough for several children. You can add color to the homemade clay by adding a few drops of cake coloring. This homemade clay, according to our Family Life Specialist, Alice Teddlie, can be kept without refrigeration for quite some time in an air tight container. If you spread several sheets of newspaper or other protective covering on the table or floor where the homemade clay is used, there will be little disharmony at the clean up period and little Miss or Mr. Pre-school child will be happy for hours playing with the clay made from your kitchen.

A Thought

Don't take yourself too seriously. Don't think that somehow you should be protected from misfortunes, that befall other people.

Two Cool Stars Are Discovered In Sky Survey

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Astrophysicists have found two really "cool" stars, one of them with a surface no hotter than that of the planet Venus.

But if they are true stars like our sun, they may have internal temperatures of more than 25 million degrees Fahrenheit — high enough to start nuclear processes.

The stars, one with a surface temperature of 800 degrees, the other with 1,200 degrees, were discovered in a sky survey made with a new 62-inch telescope at nearby Mt. Wilson Observatory. The telescope is sensitive only to infra-red "heat" waves, not visible light.

Scientists don't know yet whether the stars are very young or very old, or how far away they may be. The cooler one is in the constellation Cygnus, the other in Qaurus. Both are barely visible in large optical telescopes.

The survey is being carried out for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by Dr. Gerry Neugebauer and Dr. Robert Leighton of the California Institute of Technology. Leighton also is chief of the scientific team analyzing photographs of Mars taken by the Mariner 4 spacecraft July 14.

Ten cool stars have been found so far and Neugebauer believes thousands will be detected eventually.

Guide To Good Reading

Library Holiday Over Labor Day

Tomorrow is Labor Day and all branches and Bookmobiles of the Ouachita Parish Public Library will have a holiday. The libraries will reopen on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, but the bookmobiles will not resume operations until September 13. Next Sunday, September 12 the Main Library will again be open on Sunday Afternoons from 2:00 to 5:00. This week there are several new novels to interest our readers. There are two new novels by Frank Slaughter, which is most unusual. However they are very different in type. "Constantine" is the first in Dr. Slaughter's new series called "The Pathway of Faith." In this fictional biography he tells the story of the first Roman Ruler to accept Christianity. It is written in Dr. Slaughter's usual style and will have a ready audience. "The Purple Quest" is a very different book. It is a novel of seafaring life and adventure in the Ancient World and makes Ancient history more understandable.

"The Corridors of Time" by Paul Anderson is another of his fine science - fiction stories which roams from 1827 B. C. through the present into the future. Those who enjoy this type of reading will find it most worthwhile. "The Beloved Invader" by Eugenia Price could have been written as a biography as well as a novel, for it is based almost entirely on fact. It is the story of Anson Green Phelps Dodge, Jr. and St. Simon's Island off the Coast of Georgia. It is also the story of a dedicated man and is one that will inspire the reader. "The 38th Floor" by Clifford Irving is a story of the United Nations and International Politics. It will interest some readers.

Readers of mystery stories will find several new titles to interest them. They are: "The Story-Teller" by Patricia Highsmith, "Relative to Death" by Stanton Forbes; "The Twisted People" by Judson Phillips and "Petrovka 38" by Julian Semyonov.

The book most in demand this week is a book of nonfiction; "A Gift of Prophecy" written by Ruth Montgomery. This is the story of Jeane Dixon, who has made so many prophecies of events which came true. This is a remarkable story and many readers want this book. In building up a library collection we often find old standard works of which we do not have a copy. When this occurs, we order them. A book of this type added this past week is Sir Thomas More's "Utopia."

A new edition of a valuable technical book is "Elements of Radio" 5th edition, written by Abraham and William Marcus. There are two unusual new cookbooks available; "The Art of American Indian Cooking" by Yeffe Kimball and Jean Anderson should be useful to cub scout leaders. "The Ten Minute Gourmet Cookbook" by Yvonne Tarr will be in demand by the working hostess. A very fine addition to the furniture collection is "American Country Furniture, 1780-1875" written by Ralph and Terry Kovel. It is a large beautiful book and is very well-illustrated. An excellent appraisal of the Twentieth Century" has been prepared by Michael Harrington. He calls his book "The Accidental Century" and it is most readable.

A very valuable addition to our literature collection is the reprint of the Seven Volumes of the Southern Review, which were published by the L. S. U. press in the years from 1935 to 1942. We are very happy to have this, because we have had many requests for these volumes. There is a new book in the genealogy collection, which will interest many people in this area. It is called "Links in the Goodlet Chain" and was written by Mrs. Mildred Wilson Goodlett of South Carolina.

Broun Witty About Drama In New Book

A STUDIED MADNESS. By Heywood Hale Broun. Doubleday. $4.95.

Broun has been a ham actor since he was 10. It took another 21 years before he turned pro. On the evidence of this memoir, he could do very well in another hazardous occupation — the writing of humor.

He doesn't employ the sick jokes of the contemporary comic, nor the blackly bitter humor of recent novelists; his wit is free of the venomous sting of Oscar Levant's. Broun is just pleasantly funny, and he has a talent for phrase - making that may have come from his famous writing father, the late Heywood Broun.

Or maybe he and his father developed the knack while they were writing sports. Both of them covered baseball in their salad days.

Colonial History Described Vividly

THE MOST EXTRAORDINARY ADVENTURES OF MAJOR ROBER STOBO. By Robert C. Alberts. Houghton Mifflin. $6.95.

The title is justified. Stobo's exploits were far from ordinary.

Many of them took place during the French and Indian wars. Stobo was a merchant of Scottish descent in Petersburg, Va., when he answered a 1754 call for volunteers and joined an expedition to the western frontier, led by a 22-year-old lieutenant colonel named George Washington.

When a French force compelled the inadequately supported Washington to capitulate at Fort Necessity (which wasn't a fort at all), Stobo was one of two hostages taken to Fort Duquesne (now Pittsburgh). Later he was moved to Quebec, where he was given the liberty of the town, until the French belatedly learned that he had smuggled a map and intellegence report out of Fort Duquesne, sending it to the English colonials.

They considered this act grounds for convicting him of treason, sentenced him to be beheaded, but suspending the sentence. Stobo's third try at escaping from Quebec was successful, and his return to the English lines was a wild series of adventures surpassing fiction; at one point he had a handful of escapees captured a schooner and a sloop. Soon his knowledge of the French situation in Quebec became a valuable element in Wolfe's campaign against Montcalm.

Alberts has been meticulous in his research and has provided scholars with a full account of his sources. But as a fine writer he has avoided the deserts of academic aridity.

Stobo was so much a part of an exciting period of colonial history that his story opens up to the reader a whole vista of those perilous times. History buffs will be intrigued.

Significance In Society Discards

MIDNIGHT COWBOY. By James Leo Herlihy. Simon & Schuster. $4.95.

The theme of this novel is that even a moron can suffer the pains of mortal loneliness — and some day find a kindred soul.

At a time when much fiction is concerned with derelicts, criminals, addicts and freaks, Herlihy seems to have chosen deliberately to outdo everyone else in dipping into the dregs of society, and in depicting them in a background of sexual depravity. But despite the shocking horrors of his material, he manages to create a remarkable pathos.

His hero is big, dumb Joe Buck. Joe had been an illegitimate child, raised in Albuquerque by a careless unfeeling grandmother; a boy no one had loved. At 27 a dishwasher in a cheap Houston restaurant, he finally gets his brain into gear long enough to revolt against the way people use him — and one incident that sends him on his way is a masterpiece of the grotesque.

Joe rigs himself out in a cowboy suit and heads for New York, naively believing an old hag's remark that in the East, rich women will pay him for sleeping with them.

Of course he is fleeced, and dumbly becomes a bum descending to a nauseating level. There is a weird scene among Greenwich Village freaks, and later a violent episode with a horribly pathetic old man.

But there also is Joe's counterpart, Ratso Rizzo. Ratso had become a lone scrounger at 16, and whereas Joe has a lame brain, Ratso has a lame leg. The two misfits discover each other and crawl together through the stinking underworld, blindly struggling toward a rapport that establishes human identity and erases human loneliness.

It seems impossible that a writer could give heroic proportions and mortal significance to such pitiful scraps of human clay, in such a slimy corner of the world. But Herlihy does it with a serious tragic sense and an intense prose style. Read it and shudder; read it and wonder.

Publicity, Suspense In Berlin

THE SCHATTEN AFFAIR. By Frederic Morton. Atheneum. $5.

Morton spins a bright, facile story that engages you.

The scene is Berlin, both West and East. Yet for all its modern connotations, this novel really is the story of a man who falls into the web of a reluctant vampire — a situation that might have arisen in many places and times.

Leon Spey (formerly Speigelglass) arrives in West Berlin to plan a spectacular opening for the latest hotel in a world-wide chain. Leon is a promoter—privately anxious to leave his rat-race profession — who spends months organizing grandiose productions for these openings, each one built around a flashy theme.

This time he thinks he has a theme in the estate of aging Prince Schatten, which happens to be a part of West Berlin, although it is across a bridge in East Germany. Once a haunt for dowdy astristocrats, it has gone to seed; but it still has an aura of past glory, and Leon wants the Prince as a central figure in the hotel opening's pageantry.

STARRING IN THE show, "Clarence, the Cross-eyed Lion" showing at the Eastgate Cinema" are Marshall Thompson and Betsy Drake. The picture will be playing through the week.

CURTAIN CALL

With the inauguration of the Theatre School this fall, the Little Theatre of Monroe takes another giant step forward in its program of community service. Other cities have already pioneered in the field of dramatic education for children with outstanding results. The Casa Manana Playhouse in Fort Worth, described as the nation's largest theatre school for children, has had to expand its curriculum as it begins its fourth year in order to meet the growing demand.

In operation much longer is the Theatre School of the Midland Community Theatre after which ours will be patterned. At this wealthy Texas town, about the same size as Monroe, 150 to 200 young people participate in a most ambitious program which culminates in a summer stock company of and for children.

Why this surge of interest in dramatic activity for youngsters? Not to train a new generation of professional actors and actresses, even though a future Julie Harris or Jason Robards might be discovered this way. It is rather that we live in a period when spoken communication is gaining ascendancy over the written word and when the ability to express oneself clearly, interestingly and persuasively has become one of the most important assets a person needs to acquire.

In the junior division of the Theatre School, covering grades one through five, emphasis will be placed on "creative dramatics" — the development of self-expression, imagination and confidence through informal dramatization of stories and similar means of giving younger children experience in verbal communication and bodily movement.

Students in the junior division will meet at Strauss Playhouse between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. Grades one and two will have a choice of Monday or Tuesday classes, Grades three, four and five a choice of Wednesday or Thursday. Since all classes are limited to 20 students each, late applicants may have to be put on a waiting list if experience elsewhere is any guide.

In the senior division, grades six through 12, young people are ready for training in all the theatrical arts. With basic acting the most important subject, instruction will also include stagecraft and other phases. Through the use of one-act plays and scenes from longer plays, practical experience on stage and backstage will be given all students.

In addition, the Little Theatre plans to increase the number of children's plays offered each year to four or even five. Owing to the need for matching each role to the best talent available, casting will still be done from open try-outs. but Theatre School students should, in the course of time, gain enough proficiency to give them an edge in being considered for many parts in these productions.

The senior division will meet Saturday mornings at Strauss Playhouse, grades six to eight from 9 to 10 a.m. and grades nine -12 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. We wish parents of children eligible for the senior division could observe the Midland young people in action in one of their own productions where they perform all the functions of putting on a show down to manning the box office. The sense of individual and group responsibility developed by the Theatre School is just as significant as the productions themselves. We expect the same to be true here.

We are fortunate to have secured Murray Burfford as director of our Theatre School. In addition to drama education at the graduate level, Murray is herself a talented actress, witness her Winifred in "Once Upon A Mattress." She enjoys and works well with young people, knows how much discipline to combine with exuberance and is achieving a long-nurtured personal ambition in undertaking these classes.

While principal responsibility for the Theatre School will rest on Murray, executive director George Black will take a hand in the instruction from time to time, especially in technical aspects of theatre like stagecraft, lighting and make-up.

Head-On-Crash Kills 4 Persons

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Four persons were killed in a head-on crash on Interstate 5 near the Mexican border Saturday.

The California Highway Patrol said one of the cars was going the wrong way on the border-to-San Diego Freeway.

Killed were Nancy A. Dahlinger, 20, and Phyliss Messina, 21, both of nearby Chula Vista, and John J. Linden, 19, and Gary Hathaway, 21, both sailors from the transport Renville.

Officers said the car driven by Miss Dahlinger was hit by a car driven by Smith Rowe, 28, a sailor on the destroyer Boyd. He was booked on charges of drunken driving and our counts of felony manslaughter.

Officers said they were chasing Rowe driving south in a northbound lane when the accident occurred. He was only injured slightly.

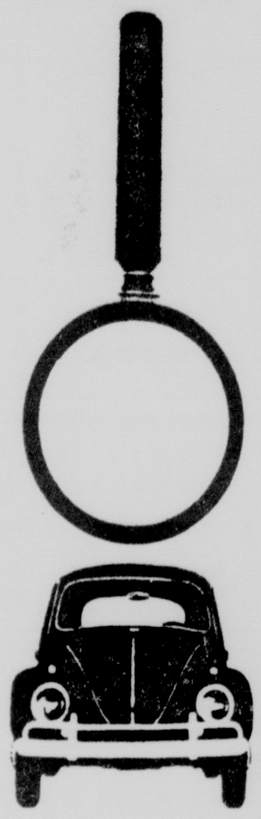
Discover economy at

Lee Edwards, Inc.



That's the Volkswagen sedan. You average 30 miles to the gallon . . . 40,000 miles on the tires. An air - cooled engine that rarely needs oil . . . and never needs water or anti - freeze. It has as standard equipment a built - in heater/defroster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, dual padded sunvisors. And talk about economy . . . the suggested retail price. Gulf Coast P.O.E. is just $1563. All you add is $61.00 for transportation and delivery. And, of course, State taxes.

MIDWEST All-Purpose

Emblem of Quality and Satisfaction

"Fold Down" model Body

Here is a farm body that gives you the profit advantage of bigger payload space and a chance to profit from additional uses you've previously had to pass up. Hinged Stock Racks-light-weight "Swing or Slide" Stock End Gate — "metering" grain gate, lowest possible loading height, kilndried hardwood or all-steel floors, patented steel stakes, all contribute to lower operating costs.

WITH STOCK RACKS DOWN

With Stock Racks folded down and ventilator slats in place body is quickly converted to 37" grain body. Available with or without tandem body hoist.

Come in and see us today.

Secretary Hits Bonanza Through Want Ads!

A San Francisco secretary has completed a month-long "experimental research project" that could make American husbands shudder.

Ann Foley, 25, successfully lived one month without spending a penny in cash — but she ran up nearly $1500 on her credit card. She got her expense-free month by answering a blind classified ad sponsored by a bank that wanted to find out weaknesses of the credit card.

Sunday Sermon

Threefold Church Building Program

By JOHN O. STEWART
First Christian Church
Minister, Monroe

We have recently completed a new building program for our church. In the 17th chapter of Matthew, we have the account of Peter wanting to start a building program on the Mount of Transfiguration. "Let us build three tabernacles" was his suggestion to the Master, after Moses and Elijah has appeared there with Jesus. However, Jesus knew they could not remain on the mountain, but must return to the valley where the people needed them so desperately.

Although Peter was not permitted to follow through on his suggestion of building three tabernacles, let me suggest that we ought to continually be about the business of building three churches.

First Phase

In the first place, let us build a church of worship. Perhaps this, above all else, makes the church unique in function from other organizations. There are times however, when the church has lost sight of this uniqueness, and has emphasized other things of lesser importance.

Some churches are able to boast, "We have an expensive organ and a trained choir." Now, I certainly would not minimize the importance of of good music in worship.

Still other churches may emphasize, "We have a kitchen." Some of the finest fellowship obtainable is to be found around the tables of the church dining halls. New Testament Christians began early to observe the love feast and to partake of the common meal.

Other churches proudly proclaim, "We have a gymnasium or athletic program. We believe in providing healthy Christian recreation."

It is Clarence Tucker Craig who suggests that the church is distinctive from other organizations when it can say, "We have an altar. We have a sanctuary dedicated to worship of God." Of course, no architect can put an altar in any church. Only a sincere worshipping congregation can make the sanctuary into an altar where human lives, not animal sacrifices as in the Old Testament, are dedicated and consecrated to God Almighty and to Jesus Christ, His Son.

Let us build a church of worship!

Second Phase

In the second place, let us build a church of Christian education. It seems strange to us today to realize that just a hundred years ago our forefathers in the faith were arguing about whether it was right to have Sunday Schools or not.

It is heartening to note that large percentage of new converts today come from the Bible School. It is also a known fact that there are few arrests among young people who have been regular in the church and Sunday School.

REV. JOHN O. STEWART

It is heartening to note that the church school buildings and educational units that are being constructed across the country are lovely in their appearance, beautiful in their architectural lines, buildings possessed of grace and usefulness. A small boy was misbehaving in his Sunday school room, which was a dirty, musty old room with cobwebs and rubbish piled about. His teacher reprimanded him and urged him to be reverent. When the boy asked why, she said, "Because this is God's house." The lad philosophized, "Can't God get into some of the craziest places?" Children do form impressions. But thank God that such things are being corrected so that now our youth are impressed with the idea that God's house is the loveliest place in the community, and that those who teach have adequate facilities.

Let us build a church of Christian Education!

Third Phase

The third church which we should build is a church of missions and evangelism. We simply cannot and must not overlook that great commission. We must begin in our Jerusalem, which is Ouachita Parish, but it must not stop there, for the influence must go on out into Judea and Samaria and to the uttermost parts of the world.

Someone has said, "Missions is not an elective; it is a requirement. It is not an option; it is a necessity. It is not a minor; it is a major. The church must expand or die. When the church has abandoned its missionary charter, it has signed its own death warrant, and is no longer the Church of Jesus Christ."

An artist once painted a picture in order to depict his idea of a dying church. He did not portray an old, dilapidated, deserted building.It was a building that was beautiful in all its appointments. In it he showed a vested choir, carpeted floors, wealthy congregation. The added touch which he made that gave the painting the title of "The Dying Church" was the box in the foyer which had a sign on it, "For Missions." Over the opening in which gifts were to be placed, there was a cobweb.

Let us build a church of missions and evangelism. Let us build a church of Christian Education. Let us build a church of worship. Let's build three churches!

Pastors Help In Counseling Of Troubled

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Critics of the Methodist Church's pastoral care and counseling program say it substitutes the couch for the cross. But the program is reaching an ever-swelling stream of the troubled.

Counseling augments rather than competes with psychiatry, says the Rev. James E. Doty, director of the Indiana program, first of its kind.

Answering clerical and lay opposition in the church, the Rev. Mr. Doty says: "If I can help people live better today, the hereafter will be a better experience also."

The Rev. Mr. Doty, who has a Ph.D. in psychology but calls himself a minister first and a psychologist second, has directed the Indiana program since its inception in 1957. It has served as a model for programs in Ohio, the District of Columbia and elsewhere.

The program has three phases — working with ministers on their own problems, training ministers as counselors, and setting up and supervising counseling centers.

It came into being because the Rev. Richard C. Raines, Methodist bishop of Indiana, and his district superintendents felt that their ministers were reluctant to discuss some problems with them and needed a counselor who was not the boss. The first phase was the result. The others followed.

The centers are the phase the public knows. Many persons with problems go to their own minister, but some are reluctant to do so. At a center they are able to talk with a minister from another church.

One center in Indiana in a five-year period devoted 2,682 hours to 697 cases —almost four hours per cas e — involving 893 persons. There were 365 Methodists among those involved, and the next large number — 102 — were persons with no religious affiliation.

Counseling ministers learn their psychology by experience and also by training in special centers such as general hospitals, mental hospitals and psychiatric clinics.

They have the help of experts in a variety of fields. They meet regularly with center committees that include lawyers, teachers, sociologists and others. At committee meetings they bring up problems they have encountered and get a variety of opinions.

Revival Begins At Lakeshore Baptist Church

The Lakeshore Baptist Church will engage in special evangelistic services at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. each day this week through Saturday.

Rev. Jerry Schmucker, pastor of the Pinecroft Baptist Church of Shreveport will be the evangelist.

Harold Taylor, Minister of Music for the Lakeshore Church will direct the music. Special music groups of the church will be featured throughout the week. The nurseries will be staffed for each service.

In preparation for this evangelistic campaign, men of the church have filled a very important role, said Rev. Vester Headrick, pastor. During the past week homes of the congregation have been hosts for prayer meetings led by the following men: Tim Burgess, Perry Crow, Louis Auttonberry Donald Burns, H. P. Monzingo, E. H. Carter, C. O. Price, O. D. Boles, D. R. Brown, Ralph Speer, Frank Francis, Maurice Elahi, J. W. McMorris, Neal Collins, M. C. Wade and Roy Little.

Youth Serve

The church has given special attention to its young people through the years. One of the home prayer meetings each night during the past week has been designated for and led by the youth. Services were conducted by the following: Kirby Price, Becky Avery, Linda Fomby and Mike Simmons.

The older young people will have a very vital part in the revival music. Nine of the college youth have just returned from Baptist Student Week at the Glorieta Baptist Assembly at Glorieta, New Mexico.

All of these will be involved in the music program. They are: Ann Avery, Linda Lawrence, Joan Hutto, Sylvia Harper, Allise Hughes, Ann Rodden, Bill Wood, Thad Mullins and Mike Simmons.

The counselors for the college group were Mr. J. Lester Duncan and Mrs. Marguerite Headrick.

The church is expecting a great spiritual refreshing experience, stated Rev. Headrick, who has been the first and only pastor. The church was constituted in 1954 and is located at Lakeshore and Camellia Drive.

Sermon Is Set By New Pastor

The Rev. G. Preston Brown, who accepted the call of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe and assumed duties Sept. 1, will preach his first sermon at the 11 a.m. worship service today.

Rev. Brown was formerly pastor of the Dixie and Belcher Presbyterian churches, having served this double pastorate the past four years.

Daily Revival Services Begin

Revival services will begin today at the Crew Lake Methodist Church, and continue through Friday, Sept. 10.

The Rev. Allen Reeves Jr. of Loranger Methodist Church Charge, Loranger, La., will be the visiting evangelist.

There will be special music each evening. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Antioch Church Slates Revival

A revival begins today at Antioch Methodist Church on Jonesboro Road with the church pastor, the Rev. Rodney Taylor, conducting services.

Night services only will be held at 7 p.m., ending Friday The public is invited.

Meet Is Held By Chaplains At Pineville

The Board of Hospitals and Homes of the Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Church co-sponsored a workshop with the Central Louisiana State Hospital in Pineville recently, for the Methodist ministers of the Louisiana Conference who are serving as part-time chaplains in the hospitals and homes in their area.

Dr. Arthur L. Seale, superintendent of Central Louisiana State Hospital, gave the welcome to the ministers from the Monroe, Shreveport, Lake Charles, Lafayette and Alexandria Districts.

Chaplain Wayne J. Durham, Jr., senior chaplain at Central Hospital, presided over the workshop. Chaplain Don Wineinger of Glenwood Hospital in West Monroe, presented the film, "A Guide to Hospital Visitation," and led the discussion which followed.

Dr. Forrest Hawkins, supervisor of Clinical Pastoral Education at Central Hospital, presented two interviews in role-playing before lunch. Immediately following lunch there was a panel discussion on the subject of "Dynamics of Inter-personal Relationships." Panelists were Dr. Hawkins; Dr. James W. Loe, clinical director of the hospital; and Mrs. Mary Poe, supervisor of nursing.

Moderator for this period was Chaplain Roland K. Friedrich, Protestant chaplain at Central. After an evaluation period the supervisor of adult education at Central, Turner L. Bowen, conducted a tour of the institution for those attending.

Chaplains representing the Monroe district were: Joe H. Robinson, Joseph A. Way, and Don Wineinger. Others attending were Floyd M. Durham, Frank M. Stage, Jr., Thomas O. Crosby, Jr., Fred O. Shirley, Lonnie M. Sibley, Shreveport; Roy L. Garrett, Lafayette; Woodrow W. Bevill, Houma; E. Lee McKay, Crowley; Dan W. Tohline, Lake Charles; Arby W. Coody, DeRidder; Lillard Bevill, Pollock; Jack H. Crews, Enterprise.

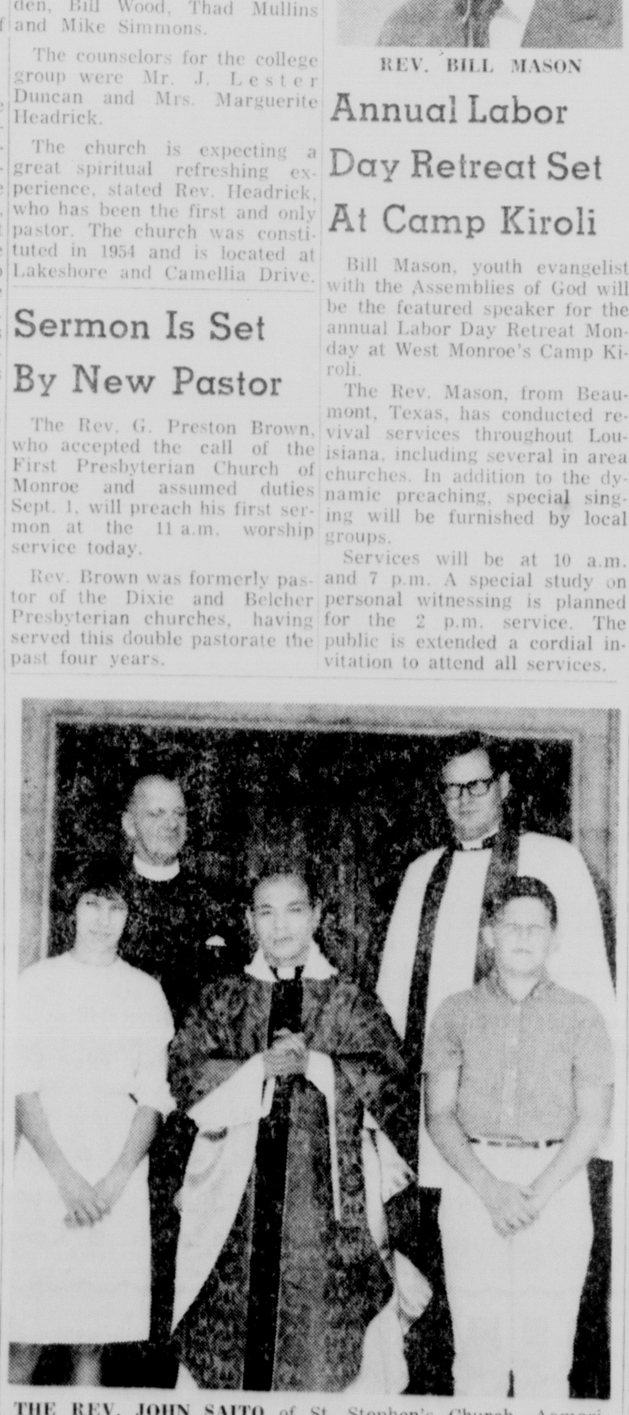
REV. BILL MASON

Annual Labor Day Retreat Set At Camp Kiroli

Bill Mason, youth evangelist with the Assemblies of God will be the featured speaker for the annual Labor Day Retreat Monday at West Monroe's Camp Kiroli.

The Rev. Mason, from Beaumont, Texas, has conducted revival services throughout Louisiana, including several in area churches. In addition to the dynamic preaching, special singing will be furnished by local groups.

Services will be at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. A special study on personal witnessing is planned for the 2 p.m. service. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend all services.



THE REV. JOHN SAITO of St. Stephen's Church, Aomori, Japan visited and conducted services at Grace Episcopal Church this past Wednesday. In July the Rev. William E. Baldridge, curate, Grace Church preached at St. Stephen's, Aomori, Japan and at St. Michael's Church, at a leper colony near Aomori. Pictured first row on either side of the Rev. Saito are Katherine Smith and Stephen Hazel of West Monroe, who attended Episcopal Church Camp near Pollock, where Rev. Saito was lecturer and counselor. Back row: the Rev. W. B. Trimble, rector Grace Church, and the Rev. William Baldridge.

Church Bell-Ringing Choir For Youths Here Popular

By DIANE TAYLOR
World Staff Writer

In addition to heralding crisp, fall weather, football games, and worrying over report cards, the opening of school also brings stepped-up youth activities in many churches about the Twin Cities, one of which is the Noel Bell Choir of the First Methodist Church of Monroe.

The bell-ringing choir of the local church was begun back in 1963 after church members became enthusiastic over a visit of the Wesleyan Bell Ringers of the First Methodist Church of Lake Charles. Members nodded approval of the group and asked, "Why couldn't we have such a group here?"

One church member did not merely ask questions, she began to organize and make plans. It wasn't long before Mrs. Irvie Lee Temple, choir director for four different groups at First Methodist, had secured bells, sheet music and willing youngsters. Then came the long, tiresome hours of practicing which have paid off in the form of wide popularity for the group.

The bell ensemble, composed of eight of the more skillful members of the choir, has received superior ratings at solo and district festivals at Louisiana Tech and at Northeast Louisiana State College and earned a superior rating at the State Music Festival held at Lafayette in 1964.

Organized to perform during worship services of the First Methodist Church, the group has performed publicly about the Twin Cities frequently, accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Zeagler, church organist.

"We have many talented musicians in our church who are in the in-between age when their voices are not a help to our Chancel Choir," said Mrs. Temple, director of the group, "and these are the youngsters which we use in the bell choir."

"Bell ringing is not simple," she said, adding that the choir plays many different pieces.

"But we have found that bells add more inspiration to a hymn, and we have worked hard to perfect our sounds. The youngsters we have," she said, "are just wonderful in giving of their time to make our practice sessions pay off."

"We have found the skill and complete uniqueness of this field of music more challenging than choral work."

Mrs. Temple said that the choir enjoys giving concerts away from home and that in 1966, their chief aim is to attend the regional festival of the American Guild of Handbell Ringers.

A group of new bells has been ordered, a fact in which the choir members show great pride. The three new bells, scheduled to arrive around Christmas time, are products of Whitechapel Foundry in London, England, an organization which was set up in 1570. The new set will be a three-octave, with a low G and a low C, each weighing close to ten pounds.

The bells which the choir uses are, thus far, all American-made bells from the David Workman Foundry. The tone which is produced from each instrument is sharp and rolling, sweetened with a piece of felt attached to the clapper of the bell. A twist of the wrist in an upward swing is the technique required to produce the proper sound from the bells used by the Noel Bell Choir.

There are many around the church who are quick to tell you that bell ringing should be put back into the worship program of our churches. The music program of the church is enhanced, they say, and so is the atmosphere of reverence when the beautiful tradition of bell ringing is present.

Mrs. Temple said she had the immediate approval of the church pastor, Rev. George W. Harbuck, upon suggesting that the bell choir be allowed to travel. The members themselves have set harsh rules governing their practice sessions to insure perfection during performances. Young people from 12 to 16 years, in junior high and high school, are eligible for the choir, and a basic knowledge of music is required.

When the group first began to practice, they had the aid of the choir which inspired them — the Wesleyan Bell Ringers from Lake Charles. After the initial lesson, Mrs. Temple said, their successes came by trial and error. "We found our own techniques," she said, "and even had to start out by arranging some of our own bell choir music. Most of the popular music we've done for civic groups and for church dinner entertainment, we've had to arrange ourselves."

Contrary to some musicians beliefs, some of the catchy tunes played by the choir are not so easy to play. The choir has in its repertory jazz, ballads and current hit tunes which are arranged with different instruments such as the flute, trumpet, drums, piano, guitar, etc.

The choir branched out during the past season and used bongos in a Jamaican piece.

The church's music program is under the directorship of Dr. Wilford Smith of the NLSC music faculty. He has been credited with a large amount of the group's success, due to his encouragement in choir activities.

Strangely enough, bell ringing was taken from the church program in recent years and was put in vaudeville. Mrs. Temple said she is helping her choir members to prove that vaudeville is not the place for such a charming tradition.

Those in the choir at present include eight members of the ensemble and five others. Ensemble members include Freddy Zeagler, Danny Hill, Virginia Harkey, George Temple, Kerry Bruce, Fran Harbuck, Carolyn Pumphrey and Claire White.

REV. PAUL H. PALSER

Missions Rally Set At Church In West Monroe

Rev. and Mrs. Paul H. Palser, missionaries to British Guiana, will be featured in a special missions rally Sept. 8, at the First Assemblies of God Church, Cypress and Crosley Sts., West Monroe.

Rev. Palser and his family went to British Guiana in 1960. During the last five years he has worked in the British Guiana Bible School at Georgetown. He pastored a church with an average Sunday school attendance of over 1,000 and also initiated and served as speaker for a daily radio broadcast called, "Christ is the Answer."

In preparation for missionary service Rev. Palser attended Southwestern Bible Institute, Waxahachie, Texas. He and his wife have pastored in Louisiana and engaged in an evangelistic ministry in Nebraska and Arkansas.

The Wednesday service, which begins at 7 p.m., will feature special music, pictures, and a display of curios. Rev. Fred D. Wall, pastor, extended an invitation to the public to hear the Rev. Palser.

Homecoming Set At Swartz Baptist Church

The Swartz First Baptist Church will observe homecoming day on Sunday, Sept. 12th.

Activities of the day will include all of the regular periods of teaching and training. The worship services will be at 10:55 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Special activities will include sharing of the noon-day meal at the church. All those who can and will are urged to bring their lunch to the church and to participate in the fellowship.

Also, during the afternoon there will be special services beginning at 1 p.m. A former pastor, Rev. Herbert Johnson, who is now pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church in Ruston, will bring the main message of the afternoon.

All former pastors and members, as well as friends, are cordially extended an invitation to join in observance of this day during all or some part of the day, said Thurman F. Davis, pastor.

Guild Meet Set

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church of Monroe will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the church for a business meeting and program, Mrs. A. B. Potter, president, announced.

12 Vets For 11th Holstead Season

By N. A. "BOB" WHITE
Sports Editor, Madison Journal

TALLULAH (Special) — R. A. "racer" Holstead started his eleventh season as head coach at Tallulah High School with 38 boys reporting for the first Trojan workouts that had been expected to pull at least 54.

Of the lot reporting, 12 are returning lettermen and only three were starters on last year's team that reached the semi - finals of the state Class A championship playoffs.

Trojan coaches Holstead, Martin Verhagen and Issac Crothers are faced with a major task in rebuilding their team to replace such standouts as Tony Russell, 205 - pound all - state guard who was voted Louisiana's most outstanding lineman in Class A football last year, and all-state end Don Morton who handled all the Trojans' extra point and kickoff chores in addition to fine work at his terminal.

Another place hard to fill will be that of Billy Wayne Laird at quarterback. He completed 93 of 192 passes for 1,347 yards and 16 TD's and showed a total offense of 1,923 yards last season. He also punted 21 times for a 41.2 kicking average.

Other boys missed are David Godfrey, end; Sammy Holloway, tackle; Donald Lee, center; Bobby Todd, wingback; Ed Lee, halfback, and Mike Luckett, fullback.

Coach Holstead is striving to build another winner around big Wayne Deckard, 230-pound tackle; "Woody" Cagnolatti, speed 170 - pound halfback, and Terry Russell, a brother of Tony, who lettered as a guard last fall but sees duty at fullback this year. Terry hits the scales at 190.

Boys in addition to Deckard, Cagnolatti and Russell who earned their letters and hope to come through again for 1965 include Donny Neumann and Johnny Peters, ends; Perry Williams, tackle; Tommy Dunning, tackle; Vernon Thomas and Gene Crawford guards; Wayne Williamson, center; Doug Lewis, halfback, and Jackie Varner, wingback.

Others expected to help are Gary Copes, Joey Strickland, Cleve Mathis, Sonny Hart, Mike Farlow and David Williams, ends; Larry Walters Joe Massey, Charles Mathis, Ronnie Bedgood, Marvin Cooper, Walter Cobb and Freddie Gaumnitz, tackles; Roy Whitaker, Bill Goss, Jerry Moffett, Muriel Deckard, Thomas Russell and Bobby Melton, guards.

Mike Malone, Johnny Nolan and Kalan Ray, centers; Johnny Mills, Jay Bailey, Ralph Watson and Sid Bailey, quarterbacks; Bobby Davidson, Tommy Yee, Benny White and Ken Elledge, halfbacks; Donald Williams, Eddie Mills, Billy Paxton, Billy Thornton and Danny Beard, wingbacks; Johnny Seymour, Jerry Copes and James Thompson, fullbacks.

A new lighting system has been constructed at Legion Field, home of the Trojans, with six steel poles topped by quartz lights, which, it is reported, will give Tallulah the best lighted field in northeast Louisiana. A new paint job has added color to the stadium that promises Tallulah fans some fine football this season.

The Trojans open the season at home Friday with Cooper of Vicksburg, Miss. Following home games will be Newellton, Sept. 17; Vidalia, Oct. 8; Lake Providence, Oct. 22; LaSalle, Oct. 29; Ferriday, Nov. 12.

On the road, Tallulah plays Caldwell at Columbia, Sept. 24; Oak Grove, Oct. 1; Rayville, Oct. 15; Winnsboro, Nov. 5, and Delhi, Nov. 19.

About Cover

ABOUT THE COVER — Football fans, anticipating a big year in the Twin Cities will be seeing a lot of the football player and four cheerleaders featured on the front page of this section this year. The football player is Alton Thomas, Northeast Louisiana State College quarterback, who is expected to see a lot of action this fall. The cheerleaders are from four high schools in the Twin Cities. They are from left to right Sherry Dickenhorst, Neville; Marsha Johnson, St. Fredrick's; Leslie Leath, Ouachita, and Margie Adams, West Monroe.

Simons Heads 'Backs' Again

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Claude (Monk) Simons was re-elected chairman of the New Orleans Quarterback Club at a board of directors meeting Monday.

The club will hold the first meeting of the current football season Sept. 13. Tulane Coach Tommy O'Boyle and Louisiana State University Coach Charles McClendon will address the meeting.

Others elected included Richard O. Baumbach, secretary; and Ed Gaudet, treasurer.

'RACER' HOLSTEAD enters his eleventh season as head coach at Tallulah High. He was one-time star for "Hoss" Garrett's Ruston High machine.

Wossman Slates Sub-Varsity Fare

By KEITH PRINCE

Wossman High School, still two years away from having its first graduating class, will play a junior varisty and freshman football schedule this fall.

Head coach Willie Ragan and assistant Delmas Thorne have an eight-game card lined up for its sophomore junior varsity club while the frosh are slated to play seven games.

Although the bond has been passed and the architect's drawings made, it is still uncertain just when Monroe's newest high school will be open to its students. Tentative plans are for it to be in operation by the next school year but there is a strong possibility it won't be in operation until 1967 — the year this year's sophomores and freshmen on man's first graduating class.

Until the new school is completed all the students will hold classes at Jefferson Junior High.

If it does work out that 1967 is the first year of operation, Wossman is likely to have an outstanding first - year senior group.

Expected to be either a class A or AA school, Wossman appears to have a fine group of sophomores and freshmen on hand now. Last year's frosh club compiled a 6-2 record and most of the boys have returned.

And Coach Ragan reports that this year's freshmen have indicated in early workouts that they mean business, too.

There were 21 sophomores and 13 freshmen on hand for workouts before school began, however it was expected that a few more would come out the first week of school.

Although it is still too early for a true indication, there can be no doubt from talking with Ragan that the coaches are pleased with the showing of all the youngsters.

"We feel there are some real good athletes in both groups," Ragan said, "and if they stay together we plan on having a fine varsity team in a couple of years.

"Last year's freshmen had a fine season and if our sophomores can compete on an even basis with the teams it plays this year we will feel like we've had a most successful season," the young coach said, referring to the fact that his 10th graders will be up against juniors with their "B" team schedule.

Facing their first "B" game Sept. 9, it is probable Wossman's sophomore lineup will look something like this: ends Paul Darden and Mike Ellerbe, tackles Ricky Dulaney and David Graves, guards Bennie Norris and Ronnie Duffey, center Larry Roper, quarterback Dana Murray, halfbacks Glen Moore and Mike Vallery and fullback Rodney Willis.

Darden, Norris, Moore, Willis and Duffey are all 160-pounds or better while Dulaney, Graves, and Ellerbe weigh in at 150 or more.

Other sophomores on the club — and all who will probably see considerable action — include tackles Kenny Barrington and John Posey, ends Butch Wallace, Dennis Irvin and Pat Ramsey, guards Henry Harris and Larry Belton, and halfbacks Danny Warner, Richard Morgan and Scott Boyett.

As for the freshmen, who open their season Sept. 14, it is still uncertain what the probable starting eleven will look alike. Standouts so far have been quarterback Lee Baxter (5-7, 150), halfback Larry Deville (5-11, 170) and guard Jim Morrison (5-6, 150).

The remainder of the team includes end Howard Reese, tackles Kyle Solomon and Tom McMath, guard Mike Dispenza, center Dewight Sledge fullback Randy Statham and halfbacks Willie Willard, Tom Walters, Russell Evans and Roger Smith.

Following is the schedule for both teams:

"B"Team

Sept. 9, St. Frederick there, 7:30; Sept. 13, Lake Providence "B" there, 6:30; Sept. 23, St. Frederick here, 7:00; Oct. 7, Mangham "B" there; Oct. 12, Mangham "B" here, 7:00; Oct. 25, Oak Grove "B" there, 7:00; Oct. 29, Lake Providence "B" here, 7:00, Nov. 8, Oak Grove "B" here, 6:30.

BENNIS NORRIS is a sophomore guard for Wossman Wildcats. The 160-pounder also serves as linebacker.

Jena Line Good, Backs Want Zip

By ROBERT C. WAGNER
Editor, The Jena Times

JENA (Special) — "An improved line and a question mark in the backfield," is the way head coach Dan Andrews assesses his 1965 Jena Giant squad as he begins his second year piloting the fortunes of his high school alma mater.

Andrews took the reins last year and guided the team to a 3-7-1 record.

The Giants could show well and improve on their '64 record if inexperienced backs develop early.

Gone from the lineup are halfbacks Joe Ganey and Sonny Walpole, who carried the brunt of the Giant offense a year ago.

Backfield experience resides in quarterback Chris Tarver, halfback Raymond Nicholson and defensive halfback Gary Don Moseley. Andrews is depending on these three plus fullbacks Ricky Norris, a junior, and Gene Wilbanks, a sophomore, along with sophomore halfbacks Paul Zollar, Jim Brooks, Colon Cannon, Ronny Moseley and senior Mike Whitten to fill the ranks and provide some much-needed zip in the backfield.

Returning for another campaign in the line are starters Keith Tarver at center, Guy Campbell at right guard, Bob Wallace at right tackle, Bill Williams at defensive end and Juney Fowler at defensive guard. All are seniors. Other Lettermen who will lend experience are Jim Bob Owens, Donnie Jones and Buddy Nix. A new transfer team member who is looking good is junior guard Bruce Massey.

Other squad members are Skipper, Carlos Henley, Roger Lucas, M. B. Steen, Mack Fowler, Robert Sandifer, Richard Barrett, Laddie Buckhalter, Steve Sanders, Larry Floyd, Jimmy Hodges, Kenny Williams, Bo McCartney, Robert Richardson, Roy Taylor, Johnny Hutchins and Bob Fowler.

Andrews, with assistants Willie Eldridge, Bobby Day and Billy Fowler, has been holding two-a-day practice sessions in preparation for the season opener on the home field Sept. 10 hosting traditional parish rival LaSalle of Olla.

The Giants face a 10-game schedule with no open dates and five district 3-AA conference tilts.

The schedule:

Sept. 10—LaSalle, here.

Sept. 17—Homer, here.

Sept. 24—Ferriday, there, district.

Oct. 1—Delhi, here.

Oct. 8—Natchitoches, here, district.

Oct. 15—Block at Jonesville.

Oct. 22—Leesville, there, district.

Oct. 29—Tioga, here, district.

Nov. 5—Menard at Alexandria, district.

Nov. 12—Winnfield, there.

A CONSISTENT LEAGUE

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Each of the top four finishers in the Big Eight Football Conference last season lost to the team immediately below it in the final standings.

Nebrask's champions lost 17-7 to Oklahoma which lost 15-14 to Kansas. Kansas lost 34-24 to Missouri which was beaten 10-7 by Oklahoma State.

Louisiana Tech's Problems Must Be Solved For Winner

By PETE DOSHER

RUSTON — Louisiana Tech, picked to repeat as Gulf States Conference football champions, will have to overcome some problems if the Bulldogs are to climb into the throne room again.

Despite 26 lettermen available for duty, there are several areas where rookies and inexperienced returnees will have to produce if the Canines are going to come anywhere close to matching last year's 9-1 record and unblemished mark in GSC play.

The club suffered a blow when outstanding defensive line coach George Doherty had a heart attack and will miss most, if not all of the campaign. The problem of extra coaching help for field work hasn't been solved as yet.

There are other practice problems, too. One practice field will soon contain a new cafeteria and the other adjoins it where construction noises will prevail.

Tech's opener is Sept. 18 against Rice University at Houston.

Actual combat will show whether outstanding linebacker Bob McKinnon, Junction City junior, has recovered from a knee operation. The injury plague struck early, with junior halfback standout Alden Reeves of Jonesbor-Hodge nursing a broken arm and is on the doubtful list for early action.

The shuffle in personnel necessary because of rule changes has not been solved either. While the trend is toward offensive and defensive platoons, Tech, like most other teams, has some performers equally adept at offense and defense.

"It is the usual thing. No matter how enthusiastic we are as the season approaches we look at the bleaker things. We are not being pessimistic but we do have numerous problems," Tech Coach Joe Aillet said.

Heading the list of returnees are the three tri-captains, all three-year lettermen, including quarterback Billy Laird, end Wayne Davis, and fullback Gerald McDowell.

Laird was the standout passer, Davis his favorite receiver, and McDowell was the club's top running back. Laird is expected to get help this year from freshman Phil Robertson, who was withheld from competition last season but who was impressive in the spring.

The halfback stock took a dip when two-year letterman Alden Reeves of Jonesboro-Hodge broke an arm but he should be ready at least early in the season. Other veterans there include John Wurzburger, Robert Brunet, and Eddie Taylor.

Experienced flanker backs include Tommy Robertson and Jimmy Jones. Other prospects include freshmen Butch Daniels of Cotton Valley and Ken Liberto of Shreveport Woodlawn.

Three lettermen fullbacks include McDowell, soph Richie Golmon of Bolton of Alexandria and junior Tommy Linder of Shreveport Woodlawn. Lynn Cavanaugh of Pineville, a freshman, also rates highly at this post.

The pivot post should be in good hands with junior standout Paul Clark of Shreveport Woodlawn and soph Joe Peace of Sicily Island heading the list. Jim Willis of Monroe has switched to center and Joe Crump of Haynesville and Steve Fremin of Delcambre are redshirts. Alan Weatherford of Sulphur is a topnotch frosh prospect.

Junior Bob McKinnon of Junction City and junior Corky Cassity of Shreveport Fair Park are the only lettermen at guard and they both were hampered by injuries last year. Freshmen Glenn Murphy of Bastrop and Jesse Carrigan of Shreveport Fair Park were running with the first unit in spring drills.

Dickie Walden of Shreveport Fair Park, a senior, has switched to guard from tackle. Other candidates include Jim Towns of Minden, Aubrey Futrell of Jonesboro, Steve Hearod of Bossier City, Mike Mowad of Oakdale, Buster Erwin of Tallulah, Wayne Williams of Minden and John Harper of Lafayette.

Six monogram winners appear at tackle. They are Claude Carrigan of Shreveport Fair Park, Dan Irby of Bastrop, Wayne Gray of North Caddo, Bill McBunch of Baton Rouge, James Boudreaux of Plaquemine, and Wayne Mathews of Springhill, who played guard last fall. Gene Smith of Logansport, Robert Harper of Jonesboro, and Terry Turner of Shreveport are other candidates.

Three lettermen return at end include Speedy Campbell of Sulphur, Maurice Greer of Vidalia, and Wayne Davis of Shreveport Woodlawn. Others are Walter Causey of Monroe Neville, Ed Walker of Shreveport Woodlawn, Morris Funderburg of Bastrop, Jerry Wilson of Tallulah, Dan Crawford of West Monroe, Ron Brown of Minden, and Tommy Dunbar of Pineville.

Other backfield candidates are Jim Stringer of Vidalia, Tom Croft, Butch Troegel of Shreveport Fair Park, Ted Ward of Haughton, Buzz Clark of Lake Charles, Jeb Blake of Sulphur, Claude Williams of Delhi, and Larry Stephens of Shreveport Woodlawn.

The Techsters lost 11 off the 1964 team that compiled the 9-1 record. Ace punter David Lee, now with the Cleveland Browns, is one missing as well as tackle Robert Malone, now with the Boston Patriots. Three ends, Lee, Pat Lynch and Bob Jolet, were among the graduates.

Wisner Asks Aid For 9 Good Men

WISNER (Special) — Success of the Wisner Bulldogs this year will depend greatly on how quickly team candidates develope to support the lean squad of only nine lettermen as Coach W. E. Hoggatt gets his charges ready for the 3-B campaign.

The team that won four and lost six last year has to replace the talents of halfback Tommy Ensminger and Linden Greenberry, tackles Gene Pickering and Sam King and center Joe Pike, and will be able to turn out an apparently good first team.

Lettermen returned are quarterback Darell Beach, 145; halfbacks Dale Clark, 145, and Eric Hoggatt, 165; fullback Bobby Dampier, 190; end Henry Beach, 160; tackles Lloyd D. Campbell, 190, and Billy Rayborn, 185; guard Buddy Ferguson, 160, and center Carl Shipp, 160.

That development of strength in depth will come from a squad that includes squadmen back from last year — end Phillip Beach, center David Roach, guards Riley Graham, Johnny Ferrington, Russell Tibbs and Larry Bailey, tackles Danny Dampier and Douglas Nichols.

Newellton Having Year Of Building

By E. A. (Jack) POE

NEWELLTON (Special) — Someone was recently overheard to say that there was sure a lot of building going on around Newellton. Of course they were referring to homes, but it could very well have meant the football team at Newellton High School for 1965.

Coach Jerry Head, beginning his third season as "Papa Bear" in the Den of the Bears, has that far-away look in his eyes these days - the look of a Master Architect planning for the future.

But there really isn't very much that Coach Head and chief assistant Hardy Palmer can say that would brighten the spirits of the local football fan for 1965. At the end of the 1964 season the Bruins carried a roster of 38 young men. Most of these had also been around a year earlier when the local eleven took the district 3-B title and made it all the way to the state playoff only to fall to Lockport. But this roster included 18 Seniors, each one a letterman. And 16 of these guys were listed in the "starting eleven". Also included in that same group was two-time all-state fullback Edwin Preis who has now joined the ranks of the University of Southwestern Louisiana and all-district players Danny Cannon (end), Ernie Sikes (tackle) and Larry Foster (guard).

Then there was halfback Paul Williams who carried 113 times for a average of 4.6 yards during the 1964 season (and he missed the last two games due to injuries). Injuries during the 1964 season did keep that team in a jumbled state, although they came through with eight wins and two losses (Tallulah 28-7 and Sicily Island 21-0). One old-timer and former player on the Newellton team in the late thirties has stated that this team should be a team the local fans can enjoy watching. As he puts it - "We won't really be expecting very much."

It would be very difficult to discuss personnel this early in a new season. There really isn't very much to discuss.

Five members of the squad played enough last season to win a letter (coach Head does substitute freely when he gets one point ahead in a game). They are Carlos Glass, the only returning starter (defensive guard), Clyde Arnold (tackle), James Byrd, Rick Barfield and Fritz Ziegler (backs). Byrd will probably draw the quarterback assignment this season.

These are all seniors now and they have some support from classmates Bobby Lee and Lynn Vines.

Returning juniors who also saw some action last season are Frank Burnside, Bill Colvin (6-2 and 220 pounds of muscle), Steve Muckelrath, Larry Sikes and Darrell Williams. Burnside will probably get a starting berth at guard while Colvin is lined up at tackle, Sikes at center and Muckelrath and Williams in the backfield.

Moving up as sophomores this year are Buz Bradley, Wyn Blanche, Charles Campbell, Kirk Crane, Alan Doyle, Johnny Graves, Bill Guthrie, Grady Humphries, Harvey Patton, Phil Preis, Keith Prince and Frank Roberts.

Then there is the usual array of freshmen and newcomers in the higher classes. We can see a lot of glory ahead for some of the fine material in the lower ranks of this 1965 team-but it won't come this year. They don't have the size, experience or real honest - to - goodness desire to match the opponents they will be facing in district 3-B.

Davidson of St. Joseph, along with Sicily Island and Wisner, should be the strong ones to contend with. Crowville appears a little uncertain. Waterproof and Newellton don't appear ready.

Oak Grove Wants Another Surprise

OAK GROVE (Special) — Woody Boyles, Tiger mentor at Oak Grove High School, is putting in a new lighting system for 1965. The reason — to get out of the dark.

Says Boyles, "I don't know what we've got; I'm in the dark. Last year's team looked like a five-game winner and wound up 12-2 in the class A state finals. The 1965 team may be a deceiving group, also."

Oak Grove is not mourning the loss of all-state halfback Mike Gammill, all-state fullback Mickey Broadway, nor tackle Roger Bowman but, they are not easily replaced.

At left halfback, senior Gary Vanderberg and junior David Butler, two 170-pound speedsters should provide the Tigers with a good outside threat. Junior Harvey Hemphill, who scored 38 points last year, will step into the fullback shoes. He will be capably challenged by sophomore John Posey and junior Gene O'Neal.

The right halfback post will feature senior Tommy Smith and sophomore Carl Hemphill backed by junior transfer Roy Carruthers.

Rounding out the backfield will be the most experienced quarterback in the league, senior, Jim Boyles, all-stater in 1963. He will be backed by junior Donald Ray Hurley, who will alternate at split end. Several other ambitious freshmen should give Oak Grove a competitive backfield.

If "'it's whats up front that counts," the Tigers know little about how they will measure up. Generally lack of experience and age is the line problem.

Junior Don Parker, 180, who served capably last year, will go at center with senior Mickey Kennedy. Two fireplug type guards will return, senior Kokomo Smith, 170, and senior Bruce Golson, 145, Larry Sanches, 150, senior and defensive starter, will halp out at both guards. Challenging for playing time are junior Ronald Bowman, frosh Steve Calhoun, sophomores Joe Chrisman and Nathan Putman.

Junior Robert "Choker" Johanson, tackle, will weigh in at 155, but he did the job at 140 as a sophomore, so he is considered solid. He will be backed by sophomore Calvin Beason. At right tackle will be two new boys, junior James Jarnevic, 165, and sophomore Robert Butler, 190. Butler is an exceptional 14-year-old.

At ends, 142-pound Mike Pollard will go at right. He will be supported by newcomer junior Rodger Phillips. Going for left end will be junior Robert Carnahan and sophomores Gramby Jones and Fred Philley.

Several players will vie for defensive line positions, junior Lindy Lingo, sophomore John Walters, and seniors Larry Head and Buddy May.

Neville Experience Short, But Squad Long On Morale

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

"This team has as high morale as any group I can remember."

That statement, made by head football coach Charlie Brown, is the best summation of the 1965 grid outlook for Neville's fighting Tigers, for they will indeed depend upon morale to compensate for other shortages.

The Tigers face a football slate that Brown terms without hesitation, "the roughest schedule in the history of the school." Neville will meet eight triple - A teams this season, the most it has ever encountered.

Black and gold uniforms will be donned by a young, inexperienced team that Brown says must improve with each ball game in order to face the rough schedule.

Graduation snatched the entire 1964 starting offensive team from Tigerland, leaving only six lettermen on the entire squad. Gone are such standouts as Robert McSherry, who was signed to an athletic scholarship by Louisiana State University, Ronnie DeMoss, also with LSU, Kenny Cobb, Bobby Robinson, Ronnie Clark and 12 others.

Last year's team, Neville's first to compete with a triple-A standing, surprised many area grid patrons by cracking heads with tough opposition, and finally butting its way to an impressive 8 - 2 record.

Brown says that what this year's team lacks in size and experience, they are making up with an excellent attitude and spirit. The Tigers have only three linemen listed as weighing over 170 lbs.

Small Neville teams are not unusual, and Tigers in the past have generally been noted more for speed than size. Teams facing Neville through the years will probably testify that a lack of size has never kept a Tiger from hitting hard.

Monty Moncrief, a returning letterman although not listed as a regular last year, is the only Tiger back to tip the scales at the 175 mark. The 1965 Neville grid edition is about the same size as last year's squad.

Quarterback Doug Cookston, the only two - year letterman on the squad, could be a key figure in the offensive rebuilding program which the Tigers are undertaking. Cookston, like Moncrief, was not listed as a regular last year.

Brown says that he has planned no new offensive wrinkles for the upcoming season. Competition is heavy for every position on the team, according to Brown. The Tiger mentor added that Neville will have to be able to pass in order to compliment their running game.

Neville will continue to employ the scramble block in certain play situation, just as they have for several years. The scramble block has been used successfully by several college teams, and was installed at Northeast State last year under Dixie White.

The scramble block is designed to offset the difference in size between a large defender and a smaller offensive man. The smaller offensive player attempts to make contact and keep contact with his opponent while "scrambling" on all fours. This type of block doesn't require that the defender be knocked to the ground, but merely that he be delayed and kept from the area of the play for a few seconds.

Tragedy struck the Tiger team last Monday when Cecil Day was fatally injured in a shooting accident. Young Day, a junior at the Monroe school, was slated by Brown as a probable starter on the defensive unit.

The probable starting lineup of the Chick Childress - coached defensive unit will include Steve Smith, 166, junior at middle guard; Murray Salinas, 209, senior, at tackle; Mike Clay, 160, junior, and Charles Freeman, 157, junior, at ends; and David Hochstetler, 146, junior, cornerback. The other defensive spots will be filled by players who also play on offense.

The Tigers' schedule has them closing out the season with Bossier City, Byrd, and Woodlawn, perennial triple-A powers, followed by Ouachita and West Monroe.

Having the roughest part of their schedule at the last of the season could be a blessing for the Tigers. Neville opens the season Friday with Ferriday, followed by Bastrop, Fair Park, Airline and Ruston.

If the Tigers can gain experience and tuck some victories under their belts by squeezing through the first half of the season, they may be able to meet the Shreveport powerhouses on more even terms.

Neville meets Byrd and Woodlawn here in Monroe and that also could be to the Tiger's advantage. Neville fans have been noted for their emphatic backing of the Tigers.

Time is the key to Neville's football fortunes this year. The Tigers need time to gain experience.

DOUG COOKSTON, 145-pounder, handles quarterback chores for Neville Tigers.

Inexperience Big Problem At Delhi

By PAUL LIPE

DELHI (Special) — The football fortunes of the Delhi Bears loom as a big question mark as the 1965 season approaches.

This question mark is caused by untried men, lack of size at key positions, very little depth, and the fear of injuries such as those that crippled the Bears last year. Couple this with the fact that district 2-A is the state's strongest in its classification.

Delhi suffered heavily when eight of last year's starters graduated. Three-fourths of the backfield departed with both ends, both tackles, and the center. The loss of all-district halfbacks Claude Williams and all-district center "Put" Martin will be especially hard to overcome.

There are only ten lettermen returning. Among these are regulars David Cooksey at fullback, Mike Jones at left guard, and Gary Roberts at right guard. The strength of the team figures to be at the guards with these regulars weighing in at 195 pounds each.

The backfield has just one experienced player. David Cooksey, right half last year, has been shifted to fullback. Jim Thomas had been scheduled to play full, but is still bothered with an injury suffered last fall.

Allan Ray Waldrop will be running at left half and "Porky" Curtis holds down the right half position. Mitchell Fuller, who also runs well and passes adequately, will be the quarterback.

The line will be one of the smallest in the district, but will be fast. Shelton Hosea, a small but aggressive sophomore, will start at left end. At the other end will be Gene Dick. The tackles will be Elvis Jinks and B. E. Pickett, each of whom weighs less than 180 pounds. Danny Wilson will be the center.

Coach Raymond Richards is striving to build reserves to give the team depth. Most promising reserves are Elmer Allen, Breland Garrett, John Wells, Kenny Sehon, John Williams, Jerrell Hooper, John Goode and Scott Pointer.

Squadmen include Dicky Barsewell, Mike Martin, Jerry Nielson, Mike Stone, Danny Boone, Eugene Gordon and Prents Wilks.

The Bears will be playing an 11-game schedule. In addition to eight 2-A district foes, there will be two double-A and one B team on the slate.

In order to win with a schedule that has no "breathers," the Delhi squad will have to give its best and hope no serious injuries come their way.

STANDOUT SPRINTER

BRISBANE (AP) — Surprisingly, some track records set 50 years and more ago still stand today.

They are: :05.2 for 50 yards set in South Africa in 1908 and in Queensland in 1911; :06.0 for 60 yards in South Africa in 1913; :07.2 for 75 yards in Western Australia in 1908 and in New New Zealand in 1912.

The man who established them, Arthur Postle, died recently aged 84. In his day Postle, known as "The Crimson Flash," was unbeatable in races up to 75 yards.

RONNIE McNAIR is veteran back figuring strong in Ouachita Parish High plans this season.

Rayville Hornets Sharpen Stingers

By GEORGE INEICHEN

RAYVILLE (Special) — The Rayville Hornets, in a football famine for five years, are preparing to alter the picture for the '65 season. The forecast is sharper stingers as the Hornet defense strengthens to support an apparently good offense.

Under the tutelege of head coach Peter D. Soulis, ably assisted by backfield coach Jerry Clark and interior line coach "Bo" Herring, the Hornet squad has been shaping up nicely for the season opening.

Coaches Soulis and Clark have worked together for two years here, but "Bo" Herring is a new addition, transferring from Ouachita Parish High of Monroe where he was an assistant coach last year.

The Hornets are emphasizing defense this year because, as Coach Soulis pointed out, "Last year we scored over 130 points, but still won only two games out of eleven.

"This year we will have a better balanced offense — last year we had to depend primarily on a passing attack, but this time we will be able to move on the ground," Soulis explained. "We are a much better team this year because we have an experienced man at every position."

Eleven lettermen returned on the squad are seniors Danny Sorey, Timmie Thames, Alvin "Bubba" Lane, Dixon Boyd, Don Crawford, and Bobby McCullough, and juniors Kelly Evans, Mike Cooper, Don Cumpton, Burgess Cumpton and Larry Shoemaker.

Coach Soulis calls the lettermen the core of this year's team, but he is counting heavily on several newcomers to the squad, including Glen Alexander, Stanley Livingston, Donald Hunter, Noel Chriceol and Bob Taylor.

Don Crawford, 170 - pound tackle, will captain Rayville's fortunes. Co - captains will be quarterback Sorey, 145, and fullback Don Cumpton, 175.

Friday's starting lineup against Holly Ridge in the season opener here was early regarded as Shoemaker, 160, and Lane, 165; ends; Crawford and Alexander, 225, tackles; Burgess Cumpton, 180, and McCullough, 160, guards; Boyd, 170, center; Sorey or Livingston, 135, quarterback; Don Cumpton, fullback; Thames, 145, or Cooper, 170, halfback, and Evans, 150, or Larry Hebert, 140, wingback.

Seven lettermen lost from last year's team were tackle Phillip Branch, ends Lavon Grantham and Edward Jefferies, guard Pete Graham, and backs Samual Flint, James Letlow and Larry Milby.

In addition to Holly Ridge here Friday, Rayville's home schedule shows Winnsboro, Oct. 1; Tallulah, Oct. 15; Caldwell, Oct. 29.

The Hornets travel for Vidalia, Sept. 24; Oak Grove, Oct. 8; Delhi, Oct. 22; LaSalle, Nov. 5; Lake Providence, Nov. 12; Mangham, Nov. 19.

TALLULAH will count strongly on the talents of Woody Cagnolatti, 170-pound senior halfback and two-year letterman this season.

Team Young, But Northeast Shows Guarded Optimism

By BOB ANDERSON

Northeast State's pre - season football roster lists 31 freshmen, 18 sophomores, eight juniors and only three seniors.

The preponderance of underclassmen indicates Coach Dixie White and his aides face another rebuilding year. A closer look, however, reveals some causes for guarded optimism — a phrase that pretty well sums up White's attitude about his 1965 club.

"We should be improved," says Dixie, "because we have back essentially the same personnel that carried the load for us last year. These players are a year older and should do a better job. We feel we will have more mental and physical toughness and make fewer mistakes than we did in 1964. But the team is still very young."

The Indians have their worst season — 0-8 — to improve on. White almost completely revamped the team early in the 1964 season and by the third game it was primarily a freshmen club. This year these freshmen, now sophomores, and a smattering of veterans will handle most of the work.

Nineteen lettermen — 11 of them sophs — are on hand and nine are missing. The returnees include 12 of last year's 14 regulars — the starting offensive unit plus three defensive specialists. The major loss was all-Gulf States Conference halfback R. F. Wilson, the team's top scorer and best defensive back.

Northeast is fairly strong at tackle and halfback with adequate depth and experience. All the lettermen ends and guards are sophomores; one sophomore letterman, an ex-guard, a redshirt and newcomers man center; a sophomore letterman, a senior squadman and freshmen form the fullback corps; and there are 10 quarterback candidates, none of whom has ever played a minute as a college signal-caller.

Last year's quarterback, Johnny Garrison, has been shifted to halfback because of a shoulder injury that limits his passing effectiveness, leaving the position in the hands of three redshirts and a sophomore who played briefly at halfback last year.

Off his performance in the final spring scrimmage — he completed six of nine passes for 114 yards and a touchdown — redshirt Melvin Shows (170) is the top candidate for the quarterback job. He could strengthen an Indian aerial attack that has been just so-so for several years. Sophomore Larry Johnson (165), the ex-halfback, and redshirts Allen Bozeman (170) and Ken Slusher (185), former Ouachita field general, were other spring practice quarterbacks. Six incoming rookie quarterbacks, including a pair of all-staters, were on the pre-season roster.

Garrison (152), a good broken-field runner, and juniors Alton Thomas (170) and Lynn Mitchell (163) will probably do most of the running at halfback. Ex-fullback David Elkin (188) and defensive back Thomas Eddleman (168) are other capable candidates. Redshirts Tommy Coleman (182), Ted Gilly (167) and Wayne Roberts (170); a couple of incoming freshmen and Ronnie Fountain complete the halfback cast.

Fountain is an Indian track star and ex-prep halfback who will be trying out for the team for the first time. If he makes the grade, he'll be the fastest GSC footballer in history, recording a couple of 9.4's in the 100 last spring.

Garrison led all rushers last year with 319 yards, losses while trying to pass limiting his average to 2.4. Thomas averaged 3.2 yards on 29 carries and Mitchell 5.8 on 10.

Bobby Scafidel (192) had a good rookie season at fullback, finishing second in rushing with 239 yards and a 3.3 average. Charles Bailey (185), a non-letterman senior who carried only three times last year, and freshmen are the other candidates.

Sophomores Don "Red" McCrary (185) and Charles Rohner (195) started at end last year, performing well on defense and catching three passes apiece. Another sophomore, Kenneth Holland (185) saw a fair amount of duty and lettered. Tommy LaBarbera (171) was a good linebacker. All are sophomore lettermen who stand 5-9 each.

Ex-fullback Greg Jubert (190) Wayne Cunningham (185) and ex-Neville guard Andy Mapp (210) participated in spring practice. Two incoming rookies complete the cast.

Sophomore linebacker Wayne Armbrester (186) returns at center, where he is joined by James Kirkendall (223), a guard letterman for two years; redshirt D. W. McRaney (188) and newcomer Mike Shepherd (208), the former West Monroe tackle. Three incoming freshmen are also candidates.

White looks for improved linebacking from his guards and centers with the return of LaBarbera, Hidalgo and Armbrester and the addition of Shepherd, Cunningham and McRaney.

Working with White is his fine staff of Defensive Line Coach Leon Manley, the former Oklahoma tackle great; Ralph Lane, ex-Louisiana College backfield ace who handles the defensive backfield; Wallace Hargon, the Northeast alumnus who played quarterback and halfback on the 1955 Indian team and now coaches the offensive backs; and Bill Dotson, former Middle Tennessee guard who joined the staff this summer as offensive line coach.

The Indians will play their home games this fall in Ouachita Stadium while their old park, Brown Stadium, is being relocated and improved to make way for a new science-math building.

Lewis (198), Mickey Cleveland (182) and Al Douroux (185) — all of whom participated in spring practice — and four incoming freshmen are also available.

Four husky lettermen, headed by all-GSC senior Preston Hollier (212), give White a sense of security about tackle. Juniors Ronnie Sumter (220) and Wayne Clement (219) and sophomore Charles Rogers (230) have all started at one time or another in their careers and do a good job. Redshirts Laird Evans (198), Roger Anderson (207 and Norman Spinks (200) and one incoming freshman are other candidates.

The guards are small but tough. Joe Bondurant (188) started both ways last year, playing middle guard on defense, and was backed up by Raymond Taylor (211). Steve Hidalgo (185) played most of the offense on the other side, also doing a creditable job at linebacker occasionally, and Nic

PRESTON HOLLIER is aiming for a repeat performance this season after making the all-GSC team last year. The senior Northeast tackle heads a list of four veteran tackles that make the position one of the Tribe's strongest.

New Grid Staff For Winnsboro

By OTIS B. HASSELL

WINNSBORO (Special)—The new Winnsboro High School coaching staff start off the 1965-66 season with a 49-man squad of potential Wildcats, 33 varsity players and 16 freshmen.

Wayne Spruill has been elevated to the head coach position after two years as assistant here; J. W. Mercer was employed last November as basketball coach and assistant football coach, and Manson Nelson comes to Winnsboro from St. Francisville where he was head coach last year.

Nelson will be the interior line coach on offensive and defensive play, and Mercer will work with the ends and offensive passing with the varsity and also coach the freshman team. The freshman will not play with the varsity this year but will have a schedule all their own.

With nine letterman, including eight starters lost from last year's team, Coach Spruill said that every position is wide open. The Wildcats have good enthusiasm but there has got to be a lot of work on conditioning if they are to be in shape for the tough District 2-A competition.

Winnsboro had a 5-5 over all record last year and were 3-5 in the district.

The 'Cats will run from a fullhouse T offense and power plays will be the order of the day to offset their lack of speed in the backfield.

Members of the Wildcat squad who are working hard to get the starting nod are:

Ends — Elbert Cruse (135), Jim Waller (150), Jimmy Carr (145), Stan Mixon (125), Ronnie Ensminger (150), and Ronnie Stephens (155).

Tackles — Archie Pippin (255), Charles Frazier (225), Eddie Rhymes (150), Wayne Acklon (175) and James "Cotton" Evans (160). Pippin was a starter at fullback last year and Acklon is a transfer from Baton Rouge.

Guards—Scott Perkins (160), Gary Jackson (150), David Johnson (205), Eddie Stephenson (190), Gayle Winborne (155) and Jim Parks (150).

Centers — Danny Britt (220), returning starter, Bill Miller (150) and Steve Evans (175).

Quarterbacks — Lee Pankey (160), returning starter; Benny Strong (155), new boy from Florida, and Ricky Griffin (140)

Halfbacks — Butch Schooler (140), Marshall Livingston (160), Willard Ray (140), Robert LaBorde (140), Shelby Graves (160), Tommy Baldwin (160), Andy Svetlecic (50) and Steve Elrod (120).

Fullbacks — Ronnie Winborne (175) and Mike Lord (185).

The Wildcat squad includes 10 seniors, 15 juniors and eight sophomores, with 16 members of the group returning from last years squad.

The Wildcat varsity opens against Class B Mangham at Mangham on Sept. 10.

Elementary Grid Jamboree Slated On September 13

An elementary school football jamboree here September 13 will present talent from Logtown, A. L. Smith of Sterlington, Swartz, Jack Hayes, Shady Grove and Ouachita Elementary of Monroe, all in the Ouachita parish school system east of the Ouachita river, plus two Monroe Catholic schools, Our Lady of Fatima and Jesus, the Good Shepherd.

Ouachita Elementary hosts the event a week from Monday at Ouachita Parish High Stadium.

From Frying Pan To Fire At Olla

By ROBERT C. WAGNER
Editor the Jena Times

OLLA (Special) — When the phrase, "Out of the frying pan and into the fire," was coined, coach Robert Parker of LaSalle high school at Olla must have been the man they were talking about.

The senior ball club of last year that posted 7-4 record in th toughest Class A district in the state has been decimated by graduation and age limits. Only five members of the entire 1964 squad are back, including three starters and two lettermen.

Parker begins his first year at LaSalle with assistant Bob Rogers, also in his first year at Olla, and Hall Brunson, who doubles as head basketball coach.

Back from last year are quarterback Kenneth Mauterer, halfback Danny Cornett and center Ricky Tyler, who may see action at tackle this year.

Halfback Jeffery Zeagler and end H. D. Smith are lettermen from last year's squad.

Parker's squad includes a dozen upperclassmen and 19 freshmen. There's no question that he will have to reach back to the ninth grade to fill out a starting lineup, and in class 2-A ball, its tough to win with a senior ball club.

The Tiger schedule includes five home games which are all district contests and six road games, of which three are district contests.

The schedule:

Sept. 10—Jena, there.
Sept. 17—Tioga, there.
Sept. 24—Winnsboro, here, district.
Oct. 1—Vidalia, here, district.
Oct. 8—Delhi, there, district.

New Bastrop Coaches Build Around 10 Ram Lettermen

By JERRY JORDAN

BASTROP (Special) — The Bastrop Rams are basing their hopes for the up coming season on the new coaching staff and ten returning lettermen. Jimmy Gilbert, who was a former Bastrop High athlete playing an end position from 1939-1942- is the new athletic director and head coach of the Rams. Preceeding his present duties, Gilbert was assistant coach at Bossier for two years.

Additional coaches added to the coaching staff were Bill Belding and Tom Causey. Belding, backfield coach and head track coach, comes from LaSalle where he was assistant coach. Causey, offensive end and assistant track coach was an assistant coach at Jonesboro-Hodge High for two years.

Billy Jack Talton, offensive line coach rounds out the team of varsity football coaches. Acting as head freshman football coach is Bob Loftin. Wig Reily, head basketball coach, will assist with freshman football. Speaking of his coaching staff, Gilbert said "We have a fine coaching staff, they are a youthful, energetic group with good athletic backgrounds.

Returning lettermen are Kenny Rains, center; David Knight, tackle; Ronnie Diel, tackle; Jimmy Orr, guard; Tommy Hebert, guard; Danny Naff, end; Paul James, back; Ronnie Grimmett, fullback and Wayne Reily, halfback. A welcomed addition to the Ram squad was a transfer two - year letterman Jimmy Gilbert from Bossier. Gilbert, who is the son of Coach Gilbert, will play the quarterback slot. Other first string players include Lewis Hester, end; Harry Morrison and Jimmy Clark, split ends.

For better utilization of the abilities of the players the coaching staff made four position changes. Diel, largest player on the team weighing 204, moved from guard to tackle for more strength in the interior line. Naff goes to end for more height. Reily's speed will be better utilized as a halfback instead of playing quarterback. Paul James goes from center to backfield.

The "system" will be somewhat different this season, says the varsity coaching staff. Formations will run from the "strong-set with split ends, also referred to as a flanker to the "I" formation. The "I" originated with Tom Nugent, head coach at the University of Maryland. The University of Arkansas used the "I" formation last year with an undefeated record. The "flip flop" offense made popular by the University of Texas will be used. Defense will be similar to last years.

Fowler Handling Bears' Problems

By JERRY LAUTIGAR

BERNICE (Special) — What do you do when your entire backfield, an all - district tackle, a second team all - district fullback and an honorable mention all - district end leave your team via different routes?

This is the problem that faces new head coach Monroe Fowler and assistants James Harty and Michael Lazendy as they start the Bernice High Bears on the road to a new Class B campaign with only six lettermen.

Fowler came to Bernice last Monday after resigning a similar position at Vinton. He had previously coached at Winnsboro after graduating from Louisiana Tech. He took the job vacated by Lloyd Ray Smith who moved to an assistant's job with triple - A West Monroe.

"Gone but not forgotten" are Mike Grafton, Ronny Lautigar, Steve Martin, Roger Simpson, Randy Aden, and Joe Dean Lowery. Mike Lautigar moved to Ruston.

The Bears had the best defense in district 2 - B last year with the fewest points scored against them.

Vidalia Cheese Has Huge Holes

By BUCK PEDEN

VIDALIA (Special) — To compare the Vidalia Vikings with a piece of cheese seems a little corny, but their 1965 football team has about that many hopes to fill and then some.

The 1964 squad, which posted a brilliant 9-1-1 record in their first campaign as a District 2-A team, lost 16 lettermen, including 13 of whom played as regulars.

The credentials of these regulars are quite impressive. They leave head coach Fred Foster and line coach Don Alonzo with almost a complete rebuilding job.

End Mike Greer heads the star-studded list. He gained first team all-state honors in '63 and second team in '64. He also was selected on the first squads of the all-district and all-area picks. He also played in the recently ended Louisiana prep all-star game.

Butch Poteet, who signed a scholarship with LSU, vacated the wingback slot which earned him all-district laurels in '63.

Jamie Jackson, who accounted for 1,048 yards total offense from his quarterback position in '64, was voted the team's most valuable player and earned second team all-area and all-district last season.

Guard Andy Housley, who was the team's leading defensive man last season at end, made second all-state, first all-area and all-district for his aggressive play.

Both the starting tackles will be missed. Graduating Ray Moncrief lettered four years and was a two-year starter. Big Jack Dean became academically ineligible, but passed his summer school session in Mississippi and will play at Natchez-Adams High.

Tailback Robert Forester, who was the squad's leading ground-gainer in 1964, was too old for Louisiana prep football this season. He also moved to Natchez for his senior year.

Joe Stampley, top-notch defensive safetyman for two seasons, and defensive end Billy Jackson will be sorely missed, also. End Gary Odell a two-year of offensive starter, and his fine downfield blocking is gone, and so is little Gerald Cox's middle-guard play that thrilled the fans for two seasons.

The 13th regular that will no longer play under VHS colors is smiling Jimmy Aarons. The young guard was voted the team's permanent captain for his leadership and exemplary manner on the field. He started the last two seasons at Vidalia and earned All-District 3-B in '63 and second team All-District 2-A in '64. He was also named the team's most valuable lineman.

The 1965 candidates number only 36, including two brand new additions last week. From this total, only four can be considered returning starters and only 10 can be identified as returning lettermen.

Ronnie Hebert is almost a "shoo-in" for all-district honors at center after his senior season this year. He has already lettered three years and this will be his third year to start. He'll weigh-in at about 200 pounds this year.

Fullback Alvin Frazier, who one college coach wanted to sign as a freshman until the shocked mentor learned his age and grade, will be starting his fourth season at Vidalia. The bright lad will only be a junior but already has more football experience than anyone in the area.

As a 195 pound bull on offense the past two years, Frazier has gained 910 yards and has scored 98 points. As a middle-linebacker on defense the past three season, he has made 241 tackles.

He was all-district, all-area, and honorable mention all-state in 1964. He will be a sharp spear for the Vikings in their attempts to continue their winning ways.

Guard Tommy Lanius played his first season of football last year, but his aggressiveness earned him a starting berth. He'll be a 195 pound junior this year.

Johnny Fredericks, a 140 pound senior, has two letters to his credit, and he will probably be starting quarterback this year. He earned his reputation, however, for his knifing defensive play at cornerback.

The other letterman returning are QB Ricky Lane, a 140 pound senior; tailback Jimmy Hibbs, a 160 pound junior; end Gary Morgan, a 186 pound senior; guard Bobby Spinks, a 175 pound junior; tackle Bobby Patton, a 230 pound junior; and Ken Odell, a 235 pound senior.

The battle for the quarterback berth may be close with Fredericks the top ball-handler, but Lane and junior Billy Wiggins the best passers.

Hibbs is practically a cinch to nail down the tailback starting post with senior Edward Barlow (130) and sophomore Mike Morgan (160) right behind him.

Wingback was wide-open at the beginning of the practice sessions this fall. Dennis Randall, a 155 pound senior, may have a toe-nail edge on junior Ronnie Bledsoe (150), sophomore Douglas Hebert (150), and maybe tailback Morgan close behind.

Behind Frazier will be senior Ronnie Gardner (140) and sophomore Mark Lewis (180).

Lanius has the left guard sewed up, leaving juniors David Yates (175) and George Guy (195) pacing the scrap for the right post over junior Monty Braley (165), and sophomore hopefuls Stanley May (150) and Paul Southerland (150).

Behind Hebert will be the team heavyweight, senior Ken Odell (240) and junior Buddy Spillers (160) at the snap post.

The two newcomers, which moved in to Vidalia recently from Lisbon, La., are junior Jerry Spradlin (155) and junior Gary Spradlin (170). Their probable positions were uncertain after only a few days of practice.

CONFUSION ON COURSES

NEW YORK (AP) — The first permanent golf club to be founded in the United States is a matter of dispute, says the Encyclopedia Americana in its collection on odd facts about golf.

The St. Andrews Golf Club of Yonkers, N. Y., claims to be the first private club with a founding date of Nov. 14, 1888. But the Foxburg Country Club of Pennsylvania has affidavits claiming it was formed in 1887 and the Sarasota Golf Club in Florida says it was founded in 1886.

The Americana also reports records of possible golf clubs in Charleston, S. C., and Savannah, Ga., for the period between 1780 and 1790.

Rebuilding Task For Farmerville

FARMERVILLE (Special) — A predominately young football squad carries the hopes of the Farmerville Farmers into the Louisiana Class A campaign this year with only six seniors on a 41-player squad that includes ten juniors, 11 sophomores and 14 freshmen.

Coach Chiles Carpenter and assistants Frank Zametto and Melvin Ogden are faced with a major rebuilding task brought on by the spring graduation toll of 17 lettermen.

The Farmers' probable lineup:

Ends — Scotty Tucker, 155, sophomore, and Butch Spencer, 150, junior.

Tackles — Gary Kenly, 170, junior, and Bubba Kenly, 170, sophomore.

Guards — David Wade, 170, junior, and Brantley Nolan, 185, senior.

Center — Joey Hall, 160, senior, or James Wiley, 145, junior.

Quarterback — John Austin, 155, junior.

Halfbacks — Gary Tucker, 150, senior, and Danny Smith, 150, junior.

Fullback — Joe Pickle, 160, senior.

J-H May Need Houdini Act For Grid Winner This Year

By RAYMOND JEFFRESS

JONESBORO (Special)—Jonesboro - Hodge High School sports fans have become championship - conscious the past couple of years, with football coach Bobby Stone's gridders winning the District 2-AA title in 1963 and '64, and basketball mentor Larry Toms' cagers capturing the district and state AA championship in 1964 and '65.

But unless coach Stone can pull off a real "Houdini" act this season and make seasoned football players out of a group of inexperienced youngsters, J-HHS fans may have to settle for something less than first place for a change.

Graduation took a terrific toll from last year's state semi-finalists. Gone are tackle Robert Harper and fullback Lowell Mize, All-District selections for the last two years; All-District guard Aubrey Futrell; All - District halfback Barry Womack; and second-team All - District players quarterback Randy Moffett, center Danny Spring, end Glenn Carter, and tackle Kenneth Walker.

You just don't replace eight all-star players, not to mention the loss of others who were considered in that caliber by many: halfbacks Marion Cavett and Terry Terrill, guards Leroy Ashley and David Tumlin, tackle Andy Roby, and end Ronnie Walsworth.

Naturally this exodus leaves the 1965 edition of the Tigers very much short of experienced athletes. Only end Randy Toms, 6'4", 200-lb. senior All-District, has played much varsity ball on offense and defense. One other player saw action on offense, and three others on defense for the 1964 regulars.

This lack of experienced offensive starters means that Stone will have to open up his offense considerably - "Run wide and pass deep" - is the way he puts it. Fortunately, the youngsters coming up seem to be inclined toward this style of play, and there are 51 candidates for positions this season.

Although the vital quarterback position is one of the most inexperienced groups of all, there are three boys who have looked very good in practice sessions so far. Randy Phillips, a 145-lb. junior who passes well and doesn't mind tucking it under his arm and turning the corner, has a head start for the starting berth at present. However, 134-lb. senior Terry Denman will do a lot of alternating with Phillips, and does some things even better than Randy. Gary Brinson, a 150-lb. sophomore, has the strongest arm of the three and is quite capable of doing the job right now if either of the other two need a "breather."

At left halfback, James Earley, a 174-lb. senior, is the only player on the squad with two previous letters. Most of his play has been at corner back on defense, but he has played enough on offense in spots to let the coaches know that he can be counted on both ways.

Right halfback right now belongs to Leslie Mize, 161-lb. senior brother of the fabulous Lowell. Naturally, Leslie doesn't have the moves of his older brother yet, having seen little varsity action, but he is a hard, fast runner and good pass-receiver.

Wade McBride and Dalton Abercrombie, 140-lb. and 128-lb. juniors, will play mostly at defensive halfbacks, and pound for pound there probably won't be many better in the district. David McConathy, a 148-lb. senior, will probably be a starter at a linebacking spot, if either of the two now slated for the spots should falter. Juniors Leslie Crowson and Mike Holloway, and sophomore Rodney Mize (yep, there's one more), Ronnie Ray, and Ben Poole are all hard workers who show promise.

At fullback, 170 - lb. senior Jack Branch s being counted on as starter, although practically all his experience has been at corner back on defense. Branch and Earley should form one of the toughest corner back teams in the district. Bobby Earle, a 146-lb. junior, is the fastest boy on the squad, and has the power to step in at any time. Promising sophomore fullback candidates are Mike Womack and Robbie Howard.

The end positions seem to be pretty well manned, both as to quality and quantity. The aforementioned Randy Toms will play offense and defense, and the other post right now is up for grabs between 181-lb. senior Junior King and 175-lb. junior Butch Adams, a leterman transfer from New Orleans. King is the probable starter because of his previous defensive experience, but Adams is certain to see considerable action, and is giving Earley a battle as the team's regular punter. Tommy Wilson, a 145-lb. junior, is a tall and good pass receiver and blocker. Senior Johnny McMillan, juniors Chris Blalock and Randy Caldwell, and sophomores Eddie Shankles and Tommy Gleason are the other end candidates. Al Sandahl, who played in the Canadian pro leagues, has been brought in to coach the ends, replacing Tom Causey, who went to Bastrop.

DON BENDILY, one of the most important members of the Ouachita Parish High football force late last season, starts this year's campaign as a No. 1 player from the beginning.

The tackles don't have a lot of experience, but may turn out to be pretty well-manned by the time the Tigers hit their district competition. Mike Sears, a 184-lb. senior, saw quite a bit of action on offense last year spelling the mighty Harper, and 244-lb. senior Mike Holder looks as if he is going to be able to move people in the approved manner at the other offensive tackle spot.

Defensive tackle starters are expected to be 202-lb. senior Tony Rockhold and 180-lb. senior Gary Harper, brother of Robert. These two boys have been among the most improved on the squad in practice. Ronnie Flurry, a 173-lb. senior transfer from Natchitoches, and Danny Coleman, a 170-lb. sophomore, should see plenty of action. Other candidates are junior Bub Jiles, and sophs Mike Quarles, Dennis Blackstock, Don Gregory, and Terry Huckaby.

It is at the guard positions that interior line coach Dalton "Doc" Robinson will have to bring the most boys along in a hurry if the Tigers are to be successful. The Williams brothers, Gary and Jimmy, 150-lb. and 146-lb. juniors, are the likely starters here on the basis of previous defensive experience.

But unless these two boys can go both ways all season, or some of the other candidates develop quickly, these positions may be pretty thinly - manned. Bubba Peel, a 182 - lb. senior who did not play last year but is one of the most aggressive on the team, and Russell Brown, a 153-lb. junior, show signs of doing just what the coaches are hoping for. Seniors Jimmy Aldy and Billy Durbin, and sophomores Randy Whitman, Johnny Warner, and Mitchell Farley, are the remaining candidates for the guard posts.

At center, 160-lb. Don Tichenor will doubtless be the starter, at least on defense, which he played some last year. Ronnie Vail, a 145-lb. junior, is one of the most improved boys on the squad, and could take the first-string offensive job away from Tichenor. David Smelley, a 145-lb. senior, will probably be used for the deep snap on punts, and soph Jerry Rasbury is working hard in practice, despite an injury, as is soph Robert Morgan, converted from end.

The 1964 Tigers won six games in the fourth quarter, a fact which indicated their stamina and desire, and frequently held their opponents inside the 10-yard line on defense. If Stone and his assistants can instill some of this quality in the current edition, and it appears they already have it to a considerable degree, it is not inconceivable that Jonesboro-Hodge could be a team to contend with by the time it hits the district competition in late October.

Regardless of how the Tigers do this season, they will look good doing it. They will be sporting bright new blue - and-white uniforms and these, along with the other excellent sports facilities and equipment at Jonesboro-Hodge, have a way of making those who occupy them proud and eager to do them justice.

So put the Tigers down as "dark horses" fir the 1965 campaign, with the plus factors being desire and a winning tradition, and the minus factors being lack of experience, and the necessity of learning offense or defense by so many boys who have not played one or the other.

Graduation Toll Hard On Ruston

By MAJOR LARRY FOX

RUSTON (Special) — L. J. "Hoss" Garrett, dean of Louisiana coaches, began his 32nd year of coaching when he assembled his Ruston High School Bearcats for their 1965 season.

Garrett's first assignment in the coaching field after starring as a trackster and football player at Louisiana Tech was at Forest in West Carroll parish. Two years at Forest, one at Arcadia and then for the past 28 years at Ruston where Coach Garrett's teams have won three state championships and have always been contenders for district and state honors.

Garrett's able assistant is Robert W. "Moose" Phillips, starting his 20th year with the Bearcats. Also a graduate of Tech, where he starred in football and basketball, Phillips is one of the best line coaches in the state and manages to get the maximum effort from his players.

Fred Higginbotham, a dedicated coach and one of the hardest workers in the business, is in his sixth year as a Garrett assistant. Norris "Bud" Alexander, Tech's Golden Toe for several years, is starting his third season with the Bearcats.

The Ruston coaching staff adds up to 56 years of experience.

Sixty-six Ruston athletes took part in spring training, and their coaches predict a "little better" than last year if there is "enough desire" on the part of the players.

A graduation toll of 18 lettermen, ten of them starters, made a big drain on Bearcat talent.

Ruston lost two excellent ends in Jack Trammell and J. B. Martin, two all-district guards in "Dusty" Rhodes and Jimmy Martin, dependable tackles in David Aycock and Danny Watson, and centers Don Hogan and Andy McCarley from last year's line.

Biggest losses were in the backfield with all starters wiped out in the departure of Bill Jones, Lee Mitchell, Wayne Parkman and Pete Theodos, plus George Smith, Track Kananaugh, "Frosty" Merriott, Bob Hearne, Larry Williamson, Guy Barnes and Courtney Reed.

Probable Bearcat lineup for the season opener at Minden Friday is Charles Langford and David Kelly on the ends, Jerry Hodges and George Gilliam, tackles; Paul Nolan and Gary Hammon, guards; Robert Lewis at center; Billy Bahm, calling signals; Jimmy Leonard and Jack Love carrying the ball as halfbacks; and Bruce Jackson, brother of All - Southwestern Roland Jackson, doing the plunging.

Besides the few returning lettermen and starters, other Bearcat tallent includes:

Charles Alexander, Bob Richardson, Woody Whittington, Glen Liner, Gary Hamilton and Lynn Trammell trying for terminal positions.

Jim Teuton, Neal Cheatwood, David Smelly, Butch Hightower, Tom Sumral, Joe Aulds, Jim Dowling, Lamar Gates, Russell Reed, Tinker Harlan, Tommy McCashland and Steve Barham, tackles.

Guards Ronald Oglesby, Skip Brown, Billy Goins, Clyde Grau, Dale Tatum, Lonny Henry, Barry Frasier, David Herrick, Vince Risenger and Steve Bell.

Bill Ray and Phil Lyles for center.

And backfield candidates Alymer Rainwater, Tommy Hay, Gary Crawford, Charles Stokes, Curtis Richardson, Ralph Lopey, Shump Jones, Larry Sims, Robert Sharpe, Mike Ambrose, Jimmy Seay, Steve Blackstock, Jerry Polk, Johnny Armstrong and Sam Squires.

The Ruston double - A contenders open their schedule at Minden Friday, play at West Monroe Sept. 17, visit Ouachita at Monroe Sept. 24, host Homer Oct. 1, host Winnfield Oct. 8, Neville is here Oct. 15, homecoming will be with Springhill Oct. 22, go to Shreveport for Woodlawn Oct. 29, play at Haynesville Nov. 5, and Jonesboro-Hodge is here Nov. 12.

The Bearcats will compete with Jonesboro-Hodge, Winnfield and Haynesville for the district 2-AA championship.

Oklahoma State lost 17-14 to Kansas State although the two tied for fifth place. Colorado in seventh place defeated the cellar team, Iowa State, 14-7.

BASTROP MONROE

'Head Hunters' Ouachita's Weapon In Triple-A Chase

By STUART HILL
World Sports Writer

The old adage, "The best offense is a good defense," gets a new twist with new head coach Mark Boatright putting most of the "oomph" in the emphasis.

Boatright figures the best way to stay in the fast 1-AAA league is to take the better football prospects, teach them to play defense, make them want to play defense, own a respectable passing game, stop the big play, and wait for the game-winning break.

To do this the Lions are constructing a light, but quick team.

Keeping in the habit of naming specialty units, Ouachita's defensive eleven has been tagged the "Head Hunters".

"This is the way we are looking at it," says the Lions boss. "We want to be able to stop the big play. We feel if we can stop the punt return, the long pass, and the touchdown pass, we will be able to stay on the field with anybody we go against. For this reason we would rather have a 180-pound athlete who can move than the 220-pounder who has to just stand there."

The good defense equals good offense formula is not new and is a fine theory, however Ouachita has a major drawback in the implementation of the theory — lack of depth.

Nine lettermen were lost from last year's 1-10 club with 11 returning. Five of the returnees are regulars from the last club and six of the total returning are backs, small but offensively experienced. Add to these facts, the item that Boatright has four quarterbacks who have outstanding characteristics and, on the surface, it would seem that Ouachita would be in for a banner year on offense.

But, "we are taking our best players and putting them on defense. We want them to want to play defense, to be mentally tough and to think defense," speculates Boatright.

"We will have a respected passing game. We'll have to throw, there's no doubt about it," he adds.

In the top candidates to do the throwing are senior James Hale and Junior Ronnie McCain, who made a strong showing late last season, along with junior Wayne Acree.

There are 12 seniors listed on the 1965 Ouachita squad, but as Boatright points out, several of these seniors have never played football before. This adds to the woes of inexperienced depth.

On the whole, however, Boatright is very optimistic about the coming campaign, which opens Sept. 10 in Alexandria against Bolton, and justly so.

The squad lists only one player over 200 pounds with most of the others varying between a light 130 - pounds to around 170-175.

The Lions will possess breakaway possibilities in a pair of halfbacks, Johnny Knighten and Dickie McNair. Both are seniors and fullback Don Bendily, a junior, is expected to pick up a starting berth. Bendily is another who made a good late season showing last year, gaining over 600 yards in the last six games.

Tackle Wayne Jenson, center Bobby Van, guard - tackle Larry Vandenburg, ends Ronnie Walton and Warren Lutrick, and halfback Charles Carlisle are the other returning lettermen.

A complete lineup is not a definite thing in the Ouachita camp at the present time. However, Boatright says he expects to have most of the bugs ironed out before the opening tilt.

Boatright is aided in coaching duties by assistants Jim Knox, Zeke Zametto, Ralph Sanders, Ira Coats, and Levaine Hollinshead.

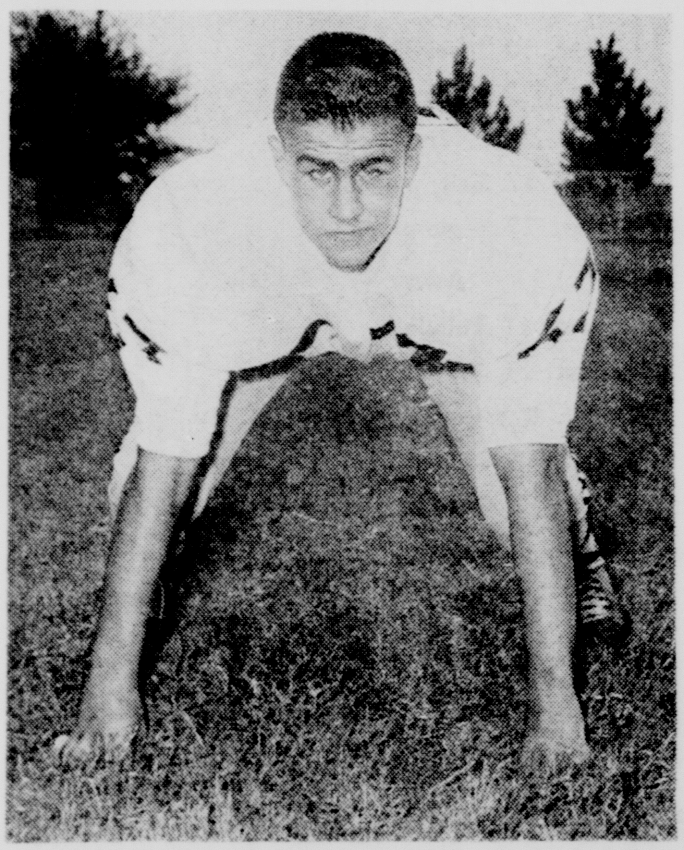
Three ends were lost to graduation, Glenn Artt, Dennis Bratton, and Wayne Stover, along with three tackles, Thomas Fletcher, Pat Welker and John Brooks. Guard Merrill Moody, fullback Donald Hyde and halfback Skeeter Boyd are also missing.

After opening against Bolton, the Lions travel to Jonesboro the following week before playing Ruston on their home field Sept. 24. Of the 11-game scheduled five are home games with one slated for a Thursday night.

Beginning Oct. 1, the Lions will play seven straight District 1-AAA games before closing with Airline, which will become a member of the league later.

Evaluating the schedule, Boatright says, "We will be meeting some very tough clubs, but there will be some that we will be meeting on a more even basis."

JOE PEACE is a sophomore center marked for heavy duty at Louisiana Tech. Son of Sicily Island's principal-coach Raymond Peace, former La. Tech athlete, Joe is also a linebacker.



JERRY POHL, a junior guard, is developing into a dependable gridder for the Ouachita Lions.

New Coaches Are At Area Schools

Football high schools in the Ouachita parish system all have new head coaches this year — Mark Boatright at Ouachita, Walter Brister at West Monroe and Terry Head at Sterlington.

Boatright, a Northeast State graduate and Ouachita prep star of around 15 years ago, succeeds Frank Mobley who also had played at OPHS around the Boatright era of Lion grid successes.

Brister, who turned out some fine teams at Pineville High (a school of the same age whose teams are also nicknamed Rebels) has succeeded Cecil Pirkey as the third head grid coach of the WMHS Rebs.

Terry Head, whose twin brother Jerry is head coach at Newellton, has become Sterlington's second head football coach, replacing Guy Carroll. The Head twins are ex-Northeast State gridders.

Some other area schools also have new head coaches.

Ferriday—Tommy Bankston succeeded L. F. "Moose" Matulich who took the athletic director job at St. Francisville.

Winnsboro—Wayne Spruill, an assistant coach last year, was promoted to the boss job when Milford Andrews went to Bossier High.

Bastrop—Jimmy Gilbert, ex-Bastrop athlete, left job with Bossier to succeed Joe Murry.

St. Frederick (Monroe)—Dan McClure, an assistant football and head baseball coach at West Monroe, succeeds Willie Ragan as head coach in second year of this new school.

Wossman (Monroe) — Willie Ragan accepts challenge of building football team with sophomore talent for new school that has only freshman and sophomore athletes, no house of its own, and conducts classes from Jefferson Junior High until new school is ready. Plays mostly jaycee schedule this year.

Bernice — Monroe Fowler becomes head coach, replacing Lloyd Ray Smith who joined the staff of Brister at West Monroe.

LaSalle — Robert Parker has succeeded Glenn Wells at the Olla school.

WALTER BRISTER, who developed strong football teams at Pineville High the last few years, is the new head coach and athletic director at West Monroe High.

MARK BOATRIGHT, backfield star of the late 1940s under then coach Jim Hodgins at Ouachita High of Monroe, returns to the Lions this year as head coach with hopes of rebuilding OPHS grid fortunes.

WILLIE RAGAN, a familiar name in Twin Cities sports for nearly a decade as a former Neville High and Northeast State football star who coached last year at St. Frederick, is the first coach for the new Wossman High Wildcats of Monroe.

Good-Sized Boys Ferriday's Core

FERRIDAY (Special) — Tommy Bankston has taken over head coaching duties at Ferriday High with the job ahead calling for almost complete rebuilding of the Bulldog athletic fortunes.

Coach Bankston, succeeding departed "Moose" Matulich, greeted only four regulars back from the 1964 team that made its debut into double-A competition with only two wins on an 11-game schedule.

Improvement on the '64 record is considered a good bet with lettermen of good size to form the core of rebuilding operations.

Returned regulars are big seniors.

There's Atkin Smith, six-foot 185-pound end and two-year letterman; center Donald Jones, 195, also with two letters; and one-year tackle lettermen Randy Adams, 205, and Phil Templeton, 215.

Lettermen rejoining them are seniors George Vogt, 150, end; Donald White, 190, fullback; Lawrence Campbell, 240, tackle; Steve Reed, 195, center; Rickey Nowlin, 150, quarterback; and Ted Vestal, 170, halfback; Curtis Burnett, 165, fullback; and juniors David Trazler, 170, end; Paul Ferris, 175, quarterback; and David Mann, 165, halfback.

Gaps were left by the graduation of guard Carlos Clarence Rabb, off to LSU, quarterback John Bennet Fudickar, headed for Northeast State, end William Ray Fairbanks, fullback Thomas Milton Wilson, halfback John Sam Jones, and tackles Samual D. Cole and Fred Andrews.

Coach Bankston said he would not be able to evaluate the new talent until he has had more work with the boys but feels there are a lot of youths enrolled in FHS who can do the Bulldogs a lot of good.

Air Of Optimism Engulfs Panthers

By MARY HELEN HERRINGTON

LAKE RPOVIDENCE — The Panthers of Lake Providence are preparing for the 1965 title race with an air of quiet optimism. The feeling prevails in spite of the fact that graduation wiped out three-fourths of last years starting backfield, both ends, one guard, and the starting center.

Gone are such outstanding performers as Van Hicks Jr., Quarterback; Don Washam, Fullback; Rodney Fortenberry and speedster David Clarkson, Halfbacks; Gary Graham (last year's top receiver), end; and James Thornton, center.

Other solid players that have departed the scene include Johnny Holt, end; Jimmy Meredith and Larry Myers, guards; and John Miers, tackle.

One of the big reasons for optimism in Coach Pete Mangum's camp is Kenneth Frith.

Kenneth is a big (6' 3" and 215 lbs.), strong senior with three years experience as a starter at end and tackle. Last year he earned all-district and all-state honors as a tackle. This year Coach Mangum is expecting him to improve on last year's performance, and to provide the leadership so necessary to a good football team.

Two other boys of whom great things are expected are Guard Gerald Sandidge, and Back Danny Ray Fortenberry. Both were all-district choices last year, and both were outstanding defensive performers. This year Coach Mangum is expecting their offensive ability to match their defensive talents and for both boys to improve considerably over last year.

The other returning letterman are:

Don Durbin — a fine offensive back who should be better.

Ricky Fairchild — a steady performer at end.

Ralph McCurdy — could be the best defensive back on the team.

Billy Cone — a smart, aggressive guard.

Kayo Jong — small, fast, and capable at several positions last year.

Lonnie Spilburger — 6-foot-1, 235-pound tackle. This boy could be the best of them all.

Buddy Howard — a dependable tackle from last year.

David Ivey — center, very tough on defense.

David Shockley — a 6'2", 225-pound sophomore tackle who is trying his hand at fullback.

Squadmen include ends Gary Murray, Jerry Walker and Doug O'Neal, tackles Eddy Chapman, Ronnie Stampley and Jimmy Shepherd, centers Rovie Hattaway and Larry Whatley, and backs Freddy Fortenberry, Kenneth Sandefur, Edward Patterson and Richard Nelson.

Coach Mangum issued equipment to 41 boys at the start of practice and had four others due after participation in Boys State.

Two-a-day workouts were in order for early sessions of practice, and the latter part of training was conducted at Percy Quin State Park near McComb, Miss., where the Panthers got in a solid week of work.

First action was in the Bastrop Jamboree Friday.

After a non-conference game with Eudora, Ark., next Friday, the Panthers will start their quest for the district 2-A crown by challenging Vidalia on September 17.

Dragons Will Defend Title With 13 Vets

MANGHAM (Special) — Thirteen lettermen, including seven regulars from last year's district 2 - B championship team, give Coach Keith Munyan's Mangham Dragons a good framework upon which to build for their title defense.

Three members of the old backfield have returned — Carl Pailette, 170, and Brat Williams, 155, halfbacks, and quarterback Newt Bruce, 165. All are seniors.

Linemen returned are center Mike Wynn, 145, senior; end Paul Gandy, 145, senior; and senior tackles Mike Austin, 165, and Richard Oliveaux, 155.

Replacements are needed for eight lettermen lost with the graduation of guards Ronnie Mercer and Earl Pailette, tackles Don Wheeler and Mike Bowman, center John Cardin and backs Billy Joe White, Gordon Allen and Robert Barnett.

Lettermen returned include ends James Harrell, Toby White and Roy Weston, guards, Bobby White and Dan McKay, fullback Joe Banks, halfback William Elledge, and center Robert Bell. Elledge and Bell have been crippled by injuries.

New West Monroe Coaches Must Rebuild Rebel Forces

By BUTCH MUIR
World Sports Writer

Lack of experience and depth may keep West Monroe's Rebels from being a 1-AAA district contender in their first season under Head Coach and Athletic Director Walter Brister.

"We lost 20 lettermen from the 1964 season and virtually every position is open to all candidates," Brister said, "and with only five lettermen returning, we will just about have to rebuild from scratch."

Only one regular starter from last year is back in that spot, being center Richard Colvin and he only started the last five games.

Other lettermen returning are Ronnie Wiggins, quarterback, Floyd Reeves, end, Steve Randall, tackle and Todd Robertson, end.

Gone from the team that posted only two wins while losing seven and tying one are such standouts as end Roy Crain, guard, Terry Lewis; tackles Whitty Hood and Peyton Wilson and Danny Perkins, halfback. All five made the All-Twin Cities squad which was selected by the coaches of the Twin Cities.

Also missing will be Johnny Williams, the leading passer in the two towns, Ray Alexander, one of the top rushers as a halfback and fullback Larry Bowling, who, as a linebacker, led West Monroe in tackles last year.

But the first task Brister and his coaching staff have set to overcome will be to "carry out a metal uplifting." The former Pineville mentor stated, "We feel that the job here consists largely of preparing our boys mentally, as well as physically, and helping them obtain a winning attitude rather than a defeatist attitude."

Brister said that the team this year, although it will be small, has tremendous spirit and great morale. He said the boys are developing pride for West Monroe and the players do not want boys that will not keep that pride and will not work.

"We will rely on our nine seniors for leadership during the rough campaign ahead, while our seven juniors will also be counted on to carry a big load in that respect," Brister later added.

"Of course our quarterback must have leadership on the field, whether on offense or defense. He singled out Wiggins for this job on offense with Colvin and David Adcock handling the chores while on defense. The team also felt the trio were qualified and elected them as tri-captains for the season.

To tackle the schedule, which is one of the roughest in district 1-AAA, the Rebels will run from the "I" formation using split ends and flanker backs.

This type of offense places the emphasis on a passing attack as its major offensive threat. Brister added, "We will play wide open type of football this season and adjust our offense and defense as we meet our opponents."

Wiggins, a 180-pound senior standing 6'2", will direct the offense. He has been described as an excellent passer and a good runner, capable of executing the option run or pass play to full advantage, which is what the Rebels will use as the basic threat.

Complimenting the passing game, West Monroe has three good receivers in Floyd Reeves, Tod Robertson and Randy Russell. Reeves will probably handle the job at flanker back but Richard Sheppard and Billy Foster are also vying for the starting duties.

Robertson and Russell are the most likely picks for the end starters but Steve Owens is not being set aside as a possibility for the Rebels.

But graduation and non-graduates not returning have left the backfield corps razor blade thin. Of the 20 lettermen lost, seven were in the backfield and five others did not report for the '65 season.

"We feel that a boy that has ability and does not come forward to put forth that ability for the school, is the same as a draft dodger evading his duties to his country," Brister said. But the Rebel mentor will try to build a backfield out of the material he has and the boys have shown considerable spirit in this perspective.

The only back with any great amount of experience on the varsity, with the exception of Wiggins, is fullback Richard Ware. And he didn't see enough action to earn a letter during his sophomore season. Sophomore Mike McGee will probably be counted on plenty during the season also.

Waging a battle for the tail berth are seniors Pete Lea and Glen Gallaspy. Both have seen limited action against varsity competition but were regular starters on the junior varsity squad for two years.

An injury to Wiggins could leave the Rebels with a hard row to hoe. Inexperience is the word from here. Sophomores Danny Rhodes and Downy Barker are presently playing behind Wiggins with freshman Mike Riley next in line.

If the offense doesn't jell, a good defense may be in the making for the Rebs. "We feel that we will have a good defense after seeing the way the boys are wanting to get after it with their hustle." Brister stated. "Most of our players weigh about 160 pounds but we feel five or six will be in on the play every time. We will emphasize gang tackling and pursuit will be our trademark." Brister added.

"Adcock is looking tough at linebacker along with Colvin but the rest of the squad will have to come through," Brister said. "We will rely on speed and mobility as a prime asset against the likes of the forward walls the other schools in our district which is probably one of the toughest in the state will have" he added.

Steve Randall is the only returning lettermen in the line but missed a good portion of the summer practice. Others the Rebels will be relying on heavily on defense will be Ken Robertson at middle guard, Dewey Burt at tackle with Russell and Robertson and the ends. Wiggins is at safety and Ware and Lea at the corners.

A complete personnel change has been made since Cecil Pirkey resigned as athletic director last December.

Brister has added to his staff this summer, Lloyd Ray Smith, Bob Burnley, Wallace Martin, Anthony Armand and Clyde Briley. Cliff Stringfield coached baseball last spring and is the general defensive mentor.

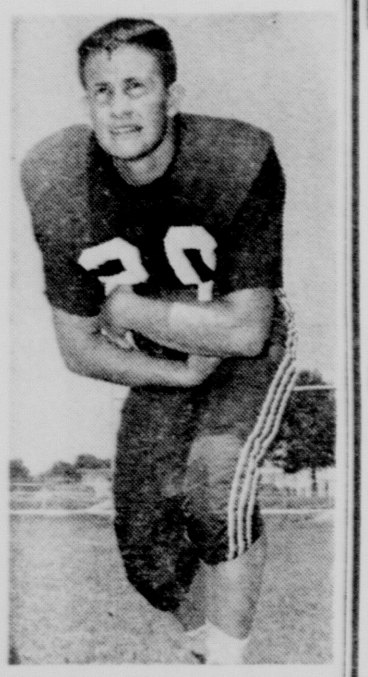
Smith, who was head coach at Bernice the last two years, was added to the staff the first week of practice. His main duties center around the offensive backs and linebackers.

Burnley, who has six years of experience and is described as one of the best line coaches in north Louisiana, will be in charge of the offensive line while Martin, a graduate of Louisiana Tech, is instructing the defensive line.

Armand comes to West Monroe after coaching at Pineville last season. A two-year all-stater at Bunkie during prep days, Armand will work with the offensive backs, the flankers and split ends

Briley will be the head basketball mentor and is coaching the ends.

If the inexperienced players can come through and avoid injuries, the Rebels could surprise a few teams this year. But with one of the toughest schedules in 1-AAA, closing the season with six straight loop contests, it will indeed be a "hard row to hoe."



PETE LEA is primed for heavy duty in the West Monroe backfield.

Rules May Ruin LSU 3-Way Plan

BATON ROUGE — If everything falls into place this year, Louisiana State could have a good football team. But there are many intangibles to be considered that could foil the prognosticators. And the tangibles are there too — in the presence of 10 consecutive weeks of top flight opposition without letup. Consider meeting rugged Florida at Gainesville, or Kentucky's aerial circus, or facing Ole Miss, Alabama and Mississippi State on consecutive weekends.

Thirty lettermen returning from a team that won eight while losing only two and tying one last year would indicate an experienced crew. But the fact is that the Tigers are long on experience at some positions while woefully short at others.

Only nine lettermen were lost through graduation, but the entire center of the starting line was cleaned out. Both starting guards — Remi Prudhomme and Milton Trosclair — and the top two centers — Richard Granier and Ruffin Rodrique — have departed, leaving a cavity that will be hard to fill.

Coupling this with the rules change that all but dictates an offensive and defensive team and the Tigers have been shorn of one of their most effective weapons — the Three Team system. It is highly unlikely that LSU will be able to continue this successful innovation.

On the plus side of the ledger, those returning lettermen possess talent as well as experience. Fullback Don Schwab led the Southeastern Conference in rushing last year with 683 yards gained on 160 attempts for a 4.3 average. Flanker back (now split end) Doug Moreau paced the conference in scoring with 73 points on four touchdowns, 13 of 21 field goals, a pair of two point conversions and six of nine extra point kicks. He was also third in the league in receiving with 33 receptions for 391 yards and four touchdowns.

Halfback Joe Labruzzo is also a veteran and a dangerous runner any time he has the ball.

One apparently successful experiment this spring moved end Billy Masters to a halfback position. The 6-5, 230-pound junior looked good and his presence in the lineup with Moreau, end Walter Pillow and fullback Don Schwab give the Tigers capable receivers in their new offensive alignment. During the spring, Coach Charles McClendon abandoned the flanker back attack in favor of the Split End and the Strong Back (Masters). The strong back always aligns himself either in close as a running back or flanked out as a receiver on the opposite side of the formation from the Split End.

The Tigers have two other genuine all-star candidates in tackle George Rice and linebacker Mike Vincent — both All-SEC choices last year. Rice, a 6-3, 250-pounder could be one of the best in the nation. Ditto for the 200-pound Vincent.

A great deal of the potential of the LSU team this year hinges on the condition of quarterback Pat Screen. The New Orleans senior has threatened to rewrite the LSU record book for two years only to be sidelined by serious injuries for the major part of his varsity career. Despite the fact that he was injured in the third game, missed the fourth game and played only on occasion during the rest of the season, he finished eighth in the SEC both in passing and total offense. He underwent knee surgery after the Sugar Bowl game and spent most of the spring in a rehabilitation program. If his knee is sound and can remain that way, a lot could be added to the LSU offense.

Captain Easy — Billy Ezell — who stepped in the past two years when Screen was injured, returns for his final year and many an LSU opponent will attest to the determination and desire of this young man.

Up front, big Dave McCormick, a Rayville senior, should do an excellent job offensively, as should guards John Aaron and Don Ellen — all two-year lettermen.

The return of Danny LeBlanc should add punch to the Tigers' short yardage game while sophomores Jim Dousay, Baton Rouge Istrouma, and Tommy Allen, DeRidder, have both exhibited breakaway tendencies that might be put to good use this fall.

Quarterback Nelson Stockley of Crowley, after a reserve year, looked confident and competent in the spring game as did offensive end Bob O'Brien.

Coach Mac feels that a great burden rests on the shoulders of the 19 seniors on the team. "These young men must assume the leadership of our team. They have a strong responsibility and if they succeed, our team could succeed."

More Seasoning For Sterlington

STERLINGTON (Special) — The Sterlington Panthers expect a little more experience than usual to enable them to make a better race than usual in district 2-B this year for new coach Terry J. Head.

Seven seniors, all two-year lettermen except three-year man Mike Powell, have returned to regular jobs they had last year, and junior regular is back for backfield duty.

Two other 1964 lettermen whose family moved away from Sterlington last year, have returned and are sure to have a big hand in Panther proceedings. They're David Stuart, 200-pound senior fullback, and Charles Stuart, also 200, a junior quarterback. Both are already counted in the regular backfield this season.

Powell, 150-pound end, could have his best year. Regulars rejoining him are Fred Manhart and Homer McDougle, both 180, both tackles, and both figuring strong in Head's plans; David Burch, 150, guard, and halfbacks Johnny Williams, 140, Larry Pace, 155, Donald Dumas, 150, and Brice Borden, 120. All are seniors except junior Borden.

New candidates getting attention are backs Roger Huckaby, 160, sophomore, and Ned Duffey, 130, freshman; tackles Jerry Ford, Rex Crane and Ralph Lowery. Ford is a 250-pound freshman.

Experience Loss Can Hurt Block

By TED HUSSER
Editor, The Jonesville Beacon

JONESVILLE (Special) — Block's Bears, who ventured into Class A for the first time last year and won their district, are hampered this year by loss of lettermen and lack of experience, according to Coach Oliver Poole.

"The Bears have a much larger team in size, but are lacking in experience and short on returning lettermen," he said.

Block advanced into Class A and selected to play in District 3-A along with Bunkie, Marksville, Buckeye and A. I. C. (Opelousas). They won the district and fell by the wayside in the state finals after putting up "encellent" performances.

The Bears have only seven returning lettermen after having lost 11 lettermen due to graduation last year.

Even though Block's inexperienced players will be a handicap, the team will be leaning heavily on their returning all-district quarterback Owen Holland, who put up a fine performance in all the games last season. He is a junior this year.

Also in the back field returning, and expected to be even better than last season, is Darrell Taylor.

Van Taliaferro will again be at center.

Other players on the team as returning lettermen who put in good performances last season are Larry Taylor, Henry Bordelon, James McMillin and Ronnie Wiggins.

Non-lettermen completing the Block squad are Benny Champlin, Larry Bird, Sherman Briggs, Roscoe White, Rodney Wiley, Garry McEntyre, Paul Riggs, Juan McClure, Otis White and Wayne Pritchard, Ben Dosher, Luther Sanson, Tommy Smith, Bobby Watson, Norman Sanson, Eddie Ellis, Kenneth Sikes, Mickey Borden and Rodney Walker.

Block has a full schedule of 11 games with only four conference games. The Bears will be playing six home games with five away.

Coach Poole announced the 1965 schedule as follows:

Sept. 10 — Newellton, here
Sept. 17 — Bunkie, there
Sept. 24 — Marksville, home
Oct. 1 — Buckeye, there
Oct. 8 — St. Joseph, home
Oct. 15 — Jena, home
Oct. 22 — Crowville, home
Oct. 29 — Waterproof, home
Nov. 5 — Wisner, there
Nov. 12 — A. I. C. (Opelousas, home
Nov. 19 — Sicily Island, there

MIKE GUIDRY, center, looks like one of the most dependable of St. Frederick linemen.

St. Frederick Has 10-Game Schedule

By "BUTCH" MUIR
World Sports Writer

After playing only three games last season, St. Frederick will be entering its first full season with 10 games on its 1965 schedule.

"It's hard to predict our expectations for the coming campaign, but from our preseason workouts, we don't believe we will be embarrased," Dan McClure, new athletic director and coach at the school, said.

McClure comes to St. Frederick after 11 years as assistant mentor at West Monroe High School. Peviously he had coached four years as assistant at Ponchatoula High School. Willie Ragan, athletic director at Wossman High School, was the Warriors' coach in 1964.

McClure added, "This is a fine group of boys, their desire and spirit has been good. Each has taken on himself a job to be done at St. Frederick and so far it has been carried out.

"The kids have pride, are easy to coach and are willing to work. We only had 15 boys out the first week of summer practice, but have increased to 28 and not a player has quit or even missed a practice, and we have two workouts a day. This convinces me we have a fine group of boys and are receiving excellent help from parents by their insistence on the boys being at practice and enforcing our training rules," McClure continued.

The Warriors have only nine seniors on the entire club and juniors number only eight. With this in consideration, it is only reasonable that the six sophomores and five freshmen see plenty of action in the fall grid wars.

"We are looking to our seniors to carry the load and in turn they must be our leaders," McClure said, "for each game during the season, each senior will be in charge of team hustle and moral attitude for his particular game in which he serves as captain. The juniors will be the co-captains."

St. Frederick will use a slot offense, and being light it will have to throw in order to move the ball. Senior Sal Miletello 5'5", 116, will handle the quarterback chores with assistance from freshmen Jim Ussery.

Seniors Pete Laws and Stanley Lewis have been given the task of running backs. Laws, at 6' and 180 pounds, will be the largest man in the backfield. Lewis, who will also do the punting, stands 5'8", weighing 160 pounds. Senior Tim Hanlon will probably see plenty of action as a running back also.

Junior Robert Schott was tabbed to start in the slot back post but received a broken nose during the second week of practice and will probably miss a month of the season.

McClure has moved sophomore Frankie Joseph (125) into the position with Thomas Buttitta and Larry Walker also vying for the starting berth.

The line is questionable, being young, but Mike Guidry, a 145-pound junior center and guard James Wempe, 175-pound junior, seem strong.

Stanley Jones and Richard Goorley will hope to improve on the passing attack at ends. Both seniors, the two saw action during the season last year. Sophomores Vincent Anzalone, David Jones and Gregg Hice will probably see action as substitutes.

The rest of the line remains a fight with Mike Barrett at guard and Al Boudoin, Steve Bragg and Jim Clark battling for the tackle positions. Senior Robert Clark and freshmen Joe Marshall, Travis Barrett and Charles Bannister will also be out for the guard post as well as Danny Kauffman and Ernest Green at tackle.

But the Warriors will stress defense more than offense for this fall. "The kids like to play defense more than offense and we feel that it is easier to learn so we will put more emphasis on the defensiv tactics," McClure said.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:

I just cut my finger for the umpteenth time on the glass shelf in our medicine cabinet, and finally got mad enough to fix it.

A strip of tape, wide enough to cover the edge (to extend about one-fourth inch onto the flat surfaces of both the top and bottom of the shelf) will not only prevent cut fingers but will also prevent flying chips of glass when accidentally struck by jars being placed on the shelf.

Since black electrical adhesive tape will withstand age and several washings, it served my purpose well. Any residue of adhesive can be removed with nail polish remover.

Mrs. Chester Jones

Also, one could cover a shelf with adhesive-backed plastic paper bought at any variety store.

Heloise

SPLATTER PROTECTION

DEAR HELOISE:

My kitchen stove rests against a brick wall and it was difficult to keep the wall clean because of spatters when cooking. Then we hit upon the idea of attaching a regular window shade roller to the wall, and tacking a length of oilcloth to the roller.

Now I can pull the shade up and down as needed, and my wall is always clean. The oilcloth can be wiped off in a matter of seconds.

Rachelle Sanders

DEFROSTING MOP-UP

DEAR HELOISE:

Recently I found the answer to a problem I had when I defrosted my chest-type freezer.

The big problem was getting the water out when the ice melted and ran down into the bottom of the freezer. Now I find that I can put several heavy bath mats or towels in the bottom of the freezer, and about all I have to do is pick them up and wring them out.

There is very little water to mop out afterwards. Sure saves d-i-p-p-i-n-g.

Nettie Scott

ALL IN A ROW

DEAR HELOISE:

Have you often wondered what to do with small items, such as tea strainers, bottle openers, skewers, plastic measuring spoons, etc., that always seem to be on the bottom of the drawer when needed?

I have one deep drawer in my work cabinet, so I put cup hangers on both sides of the drawer, and now all those small gadgets are neatly hung in a row.

No more looking for the small items, and I have a much neater drawer!

Mrs. Harold Lovelace

COVERED-UP BROOMS

DEAR HELOISE:

Brooms used in beauty shops, beauty schools and barber shops are always full of hair.

This can be prevented by placing a piece of plastic over the broom (when sweeping tile or linoleum floors) and anchoring it to the broom handle with a rubber band.

The hair can still be swept up and your broom is not full of hair!

And, Sugar, it works around the house, too!

RECIPE FILES

DEAR HELOISE:

For years my wife has kept file cards of recipes from both sides of the family, and they became soiled because she put them on the cabinet where she mixed the ingredients.

I went to the dime store and bought her a magnet so she can attach the recipes to the refrigerator door, stove or any metal surface. This helps to eliminate the soil and preserve the recipes.

Phillip Aspen

TRAVELING TRAYS

DEAR HELOISE:

I bought a large cookie sheet, the kind with a flange (rim) all around it, for each member of our family.

I keep these cookie sheets in the car and they are used as individual tables that can be used to eat on, write on, play games on, etc. The children love them and so do I.

It's amazing how many spills land on the tray instead of in a lap or on the car seats.

Mrs. Ruth R. Ward

If you have a hint, problem or suggestion you'd like to share . . . write to Heloise in care of this newspaper.

HALF-PINT HATS

DEAR HELOISE:

My children's straw cowboy hats were so bedraggled, I was ready to throw them out.

Then I discovered that spraying them with canned spray starch and letting them sit a couple of hours until dry, brought back the stiffness and the bright color.

Judy Wilkins

This hint should make a great many little cowboys (and their mothers) a lot happier.

I tried spraying a straw hat with plastic starch because rain will not affect it. After I sprayed the hat I set it on a flat surface (which was covered so the moisture of the starch wouldn't harm it) and "molded" the brim with my fingers just as soon as I had applied the spray starch, and then let it dry. Thanks loads, Judy.

PUT THIS IN YOUR PIPE

DEAR HELOISE:

When tobacco becomes dry, try placing it in a fruit jar with a slice of apple and capping the lid tightly. Leave this in the refrigerator for a few days and see how fresh the tobacco is.

For a different flavor in pipe tobacco, try adding a few orange peels in the fruit jar, shaking the tobacco up well, capping it, and putting it in your refrigerator. It's great.

Scottie

POLICE THE AREA

DEAR HELOISE:

I hang a litterbag on my power mower to deposit the paper, rocks, etc., that I find while mowing.

This is a big timesaver. Others might like to try it.

Harold Hendrixson

DEAR HELOISE:

I put a little salt on the handle or edge of my pans so that I can remember if I have salted whatever I am cooking.
